CHURCHMAN SUCCUMBS

Bishop Anderson Gets Last Call

Prelate Passes in Chicago, Leaving Episcopalians Without Chieftain

Brilliant Career Ends After Two Months as Head of Denomination

CHICAGO, Jan. 30. (AP)—Rt. Rev. Charles Palmerston Anderson, presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church of the United States of America, died today.

The passing of the Episcopal primate leaves his church without a head and his diocese without bishop. A special meeting of the House of Bishops will be necessary to choose a new presiding bishop, since no provision is made for an automatic succession.

ELECTED LAST YEAR

Bishop Anderson had been elected at such a meeting November 13, 1929, in Washington, after the death of Rt. Rev. John Gardner Murray October 3. He assumed the additional duties immediately.

Right Rev. William Andrew Leonard of Cleveland, bishop of Ohio, became acting head of the church. To him falls the duty of calling a meeting of the House of Bishops to select a new primate. Bishop Leonard is the senior bishop in years of service.

Apostle of world peace and church unity over a span of nearly a half-century, Bishop Anderson was destined to stand at the head of his denomination in the United States only two months.

His election to the primacy in November, 1929, crowned forty-three years of church service and twenty-five years as bishop of the Chicago diocese. During those years he forged into world prominence as an advocate of Christian unity and as a builder.

EVIDENCES OF SUCCESS

Evidence of Bishop Anderson's success stands in more than half a hundred new churches and as many new rectories and parish houses; an increase from ninety to nearly [illegible] in the number of priests canonically connected with the diocese and more than double the number of communicants. Total contributions to all church purposes from the diocese increased more than fourfold.

Being keenly interested in Christian unity, Bishop Anderson also played an important part in the work of the national church. He was president of the commission on the World Conference on Faith and Order and in 1919 made an extended tour of Europe and the Near East in the interest of the conference. He conferred with officials of other Christian bodies regarding the plan and on his return made an

NAVAL CONFERENCE ACTS TO SOLVE UNIT PROBLEM

Committee Plunges Into Difficult Task of Finding Compromise for Limitation Basis

LONDON, Jan. 30. (AP)—In a plenary session at old St. James's Palace today, the five-power naval conference publicly attacked and partly diminished the problem of finding a method to measure naval strength for purposes of international treaties, one of the most baffling and intricate in the whole subject of disarmament.

As a result of the first conference session open to newspaper men, the problem of measurement by global tonnage or by tonnage in categories of ships was tonight in the hands of a special committee.

The committee is charged with the task of taking these bad boys of disarmament, global tonnage and categorical tonnage, and of making them presentable and acceptable in a compromise for the conference table.

LEADERS STEER CAREFULLY

Secretary of the Navy Adams and Ambassador Hugh Gibson are the American members with Secretary of State Stimson ready to assist them. For the British, First Lord of the Admiralty Alexander and a delegate from the dominions will act with Prime Minister MacDonald.

The first committee meeting will be held at 3 p.m. tomorrow.

With the help of Secretary Stimson, Prime Minister MacDonald cautiously and successfully steered today's plenary session through the dangerous whirlpools of European politics.

Italy's decision to withhold discussion of the political issues involved for her enabled the delegates to proceed without delay to consideration of the French compromise plan for fleet measurement. On the American side Ambassador Gibson furnished a notable contribution to the proceedings by reviewing the history of the conflict between the rival theories.

Both Premier Tardieu and First Lord of the Admiralty Alexander gave Mr. Gibson high praise for his able analysis and clear statement of the problem over the conference tabl

TWO THOUGHT GROUPS

The American diplomat explained that there were, roughly, two schools of thought. That of limitation by categories fixes the tonnage that each country may use for each type of ship, and thereby fixes the total tonnage; that of limitation by the global method fixes the total tonnage for each navy and allows each country to apportion that tonnage as it sees fit among the various types of ships.

As Mr. Alexander declared later during the session, Great Britain, Japan and America are in complete agreement in favor of limitation by categories. France and Italy are the champions of limitations by global tonnage.

Mr. Gibson pointed out that the stand of each of these groups became more and more definite until a complete deadlock occurred in 1927. Then a French diplomat suggested a compromise between the two systems, and it is this general compromise that the London conference decided today to re-examine in the hope of making it effective.

GIBSON GIVES STAND

In its essence the French compromise proposes that each power be allotted a total tonnage figure for its navy, which is divided into recognized categories of battleships, cruisers, submarines, etc. While keeping within the limits of this total, each nation can alter the employment of a small percentage of that tonnage, subject to giving one year's notice of the transfer from one category to another.

Ambassador Gibson emphatically stated the faith of the United States in the system of limitation by categories, but at the same time recognized that smaller navies have a tendency toward specialization. He said that the United States was

SULTAN'S HEIRS WIN IN FIGHT

Nine Widows and Thirteen Children Get $50,000,000; Hope for Much More

[Copyright, 1930, by New York Times.]

LONDON, Jan. 30. (Exclusive)—Nine surviving widows and thirteen children of Abdul Hamid, the Sultan of Turkey who was deposed in 1909, have obtained, after five years of legal battle, $50,000,000 from his reputed $1,500,000,000 estate.

Greece, it is reported here, has offered $50,000,000 to Abdul's former harem favorites, now living in poverty in various capitals of Europe. The Aegan Financial Trust, Ltd., of London, hopes to get for them $1,000,000,000 from Iraq.

The Aegan recently took over the Anglo-Hellenic Corporation and its successor, the Valides Trust, Ltd., composed of British and American financiers who backed the contention of Abdul Hamid's heirs that confiscation of his properties during and after the World War was illegal. The property included lands in Thessaly and Greece, almost half of the province of Saloniki, a portion of Macedonia and holdings in Syria, Iraq, Palestine, Cyprus Island, Tassos, where an Anglo-German group is developing zinc deposits, and Mosul oil fields.

Abdul, who died in prison in 1918, was said by some to have been the richest man in the world.

Recall Petition Lacking Names

EUREKA, Jan. 30. (AP)—Recall petitions being circulated here in an effort to oust Mayor Emily L. Jones, Eureka's first woman Mayor, were reported today to have been signed by approximately 900 persons, 200 less than the number required before the City Council can set a date for a recall election.

CONTRACT AWARDED

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 30. (AP)—The Department of Public works today awarded a $10,300 contract to the T. G. Meyeler Corporation of Los Angeles for installation of new tubular boilers at the San Diego State Teachers' College.

Will Rogers Remarks:

LONDON, Jan. 30.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Another meeting today. It looked pretty vacant without the King. Everybody made a speech and finished by proposing a resolution, none of which was adopted. Everybody spoke of what a difficult task was in front of them, but that they felt equal to the occasion. France and Italy do most of the talking. Their oratory is out of all proportion to their naval tonnage. The Japs never say a word or miss a word. I met Admiral Takehira, one of their principal delegates, out at Ambassador Dawes's last night, and on leaving I shook hands with him very warmly and said, "Admiral I am going right home to America and I want to say that I have shook hands with the winner."

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

P.S.—Joe Robinson said to me, Will, the whole thing is no different from old Arkansas politics, only the food is a little fancier.

POSSE AND GANG FIGHT

Six Captured as Shots Fly

Deputy Sheriff Loses Life in First Raid on Band in New Mexico

State and Federal Officers Clash With Bootleggers High in Mountains

ALBUQUERQUE (N. M.) Jan. 30. (AP)—High in the Sandia Mountains of New Mexico a posse, led by State and Federal officers, today engaged in a hand-to-hand conflict with a band of bootleggers who had killed a deputy sheriff. After a spirited fight, in which many blows were punctuated by rifle and revolver shots, the posse captured six men.

The capture followed a gun fight between the bootleggers and Federal prohibition agents, who attempted to raid the ranch of Porcopio Espinosa, near Sedillo, N. M. Deputy Sheriff Emilio Candelaria was fatally wounded in the exchange of shots.

PARTY AUGMENTED

Candelaria had led three agents to the ranch. The party was repulsed by a fusillade of shots and forced to retreat. Summoning help from Albuquerque by telephone, the augmented party again engaged the mountain settlement at daybreak. Virtually the entire ammunition supply of a hardware store was taken to the ranch and guns were furnished by an officer in the cavalry guard unit.

Surprised, the bootleggers had no time to take to their guns, but charged the attacking party, wielding their fists. One member of the bootleg gang was wounded twice.

Gregorio Espinosa, 45 years of age, was charged with murder in connection with the shooting of Candelaria. The others held are Procopio Espinosa, brother of Gregorio; Augustine Jaramillo, nephew of the Espinosas; Santos Gonzales and Rosendo Garcia and Llano Maurcio Garcia, brothers. Juan Gonzales is sought by the Sheriff's office.

ILL FEELING GROWING

County officers said that open threats of organized warfare against prohibition agents have been made from mountain settlements in the Sandia territory and that this ill feeling has been growing more intense lately.

Two weeks ago Federal Agent C. U. Findley raided the place, but found only six empty mash barrels which had been dumped in the mountains. No arrests were made.

The evidence obtained in today's raid was a quantity of sacked sugar, a quantity of dried peaches and ten pounds of yeast, which the Federal officers assert was to have been used for the manufacture of moonshine whisky. In the yard was a ten-gallon barrel which Administrator Stearns said had recently been emptied of whisky.

An inquest jury here held Candelaria's death resulted from gunshot wounds inflicted by Gregorio Espinosa.

In neither of the two raids did the agents find stills, but they believe the liquor-making equipment is cached in the mountains.

STREET CAR BOMB HURTS PASSENGER

New Orleans Strikers Score Sixty-fifth Outrage in Use of Explosives

NEW ORLEANS, Jan. 30. (AP)—A woman suffered severe shock tonight, when a bomb exploded under a street car at Magazine street and Henry Clay avenue.

One of the four passengers on the car at the time of the blast, Mrs. Angelina Manzeni, 55 years of age, was temporarily prostrated, but was revived without medical attention.

Floorboards in the car's front section were ripped up and numerous windows were broken by the explosion.

The street car bombed tonight was the sixty-fifth trolley to be blasted since employees of the New Orleans Public Service, Inc., local traction company, went on strike last July 2. Only one bomber so far has been convicted and only two persons have been charged in connection with the continued sabotage.

SNOW SLOWS UP CAPITAL

Heavy Fall Fails to Keep President Hoover from Arriving at Desk on Time

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. (AP)—A driving snowstorm that almost brought traffic to a standstill failed today to keep the President of the United States from reaching his office on time, 9 o'clock.

More fortunate than most of the city's workers, Herbert Hoover had little more than a block to go from the White House to his temporary office in the State-War Departments Building, and by using an automobile he arrived without getting his feet wet.

Members of Congress and other officers of the government, however, had more difficulty. Taxicabs, usually thick on the city's streets, seemed to have vanished. To those looking for them, all that were seen carried passengers, and to obtain a "vacant" was an achievement.

The snow, which by midmorning had reached a depth of about nine inches, was still falling without sign of abatement, and recalled to many memories of the Knickerbocker Theater disaster eight years ago this week. Heavy snow broke the roof of the theater and caused the death of ninety-eight persons inside.

The snow is the heaviest since the blizzard of 1928, and gave prom-

ICE GORGE INCREASES IN WABASH

Lowland Residents Quit Homes as Wall of Water Piles Up in River

EVANSVILLE (Ind.) Jan. 30. (Exclusive)—The eight-mile ice gorge in the Wabash River near its mouth today increased its menace to scores of residents in lowlands on both Indiana and Illinois sides of the river. The gorge is holding back a twelve-foot wall of water.

Some families in homes that would be in the path of an overflow should the jam break have evacuated their homes. This gorge is believed the chief obstacle to an early termination of the flood in this area.

National Guard planes working out of the emergency air relief base at Evansville again dropped bags of food to flood refugees. Conditions were greatly improved throughout the stricken flood district, H. B. Williamson, Red Cross director, reported after returning from an air survey of the region from Mount Vernon and New Harmony to Evansville.

A truck load of food was taken into the Decker district. As the aviators penetrate remote points, additional cases come to light. On the other hand some of the icebound refugees have been freed by falling water. Ninety marooned homes were supplied with provisions today by airmen and 266 bags of supplies are ready for distribution at headquarters here.

Sawyer asserted that his proposal to legalize transportation of a quart of liquor "and no more" would exempt from arrest the man who was conveying legally prescribed liquor from a drug store to his home.

His letter of resignation leaves the time of its effectiveness to be determined by Mr. Hoover.

DAM PARLEY SUSPENDS

River Delegates Leave Reno

Break-up Laid to Californians For Failing to Agree Among Selves

Col. Donovan in Statement Says Successful Strides Made on Knotty Problem

BY CHESTER G. HANSON
"Times" Staff Representative

RENO (Nev.) Jan. 30. (Exclusive) Inability of the California commission to agree within its own ranks on an acceptable solution of the division of the waters of the Colorado River allocated to the Golden State resulted in a recess until next Wednesday, being taken tonight by the tri-State conference.

Despite the necessity of a recess of the conference after more than a week of wrangling, it was stated from more than one official source that there is still hope of accord between Arizona, California and Nevada on the Colorado River problem. The Arizona delegation moved out tonight, as did a number of the delegates from California, although the California commission itself stayed on over night.

The recess was taken in a rather halting fashion, amidst so many confusing and inconsistent statements, counter-statements and contradictions that the situation bordered on the ludicrous.

When it was all over it was fairly certain that the recess was effective. Rumors and counter-rumors bounced around the hotel lobby as delegates crowded the clerk's desk settling their bills and trying to catch the next or last train out.

DONOVAN STATEMENT

Apparently it was realized that there was no use in trying to get any further here and that the better plan would be to recess, let the California delegation go home, thresh out their own differences of opinion and return to Phoenix. Of course, if the California men cannot agree among themselves at home there will not be any Phoenix meeting. Stated in a nutshell the problem for the Californians to solve is what group in that State is to make the sacrifice in order to give Arizona what she demands. There are those who say that this problem can be solved with some patience.

Col. W. J. Donovan, sent here by the government as the chairman of the conference, struggled valiantly to bring about a solution. He issued the following statement showing that he still has hope.

"As the result of this conference every State has come to a better appreciation of the difficulties and problems confronting its neighbors. From this has come a more conciliatory attitude and a more helpful spirit of co-operation. There is a genuine desire on the part of everyone to meet fully the responsibilities which this task has imposed and it is because of my knowledge of that fact that I believe there is really hope for an agreement."

As the Arizona delegation left, they issued an invitation to California to come over to Phoenix and talk it over.

OPEN SESSION ABANDONED

The various delegates sat about the hotel today as a number of informal conferences were held between individuals and committees or delegates from the several States visited Col. Donovan and discussed the situation with him.

For a time it was reported that there would be a general open conference in the library building where this conference formally opened last Wednesday but a sudden shift in plans made this inadvisable. There would be nothing to gain and probably a lot to lose in the form

DIVER DIES AS HE FEARED

Inexperienced Comrades Fought Bravely But Vainly to Save Man Trapped Under Canadian Dam

MONTREAL, Jan. 30. (AP)—Peter Trans, whose quest for livelihood led him into paths that he feared—down along the cold and lonely beds of seas and lakes and rivers—is dead. Trans died as he had feared he would die—helpless and alone, locked in the cumbersome and grotesque habiliments of his job, deep down in the black waters surrounded by the fantastic shadows of the river bottom.

His lifeless body was brought up at dawn today from the bed of the Outardes River, where he had been imprisoned since Monday forenoon after his lines became caught on spikes in a cofferdam in which he was working.

"I don't like this job," Trans told a friend in Montreal a few days ago, just before he started for the little work camp of Point Aux Outardes, at the junction of the Outardes and St. Lawrence rivers, to help build a cofferdam for the Ontario Paper Company.

"But," he added, "I have never refused to go down and don't expect I ever shall, whether I come up or not."

The single telegraph wire out of Point Aux Outardes could carry today hardly more than the bare facts of the death of Peter Trans.

All through the seventy-two hours while his comrades frantically worked to release him and volunteered, inexperienced at diving though they were, to go down again and again merely to press his hand and give him courage, few details came through to the outside world.

His body was badly bruised and his diving suit was torn, but not badly enough to have let in water to drown him.

And all through the endless wait—as hours dragged grimly into days, and nights came and went—his comrades kept pumping oxygen down into his helmet.

There had been little hope that he was alive since yesterday afternoon when Aryo Silyala, a laborer who, without previous diving experience, had gone down several times to try to free Trans and to give him courage, reported that he got no response at all when he grasped his hand.

At dusk last night Quesnel Morency and Lewis Begin, who had flown all the way from Quebec in their heavy diving suits with their helmets in their laps, arrived after having been delayed by storms.

It was dark when they went down into the river and the current was powerful. But they went down just the same, again and again, and at dawn today they freed Trans.

United States and England Favor Categorical Measurement and France Wants Global Plan

not disposed to press her theories upon other peoples who do not agree with her, and for this reason the American delegation was ready to accept the French compromise for new discussion.

BRITAIN AGREES

Speaking for Great Britain, Mr. Alexander emphasized his agreement with Mr. Gibson in supporting limitation by categories. He explained that England does not object to tonnage transfer as such, but fears that its results may impair the confidence and stability that the powers should aim at in a disarmament conference.

He declared that England was prepared to consider some system embracing the transfer of tonnage provided this applied only to less powerful types of ships.

On the French side, Premier Tardieu declared that Mr. Gibson had summed up the French theory so well that he did not need to do it again, beyond explaining that limitation by total tonnage seemed to be more elastic and gave necessary guarantees to powers whose navies were not among the most powerful.

WORK TO BE LONG

In approving the reference of the problem to the special committee that Secretary Stimson proposed to set up, he said: "I hope that the work of this committee will fulfill the hopes that the world is placing in us."

An American spokesman tonight indicated that the work of the committee would be "long and arduous." There probably will be a lull in other conference activities in the next week, and Premier Tardieu and Foreign Minister Briand will go to Paris for that time, leaving Minister of Marine Leygues in charge of the French delegation. Private meetings and discussions will continue among the delegations.

STIMSON TAKES REST

After his strenuous day, Secretary Stimson went to his country home at Stanmore tonight for rest. He will return to London tomorrow.

Discussing the conference situation tonight, Mr. MacDonald said the British delegation was confident the conference was within measurable distance of solution of the basic problem that so far has divided the delegates and that when the special committee appointed today completes its work it will report that an agreement has been reached on the compromise proposal.

The exact terms of the French compromise proposal are that each nation shall specify the maximum figures of its total naval tonnage which will not be exceeded. Then, each nation will specify a figure for each category of ships which will not be exceeded. The total tonnage of the categories would be the global tonnage of each power. Each power would have the right to deviate from its category allocation up to a certain percentage, which has yet to be decided upon, but which has been generally mentioned as between 10 and 15 per cent.

CATEGORIES LISTED

According to the French proposal, the right of transfer from one category to another is applicable to all categories, which would indicate a conflict with the British desire, as expressed by Mr. Alexander, that the tonnage apply only to the less-powerful types of ships.

The six categories considered here are battleships, cruisers with guns larger than six-inch caliber, surface craft carrying smaller than six-inch guns and including destroyers, aircraft carriers, submarines, and a general class of auxiliary vessels including minesweepers.

Division of cruisers into two categories by gun power is expected to help simplify solution of the difficult and highly complicated problem of restricting this arm of naval warfare.

The Japanese have chosen as their representatives on the committee to consider the French compromise plan Admiral Takarabe and Ambassador Matsudaira. The French have chosen Rene Massigli as one of their committeemen, but the other has not been selected yet. The full membership of the committee is expected to be announced tomorrow.

TRIBUTE PAID PRESS

Speaking in behalf of the delegates to the naval conference at a luncheon to them given by the Foreign Press Association, former Premier Wakatsuki of Japan paid tribute today to the influence of the press in public affairs.

Referring to the conference, he said:

"You have it in your power to make a vital contribution to the success of this conference. You are not mere observers and reporters of our labors, but you are our fellow-workers engaged in a common task —a stupendous task on which will depend the future fortunes and happiness of the entire world."

He told his hearers that he was happy to say the conference was progressing "in a most friendly and hopeful atmosphere," that the positions of the powers were being clarified through free and frank exchange of views among the delegations.

PEACE LEADERSHIP SEEN

Proposing a toast to the Foreign Press Association, First Lord of the Admiralty Alexander stressed the useful service the press could render in leading the world peace movement.

"I observe again and again that the tendency of the modern press is not so much to lead public opinion as first to ascertain what public opinion really is on great issues and then to step in and say 'we will lead you.'

"In regard to the great cause of world peace, perhaps that is more true than of almost any other great cause. The peoples of the world are sick and weary of all the horrors and dislocation that war brings, and the press will be doing a very great service not only to the world but to themselves in developing the ultimate power and popularity of the press in leading one of the greatest world movements we have ever yet seen."

Secretary of State Stimson and all the other delegates to the conference attended the luncheon.

EPISCOPALIAN PRIMATE DIES

KNOWN AS BUILDER

Bishop Anderson was known as a builder and organizer and a man of excellent business sagacity, but of a modest and retiring disposition, always disdaining self-advertisement. The establishment and expansion of church institutions were further evidences of his constructive ability.

A biographer said of him:

"Bishop Anderson makes little or no response to the 'pomp and mystery of priestly ceremonial.' With perhaps more of force than gentleness in his make-up, he is yet beloved, especially by children, as well as revered by all who know him. He attaches great importance to preaching, which he does pre-eminently well, and though making little appeal to the emotions, is yet deeply concerned with moral questions. He is democratic and kindly and is a dominant, yet self-effacing, figure in any group or gathering where he may be."

LOVER OF NATURE

The outdoors had a great call for Bishop Anderson. He loved nature and usually spent most of the summer months at his lodge in the Wisconsin woods, tramping, fishing, reading and studying the out-of-doors. Frequently he conducted services in a little chapel which he had built in the forest.

Bishop Anderson was a broad reader and made a deep study of prominent world writers of all ages. Gifted with writing talent himself, it was the lament of many of his parishoners that he did not have more time as an author. His "Letters to Laymen," "The Religion of Our Lord," and "Religion and Morality" were widely quoted and caused one of his influential admirers to remark:

"It is a pity that the pressure of the care of the church seems to make it impossible for the bishop to write and publish more frequently. He thinks great thoughts and his sermons are distinguished by simplicity, honesty of conviction and clarity of expression. One is sure that the impression made is not due solely to a powerful personality, for when the printed word is read it is as effective as when it was heard."

EARLY PROMISE

Ordained early in his twenties, a man of commanding appearance and attractive personality, Bishop Anderson immediately made a profound impression upon his listeners and townspeople. He then showed promise of unusual preaching powers. He was born in Ontario, Can., September 9, 1865, and was ordained a deacon in 1887 and a priest in 1888 by Bishop Lewis of Ontario. He was in charge of the mission at Beachburg, Ont., in 1887.

Bishop Anderson became rector of Grace Church, Oak Park, a suburb of Chicago, on July 7, 1891, and held that pastorate until February Bishop McLaren. He was elected bishop coadjuter of the diocese at a special convention called by Bishop MaLaren. He was elected by unanimous vote on the first ballot. His consecration was in Grace Church, Chicago, on St. Matthias's Day, by Bishop McLaren, Gillespie and Seymour. In 1905 on the death of Bishop McLaren, he became bishop of the Diocese of Chicago.

Bishop Anderson married Janet Glass of Belleville, Ont., September 4, 1889. A son and three daughters were born to them. The son was killed while serving with the American forces overseas in the World War.

ALLOCATION PROPOSAL

It is understood that the basis for agreement between Arizona, California and Nevada on the allocation of the waters of the Colorado was submitted as follows: That Arizona could keep the Gila and all of her tributaries free from being subject to allocation, except that portion of the tributaries which flows into the main stream of the Colorado as not appropriated within the State.

The waters of the main stream would be divided among the lower-basin States as follows: Nevada, 300,000 acre feet; Arizona 2,800,000 acre feet, and California 4,400,000 acre feet, the 1,000,000 acre feet of so-called "B water" to be divided equally between Arizona and California.

FILIPINOS' FOE GETS THREAT

Watsonville Justice Warned to Free Riot Prisoners

Department of Justice Quiz of Arms Plot Reported

Manila Excited Over Coming Mass Demonstration

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30. (Exclusive)—Violence against Filipinos following the disorders at Watsonville apparently had ceased today, but otherwise there were developments that kept authorities alert. Justice of the Peace Rohrback of Pajaro Township, in which Watsonville is situated, who is an outspoken foe of the Filipinos, received a threatening letter; the disappearance of Carrie Victorini, 16 years of age, white girl of Watsonville, after her reported association with Filipinos, remained unsolved, reports were received that a Department of Justice investigation of the asserted plot by Filipinos to seize arms and ammunition from the Monterey Presidio is to be made, and a formal protest against the recent disorders was forwarded to Gov. Young by Pablo Manlapit, who stated that he represented more than 1000 Filipinos who reside in Los Angeles.

Considered of equal importance was word from Manila that a demonstration will be held there Sunday with the socalled martyrdom of Fermin Tovera of Watsonville as its basic theme. Tovera was shot to death in a Filipino bunk house near Watsonville during the height of the disturbance there last week. It was reliably reported the Department of Justice has assigned an investigator to sift the reported plot by which Filipinos expected to gain arms and ammunition from the garrison at Monterey, firing the post if necessary.

TROUBLE THREATENED

The note to Justice Rohrback threatened "more trouble" if the eight Watsonville youths who are charged with rioting and are facing a hearing in his court are not released. Their preliminary hearing is set for next Wednesday.

Rohrback found the note, unsigned, thrust under his door at his office this morning. Although he scoffed at it, police and deputy sheriffs were given orders to redouble their watchfulness lest any further open outbreak occur.

Santa Cruz county officials conducted a careful but futile search of Filipino bunkhouses in an effort to locate Miss Victorini. As one after another of the bunkhouses was searched, without success, the theory was expressed the girl had gone by her own volition or had been removed from the community by Filipinos whose friendship she was known to share and avowedly preferred.

REPORTS FROM MANILA

The Manila demonstration, planned for Sunday, was declared in a cable to be the direct aftermath of the shooting of Tovera and the bombing of the clubhouse of the Filipino Federation of America at Stockton. Placards appeared on the streets there, it was reported, which read as follows:

"Attend the necrological programme on Sunday, February 2, and dignify the Filipino race and citizenship.

"The Watsonville tragedy, instead of sobering the hostility of certain American elements toward Filipinos, has caused further atrocities on Filipinos at various points in California.

"We must protest vigorously, but peacefully."

The program for the mass meeting, to be held in the Luneta, includes the tolling of church bells for Tovera, the playing of the Filipino national anthem—but not the American, which is contrary to usual practice—and speeches in English, Spanish and Tagalog.

PARADE FORBIDDEN

Mayor Earnshaw of Manila, the cable said, considers the situation so critical as to forbid a street parade by students of the University of the Philippines, ordering them to confine it to the campus.

Gov. Young was reported in conference with Will F. French, director of the State Department of Industrial Relations, in connection with a State investigation of the situation, but no statement was forthcoming.

Manlapit, who forwarded the resolution to the Governor as the self-described representative of Los Angeles Filipinos, was said to have come to California in 1927 when pardoned from a penitentiary in the Hawaiian Islands on condition he leave the Territory. Shortly after his arrival in Los Angeles he is said to have been arrested and papers in his possession confiscated which indicated an attempt to have Communists launch a strike of 6000 Filipinos at Stockton. He also is said to have been the fomenter of a strike of Filipino workers in Hawaii which resulted in the death of twenty persons.

SHERIFF GIVES WARNING ON EXPLOSIVES SALES

Taking cognizance of the Filipino difficulties in the northern section of the State, Sheriff Traeger yesterday issued a warning to all dealers in explosives in the county to exercise precautions in the sale of their products. The Sheriff's statement follows:

"In view of the present Filipino situation, especially in the northern part of the State where explosives are being used, I request that all dealers in dynamite and other explosives be careful and not sell these products without obtaining the number of the truck or conveyance in which the explosive is handled. Also make a check of any person to whom the explosive is sold unless such person is known. In any event notify my office of any purchases of explosives by telephone."

CHAMBER TO STAND WITH FARM BOARD

Organized Business Urged to Defer Judgment of Relief Act for Time Being

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. (AP)—A recommendation that organized business defer judgment on the operation of the Farm-Aid Act for the time being was made to the board of directors of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States today by its agricultural service department committee.

Regarding resolutions urging the chamber to protest against the activities of the Farm Board, the committee recommended that no action be taken at this time. Its report was approved by the board of directors.

"While this committee is not united on the provisions of the act itself or on the interpretation of those provisions as thus far construed," the report of the committee said, "nevertheless it feels that in all justice and fairness to the act and to the Farm Board it would be premature for this committee to make recommendations to the board of directors on chamber policy in relation thereto."

A statement from the chamber tonight said that its officers "feel that it is the present desire of organized business to extend sympathetic aid to the Farm Board in working out through this formative period its policies of helpfulness to agriculture."

Ex-Judge's Plea of Insanity in Slaying Fought

AUSTIN (Tex.) Jan. 30. (AP)—The prosecution attacked the insanity defense of John W. Brady, former Appeals Court justice, charged with slaying Miss Lehlia Highsmith, 28 years of age, here today in Brady's trial for murder after the defense had closed its case.

Dr. Lee Edens, City Health Officer, was Dist.-Atty. Brooks's first expert witness. Edens said he treated Brady's hand wound an hour or so after the stabbing of Miss Highsmith, with whom the defense contends Brady had been intimate.

He found, the physician went on, after qualifying as an alienist, no evidence that Brady was insane and discovered nothing in about eight later professional visits to Brady's cell to cause him to believe Brady was not cognizant of the difference between right and wrong.

Opera Troupe Tries to Collect

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30. (AP)—Storming the offices of the State Labor Commission, fifty-five members of the stranded Columbia Opera company today asked, in many languages, when they will get the week's salary now due them and what is meant by their twenty-week contract, when thirteen weeks are still to run.

Spokesmen for the artists said the management promised members of the company, who came from Los Angeles and Italy, transportation to Los Angeles, while those from San Francisco were declared fortunate in being stranded in their home town.

Officials of the company were cited to appear before the Labor Commissioner tomorrow.

Pulque Loses Much of Kick

MEXICO CITY, Jan. 30. (AP)—The powerful pulque, called "the drink curse of Mexico," began to lose some of its curse today when thirteen leading "pulquerias" started selling refrigerated pulque under Health Department orders.

Refrigeration kills the fermentation of the maguey plant juice, from which it is made, and renders the drink almost nonalcoholic.

All pulquerias will be forced to sell the refrigerated pulque as fast as refrigerators can be installed.

DRY PROGRAM BEGINNING SET

First of Legislation Ready for Action by Congress

Williamson Bill Approval to be Filed Tomorrow

Fight Impends on Industrial Alcohol Amendment

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. (AP)—The first legislation to carry out the Hoover program for reorganizing prohibition enforcement formally was made ready for action by Congress today.

Acting with dispatch, the House Expenditures Committee by unanimous consent approved the Williamson bill to transfer the prohibition enforcement unit from the Treasury to the Justice Department.

The report on the bill is to be filed Saturday by Chairman Williamson, of the Expenditures Committee.

Chairman Snell of the Rules Committee, Representative Tilson of Connecticut, the House Republican chieftain, and other House leaders have indicated every effort will be made to expedite action on bills to carry out the Hoover program, which was framed by the Law Enforcement Commission.

Along with the committee's report will go statements from committee members, who oppose the amendment to place the regulation of industrial alcohol permits granted by the Treasury under the Attorney-General.

FIGHT PROMISED

Representatives Colton, Republican, Utah, and Cochran, Democrat, Missouri, served notice on the committee that they with Representatives Swing, Republican, California, and Letts, Republican, Iowa, will lead a fight in the House for the amendment's elimination. They contend no Cabinet officer should be deprived of the right to regulate a bureau, the responsibility with which he is charged.

The controverted amendment was sponsored by Representative Schafer, Republican, Wisconsin. Under the original draft, the Secretary of the Treasury and the Attorney-General would have drawn up the regulations jointly.

Another amendment sponsored by Schafer was adopted, to provide for the dismissal of all officers and employees of the bureau, who the Attorney-General finds have heretofore violated or, who in the future violate any penal provisions of the Federal prohibition laws.

FURTHER CHANGES

Other changes would require that the Attorney-General investigate permits already granted, wherever necessary. He would file with the Secretary of the Treasury copies of reports of violations of the dry law from which civil liability for taxes and penalties have accrued under either the prohibition or revenue laws.

The Secretary of the Treasury would be required to file with the Attorney-General reports on proceedings for revocations of alcohol permits issued for more than ninety days.

The administration has thrown its full weight behind the Williamson bill. The transfer of the Prohibition Bureau was recommended by President Hoover and subsequently indorsed by Secretary Mellon of the Treasury and Atty.-Gen. Mitchell, the two Cabinet officers directly interested in the change of jurisdiction over the unit.

In the Senate, Legislation is pending before that chamber's Judiciary Committee to authorize such a transfer. So far it has not been acted upon.

RISING TEMPERATURES START SNOW MELTING

ATLANTA (Ga.) Jan. 30. (AP)—Rising temperatures today started melting one of the most extensive blankets of snow spread over the South this winter, but tonight through the eastern section temperatures again sought subfreezing levels.

The snowfall extended from the Mississippi River across Northern Mississippi to the Atlantic seaboard and temperatures hovered in the twenties.

Minor traffic accidents were numerous and transportation facilities in cities and mountainous regions of North Carolina, East Tennessee and Virginia were handicapped. No deaths were reported.

Some cities along the Gulf of Mexico reported freezing temperatures today. Moderating weather, however, followed close on the heels of the icy blasts that yesterday reached near-gale proportion and caused widespread precipitation.

Snow fell as far south as Waycross and Brunswick, Ga., but melted soon after falling.

HUSBAND ELUDES HER ON THEATER SCREENS

Allen, a film actor when she married him in 1922. Allen disappeared four years ago. She was granted an interlocutory divorce decree.

AUTO PLANT BURNS

BLAST WRECKS GASOLINE PLANT

Angeleno Meets Death in Act of Heroism

Four Others Injured at Kettleman Hills

Huge Tanks Explode With $500,000 Damage

FRESNO, Jan. 30. (Exclusive)—One man is dead, four others are suffering from injuries in varying degrees of seriousness and property valued at $500,000 is in ruins as the result of an explosion which early today destroyed a gasoline absorption plant operated by the Petroleum Securities Company at Kettleman Hills.

The man killed was Charles L. Phillips of Los Angeles, whose fellow-workers say his death was the result of his futile effort to shut off the flow of gasoline from the huge stills after the blast. The injured are George Thompson, fellow-worker with Phillips; H. M. Harris, another employee in the plant; Roger Boice, assistant field superintendent for the Western States Gasoline Company, and Dana Hogen, superintendent of the absorption plant.

HEROIC EFFORT

Four terrific explosions wrecked five tanks, each of which contained approximately 15,000 gallons of gasoline. The fuel was sprayed for hundreds of feet by the force of the blast, and almost instantly became ignited, supposedly from the fires under a battery of boilers used to operate the plant.

As gasoline from the first blast started spreading toward the plant and over the surrounding land, Phillips shouted a warning to Max Given, engineer, to shut off his fires under the plant boilers, and ran toward the stills to shut off the flow of gasoline, but never succeeded. As he neared his goal, two more of the huge tanks blew up and sprayed the entire plant with burning fluid.

Risking their lives, Thompson and another employee whose identity was not learned rushed into the blazing inferno and started out with Phillips, but before they succeeded in getting him to safety additional tanks exploded and they were forced to flee for their lives, leaving Phillips's body behind them. Even so they received serious burns, and later succeeded in removing the body of their fellow-worker to a place of safety, where it was found that he had succumbed.

CAUSE UNDETERMINED

Ambulances summoned from Coalinga and privately owned vehicles took some of the injured men to Coalinga Hospital for medical attention, while others were treated at other oil plants in the vicinity.

The identity of four who were treated for superficial injuries was not learned by the hospital attaches and were not definitely known to the oil-field workers today.

The absorption plant, largest on the Pacific Coast, is owned by the Los Nietos Producing and Refining Company, and operated by the Petroleum Securities Company and was serving the Felix well which came in two weeks ago.

Officials of the Securities Company and the Felix Oil Company after investigation of the wreckage said they were unable to determine the cause of the explosion. Reports that friction caused the gasoline in the first tank to explode were discounted by officials, their only explanation of the blast being that "something must have gone wrong with the machinery."

INVESTIGATORS WILL SEEK CAUSE OF BLAST

R. M. Sands, assistant to the president of the Los Nietos Producing and Refining Company, owner of the absorption plant where an explosion took place yesterday, said last night that a committee of the board of directors of the company, consisting of J. R. Pemberton, R. S. Lytle, C. W. Smith and Frank R. Seaver, had gone to the plant to endeavor to form some opinion as to what may have been the cause.

Except for the loss of the four tanks and the burning of the cooling tower, the plant is intact, he said.

Polish Beauty Contests Hit

WARSAW (Poland) Jan. 30. (AP)—The Polish Catholic press has started a strong campaign against beauty contests on the ground that they are immoral.

Yesterday a young Warsaw girl, Irene Wierzbicka, tried unsuccessfully to shoot herself because Miss Baticka, a friendly rival, had been elected to represent Miss Poland in a newspaper beauty contest.

This suicide attempt was used today by the Catholic press to indicate the danger of beauty contests in creating an undesirable feeling among the younger generation.

BORAH ASKS DECISION ON DRY AGENT

Administrator in Montana Should be Ousted or Exonerated, Says Idahoan

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. (AP)—After another conference with his informant in the government department, Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho, today wrote a letter to Prohibition Commissioner Doran and demanded that John F. J. Herbert, dry administrator for Montana and Idaho, either be publicly exonerated of the reported charges against him or removed from that district.

It was disclosed by Senator Borah the man who made the report to him on Herbert's record is Frank S. Flynn.

Flynn is in the legal department of the Prohibition Bureau here. Borah said he was under the impression Flynn was an agent of the Department of Justice, but when he made this statement Atty.-Gen. Mitchell challenged it.

Last night Flynn returned to the Idahoan's office and reaffirmed his previous declarations against Herbert. After a severe cross-examination Borah said he is convinced Flynn knows what he is talking about, and for that reason he wrote Doran.

Assistant Secretary Lowman of the Treasury, in charge of prohibition enforcement, has defended Herbert against the charges reported by Borah and also by Senator Wheeler of Montana.

Du Pont Plans Delaware Poll on Prohibition

WILMINGTON (Del.) Jan. 30. (AP) With a view to obtaining the sentiment of Delaware people on the present State law for the enforcement of prohibition, Pierre S. Du Pont is sponsoring a movement to poll the adult population of the State.

At a meeting last night Mr. Du Pont said there will be placed in the mails Tuesday 112,000 questionnaires addressed to all of the known adults in the State, asking each to vote yes or no on the following question:

"Do you favor the repeal of the Klair law?"

The Klair law is the Delaware State prohibition enforcement act. Mr. Du Pont said he believes that Delaware can, by taking such a poll, lead a movement that other States might wish to follow.

SEAL BLUBBER PROPELS SHIP

Experiment Made on Board Norwegian Vessel

Amazing Results Reported by Exploring Party

Penguin Carcasses Will be Tried as Fuel Next

BY CAPT. RIISER-LARSEN
Commander of Norwegian Antarctic Expedition

[Copyright, 1930, by North American Newspaper Alliance.]

ON BOARD STEAMER NORVEGIA, VIA OSLO, Jan. 30. (Exclusive)—We have been busy with a little experiment, which I think will be of interest to our friends back in civilization. It has to do with a new fuel for ships, which is nothing more nor less than seal blubber.

We have been putting this blubber under our boilers, and our success has been amazing. And now we are going to make a trial with penguin carcasses. A great many penguins are found around our little ship, the Norvegia, so there will be no scarcity of raw material.

It must not be thought, from these experiments, that the Norvegia is suffering any lack of coal. The bunkers are supplied with this for a long time to come. But our discovery is interesting to us. I am glad to know we have something to fall back on, in addition to sails, if our coal should run out before the Norvegia can return to the Thorshammer. As a result of our experiments we could become a floating factory ship for the whalers.

The favorable weather we have had for the last eight days has suddenly ended, and storms are coming up.

California Dry Agent Cleared

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. (AP)—Paul Mathias, prohibition agent at Fresno, Cal., was exonerated today by Prohibition Commissioner Doran, who announced he had found "no cause for removal" of Mathias, but declined to say what were the charges filed against him.

TRANSFER OF BUS RIGHTS AUTHORIZED

ILEANA'S NUPTIAL DATE SET

Rumanian Princess and Count Will be Married April 27, She Says in Betrothal Announcement

BUCHAREST (Rumania) Jan. 30. (AP)—The wedding of Princess Ileana, daughter of dowager Queen Marie, to Count Alexander Hochberg has been definitely fixed for April 27 at the royal palace in Sinaia. The Princess herself announced her engagement today at a large gathering of students in Predeal and later came here with her fiance.

An official celebration of the betrothal took place in the palace before a brilliant assembly of government officials, social, diplomatic and royal personages.

QUEEN SHOWS EMOTION

Queen Marie, displaying much emotion, congratulated the young couple, and young King Michael warmly embraced his Aunt Ileana. He asked her whether she was going to leave him and was greatly disturbed until she replied she would always remain in Rumania.

Count Alexander, who is the second son of the Prince of Pless, has been a suitor of Princess Ileana for several months. He is 25 years of age and she four years younger.

The Princess in announcing the engagement at Predeal declared theirs is a "happy love match."

The Princess added humorously that "the attachment was the result of a mishap of fate."

WILL REMAIN PRINCESS

She promised to continue to watch over charities and the girls' homes which she had created. A committee of the students later handed a gold plaque to Count Hochberg, her fiance, who was present, in recognition of his sportsmanlike qualities.

The engagement to Princess Ileana has been rumored occasionally for several months, but reportedly was delayed while some way was sought which would allow the Princess upon her marriage to keep her title of Princess.

Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

BROOKHART HAS NEW BOOZE ROW

Charges Liquor Served at High Society Club

Wet Senators Make Bitter Retorts from Floor

Blease Says He'll Vote Dry Despite Own Likes

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. (Exclusive) — Gin cocktails and rum punch which he was informed are served in an exclusive New York club today sent Senator Brookhart, Republican, Iowa, on another rampage against "high society" scoffiaws—a quest that led him into a barrage of "raspberries" from the wets.

The militant Iowan, who gained fame recently by telling a grand jury he saw and smelled booze at a senatorial dinner party, read to the Senate a letter proposing an investigation of the sparkling glasses and foaming mugs of the Century Club, 7 West Forty-third street, New York. Forthwith, he plunged into an appeal for more dry law enforcement among the wealthy and socially elite. At once he was challenged by Senators Blaine, Republican, Wisconsin, and Copeland, Democrat, New York.

During the row that ensued Brookhart took occasion to describe Copeland as "absolutely crazy." The latter suggested that Brookhart was "deaf and dumb," Blaine adding that he was a "bedtime story teller."

LETTER DISCLOSED

Although he refused to disclose the name of the person who signed the letter on which he based his charges today, he explained that it was written on the stationery of the Century Club and intimated that the writer was a member. The letter read:

'My Dear Sir:

"With all the chaotic conditions now surrounding the enforcement of the Volstead Act, why not inquire something about the special privilege accorded this association, where real gin cocktails are served at the monthly club dinners usually attended by 100 to 150 members. And then consider the wonderful 'fish-house rum punch' that appeared at the last New Year's Eve celebration."

In presenting the letter, Brookhart explained that he had "asserted before that one of the great difficulties of the prohibition law was due to high society," adding that "the Century Club is one of the highest social organizations in the country."

Senator Blaine thereupon warned the Iowa Senator that he might be violating the Volstead Act by advising scoffiaws where good liquor could be procured.

"The Constitution makes the floor of the Senate privileged, so I am not particularly alarmed at the 'nigger-shooter' from the Senator from Wisconsin," Brookhart retorted.

BLEASE TO VOTE DRY

"I think this is important information," he went on, ignoring Blaine. "It is not all I have, but it is all I am going to disclose today. I especially want to call it to the attention of Chairman Wickersham of the Law Enforcement Commission. I hope that at an early day he will be ready to advise us how to stop these violations of the liquor law in this club."

Senator Tydings, Democrat, Maryland, broke in at this juncture with the remark that if Brookhart would take a week off and go to Chicago, Baltimore or any other large city, he would find fifty places like the Century Club. "In fact," Tydings said, "he can get all the liquor he wants."

"I get all I want right here now," Brookhart retorted, apparently incensed at the suggestion that he wanted any.

For nearly half an hour the repartee raged back and forth, Brookhart sparring first with one, then another of the wet Senators until, finally, Senator Blaine proposed to "divert the Senate from the prohibition bedtime story of the Senator from Iowa," that other business be taken up.

While this was going on, Senator Blease, Democrat, South Carolina, served notice on the Senate he is voting dry "no matter what my individual opinion is."

He spoke up after a Washington paper had classified him as a wet. He told the Senate "whether my State is a prohibition State or not, my people vote for prohibition and I will not vote for repeal or modification of the prohibition law."

HOOVER AND WICKERSHAM MEMBERS OF CLUB

NEW YORK, Jan. 30. (AP)—President Hoover is among a long list of distinguished members of the Century Association, the club referred to today in a letter read in the Senate by Senator Brookhart.

Officers of the association could not be reached for comment on the charges contained in the letter. A clerk at the club said:

"Well, Senator Brookhart knows more than we do."

Charles A. Platt is president of the association. Among its other officers are Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, first vice-president; and George W. Wickersham, head of President Hoover's Law Enforcement Commission, second vice-president.

The association was organized in 1847.

WOMAN EXPIRES AT 129 YEARS

Latvian Centenarian Dead After Feast of Salt Fish in Cold Coffee

RIGA, Jan. 30. Exclusive)—Overindulgence in her favorite dish, consisting of salted herring swimming in cold coffee, is believed to have caused the death of Anna Kreiser, 129 years of age, who died suddenly on the farm of her great-grandchildren near Windau. Mrs. Kreiser was the oldest woman in Latvia.

According to her descendants, Mrs. Kreiser was a confirmed coffee drinker, even flavoring porridge and soups with this beverage.

Hoovers Hosts to 1900 Guests at Senate Fete

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. (AP)—President and Mrs. Hoover were hosts tonight to 1900 guests at a reception given in honor of the members of the United States Senate.

Tonight's function was the second of the White House official season, the first having been given for the judiciary.

The reception for the Senate tonight was the first one of its kind in the history of the White House. Heretofore the White House social card has shown a single reception for both the House and the Senate. It was explained at the White House when plans for this season were announced that eight receptions would be held instead of four, as has been customary in the past.

Publicity on Tax Returns Banned

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 30. (AP)—Tax returns submitted by corporations under the new 4 per cent net income law must not be made public or revealed even to State officials without the authority of the Governor, Atty.-Gen. Webb today informed Reynold E. Blight, State Franchise Tax Commissioner.

Blight had requested a ruling on the matter, following widespread publicity which resulted from his refusal to make public to newspapers or State officials the amount of tax returns being submitted by corporations under the new law.

RUM RING BLAST LOOMS AT TRIAL

Sensation Promised in Case of Oklahomans

Government Charges Plotting Reached State Capitol

Thirty-two, Including County Officials, Face Jury

OKLAHOMA CITY, Jan. 30. (AP)—Herbert K. Hyde, assistant United States District Attorney, in the government's opening statement in the trial of thirty-two defendants charged with a conspiracy against the prohibition laws in Pottawatomie county promised today to produce evidence proving that "the stream of justice in Pottawatomie county was polluted from Constable's office to the State Capitol."

The evidence will be forthcoming, the prosecutor said, from confessed participants in the asserted conspiracy, who aided in the collection of protection money and its distribution among persons charged by the government with operating a liquor ring that dominated illicit trade in the mushroom oil settlements of the county. Hyde also promised that checks tracing money into the hands of officers ranging from the office of "Constable to the State Capitol of Oklahoma," will be produced.

JURY COMPLETED

Selection of a jury for the trial was completed this afternoon and Hyde immediately made his opening statement after reading the grand jury's indictment of 102 persons in the conspiracy case. Of the original defendants, twenty-five have pleaded guilty and the remainder not standing trial are dead or fugitives from justice.

Frank Fox, then Sheriff of Pottawatomie county and a defendant, is declared by Hyde to have been a leader in the organization of "the line." Testimony will be presented, Hyde said, that Fox was "taking care of" Randall Pitman, present county attorney and also a defendant.

EX-GOVERNOR SUMMONED

Hyde did not divulge a specific connection with the State Capitol. It had been previously announced that the government has subpoenaed as a witness, Henry S. Johnston, removed last March from the Governor's chair, who directed an investigation into asserted widespread liquor-law violations in the oil fields of Seminole and Pottawatomie counties. The government also has subpoenaed Oscar Gordon, investigator for the Attorney-General's office, who was detailed by Edwin Dabney, then Attorney-General, to make the inquiry directed by the Governor.

STATE GAS TAX SHOWS HUGE GAIN

Revenue in Excess of $100,000 Day Poured Into Treasury in 1929

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 30. (AP)—More than $100,000 a day was derived from the State gasoline tax during 1929, a total of $37,224,534.96 being collected, it was revealed by the State Board of Equalization here today. The 1928 total was exceeded by $4,512,860.56, making a gain of 13.8 per cent, the report showed.

"A few gasoline dealers have attempted to evade the tax," the board declared. "These instances have not been numerous, and we have taken vigorous steps to stop such practices entirely." The tax roll just completed for the last three months of 1929 was augmented by approximately $150,000 by additional assessments due to these discrepancies, the board stated.

The State will lose nothing by gasoline-tax evasions, the board said, because "such other evasions as are brought to light will be charged back to the original distributors, who are responsible under the law.

Twenty-five companies reported motor-vehicle fuel distribution of 1,000,000 gallons or more for the fourth quarter of 1929, the report showed.

The gallonage was distributed by quarters as follows: First 287,770,305.5; second 307,517,866.7; third 334,457,149; fourth 323,606,013.9.

Miners Rushing to Arizona Gold Strike Scenes

PHOENIX, Jan. 30. (AP)—Two gold strikes in Arizona have been announced this week.

W. E. Holt of Tombstone, once the mining center of the Southwest, announced that a rich strike had been made in an old mine called the Tombstone Extension, abandoned years ago.

From Mohave county came the announcement by Varro Peterson and M. B. Dudley, well-known Arizona miners, that a rich vein of the yellow metal had been uncovered thirty miles northwest of Kingman. Miners from many sections of the West have flocked to this location since rumors of the strike leaked out.

This vein is located adjacent to the old Pilgrim mine, near the River Mountains, one of the richest gold belts ever mined in Arizona, Dudley said.

LONDON, Jan. 30. (AP) — The Duke of York today acted in place of the Prince of Wales, who is absent on a hunting trip in Africa, in deputizing for King George, his father. It was the first time he acted in such an office. He received in an audience at Buckingham Palace the new Afghan Minister, Shah Walt Khan, brother of Nadir Khan, new King of Afghanistan.

PARTY CAN'T BAR BOLTER, SAYS RULING

Candidate for Governor in Texas on Democratic Ticket Upheld in Opinion

AUSTIN (Tex.) Jan. 30. (AP)—While political parties have the power to prescribe the qualifications of their own members, they do not have authority to bar any persons, either as a candidate or a voter, because such person has voted against a nominee of a party at an election previously held, Atty.-Gen. Bobbitt ruled today.

State Senator Love of Dallas, candidate for Governor subject to the Democratic primary in July and bolter of the party's Presidential nominee in 1928, had asked the Attorney-General for a ruling.

The State Democratic Executive Committee will meet here Saturday to decide whether it shall bar Senator Love's name from the primary ballot.

HOME—By Way Of SAN ANTONIO

When you regretfully end your vacation in wonderful California and start homeward—come by way of San Antonio!

Take the Road to Romance, follow the Old Spanish Trail . . . by plane, rail or motor . . . eastward along the path blazed two centuries ago by Spanish adventurers exploring a wilderness for the glory of their King . . . and in hope of a golden fortune for themselves!

Gone, now, are those intrepid explorers. Gleaming steel rails, paved highways and airlanes, filled with the sound of roaring motors, mark the trails they blazed. Venerable with age are the missions the padres built. The wilderness they trod is now the empire of South and West Texas . . . only a part of this great State . . . but larger in area than Ohio, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Delaware and Connecticut combined. Here an energetic people are creating wealth far beyond the avaricious dreams of the Spaniards.

And San Antonio is the "mother city" of this vast domain . . . just as it was the capital of New Spain two centuries ago! Here is a city 200 years young . . . one of America's most distinctive urban centers . . . a city with glamorous blending of the Old and the New. Here is the robust spirit of the West . . . the graciousness of its Latin founders . . . and the warm hospitality of the Old South.

On your way home explore this last great frontier and see for yourself the countless opportunities . . . relax in warm sunlight, breathe the dry, invigorating air . . . canter along leafy bridle paths through the stillness of a great park . . . golf, play tennis (international matches February 10-16), watch exciting games between army and civilian teams in the polo tournaments in February and March . . . fight gamy fish in the Gulf, a few hours away by motor.

Whatever you may want to do, you can enjoy your favorite sport or recreation here, for San Antonio is all things to all men!

Couple Eat Raw Food Only on Lonely Island

Disgust With Civilization Prompts Experiment

Teeth Pulled So Toothache Can't Spoil Fun

BERLIN, Jan. 30. (AP)—When the MacDonald scientific expedition in the Galapagos Islands recently came upon Dr. Charles Ritter and a woman companion stranded there for five months, the Chicago scientists stumbled upon a raw-food, back-to-nature experiment that has interested Germany greatly.

Dr. Rittter, whose home is here, was given a year's supplies by the MacDonald expedition, and news of the chance meeting was received in the United States Tuesday.

Dr. Ritter is a promulgator of raw-food therapy. The German press today published details gleaned from friends and relatives, indicating that, estranged from his wife, disgusted with European civilization and anxious to try his theories on food and the simple life, he left Hamburg in July, 1929, for Ecuador, with a woman disciple of his theories, Frau Koervin. From Guayaquil the couple proceeded to Charles Island of the Galapagos group in a hired sailboat.

A nephew in Wiesbaden told reporters he has been receiving letters indicating that Dr. Ritter is still interested in his experiment, and has no intention of returning to civilization. So intent was the doctor on the experiment, said the nephew, that he even had his teeth pulled and false ones made so as to avoid any possibility of having to come home because of a toothache.

Relatives declared Dr. Ritter's wife gave full approval to the voyage of her husband and Frau Koervin, who is a Berlin society woman.

NEW PREMIER RULING SPAIN

Berenguer Takes Over Offices of De Rivera

King and Officials View Simple Ceremonies

Ex-Dictator Will Retire to Home Town

MADRID, Jan. 30. (AP)—The new government headed by Gen. Damaso Berenguer officially came into power this evening, ending the six-year dictatorship of Gen. Primo de Rivera. The new Premier and most of his ministers took their oaths of office at the royal palace shortly after 6 p.m.

King Alfonso and a small group of officials of the royal household were witnesses, but there were no elaborate ceremonies to mark the inauguration of a new regime pledged to restore to Spain the Constitution of 1876.

OFFICES TURNED OVER

Later tonight Primo de Rivera formally turned over his offices to his successor and the new ministers began taking charge of their respective departments. The ministers held a conference tonight, but Premier Berenguer said no formal Cabinet meeting would be held probably for several days.

The induction of the new government into office was in an anteroom of the King's apartment. King Alfonso administered the oath to the Premier, who in turn swore in the others of the Cabinet. The Queen and the royal children waited in an adjoining salon where the Cabinet proceeded to present their respects.

Premier Berenguer on leaving the palace declined to be interviewed. He said he was unable yet to outline details of his policies, which must be worked out gradually.

RIVERA TO GO HOME

Primo de Rivera intends in a few days to go to his home town, Jerez de la Frontera and devote himself to a simple life. "No, I will not write a history of the dictatorship," he said tonight, "I leave that to a better writer than I am."

The former dictator disclosed that the immediate reason for his resignation was the surprise and displeasure of the King at his impulsive manifesto Sunday. This statement had asked ranking army and navy officers whether they still supported him and promised to resign if they did not.

KEPT ARMY UNIFIED

Later that day the dictator went to the palace and discussed with the King what he had done. He found His Majesty upset at not having been consulted. Whereupon De Rivera now reveals, he immediately decided to resign.

"The replies of the military officers were patriotic to the monarchy, affectionate and considerate," he said tonight. "However, I will not reveal those replies because they might be misinterpreted. I am certain of one thing. I have kept the army unified. It will stand by Berenguer just as I will."

Wife Held For Killing Husband

BENTON (Ark.) Jan. 30. (AP)—Mrs. Violet Dwyer, 41 years of age, today was held on a charge of first-degree murder for the shooting last night of her husband, F. W. Dwyer, 50, prominent southern contractor.

Mrs. Dwyer, officers said, took poison after the shooting but recovered from effects an hour after she was treated at the jail by a physician. She and Mrs. J. W. Martin of Little Rock, a friend, were taken into custody, the latter as a material witness.

Dwyer was shot five times at his home after what Sheriff Joe Blakely said was a quarrel over the arrangement of a party among friends of the two women.

They indicate the front foot prices being asked in twelve seaside communities adjacent to Los Angeles. From Santa Monica south to Long Beach, the general average is $475—including some properties that run as high as $2000 a foot!

You'll notice that the Palos Verdes average is only $130!

California's outstanding residential community, Palos Verdes Estates—now famous the world over—is priced at less than one third of what is asked anywhere else on the Los Angeles shore line.

But—this amazing bargain only holds good until April 1st. The increasing demand for the few remaining homesites in Malaga Cove has forced us to advance prices 20% on all unsold property in this portion of the Estates—of which 85% has already been sold.

You know what Palos Verdes is!—how it surpasses any other residential community in improvements, in its charming surroundings and in its rigidly controlled development.

SENATE TINKERS WITH HAT DUTY

Compromise Sets Increase Below Schedules Asked

Rate on Handkerchiefs Also Lower Than Proposals

Switches Among Democrats Recorded in Voting

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. (AP)—While their felts and derbies were drying from the snow which was falling on their way to work, members of the Senate concerned themselves nearly all day with straw hats and finally compromised this tariff controversy by approving increases in existing duties far below those carried in the Hawley-Smoot bill.

With this contest out of the way, the tariff debaters then considered an item more apropos of the weather so far as the women folk are concerned—embroidered handkerchiefs. After a debate, the warmth of which at times contrasted with the chill of snow outside the Capitol, they agreed to a higher tariff on such handkerchiefs. This, too, was a rate lower than that proposed in the pending bill. All rates approved were sponsored by Democrats and supported by the Republican independents.

SWITCHES IN RANKS

Several switches in Democratic ranks were recorded on the roll calls. Senator Barkley, Democrat, Kentucky, sponsored today's compromise amendments, after losing four successive attempts yesterday to cut materially the bill rates on hats, which in some instances would have provided lower rates than now in force.

Sewed straw hats, including chip hats, which are imported in large quantities from Italy, were assessed a duty of 88 per cent under the first Barkley amendment approved today. The vote was 42 to 38 with twenty-eight Democrats, thirteen Republicans and the one Farmer-Labor Senator—Shipstead, of Minnesota—supporting, and thirty-four Republicans and four Democrats opposing.

HAT DUTIES PASSED

The rate compares with existing rates of 60 per cent on hats valued at more than $9.50 a dozen and 88 per cent on those worth $9.50 and less. The House and pending bills proposed a combination levy of $4 a dozen and 60 per cent.

In line with the 88 per cent duty on sewed hats, approval then was given to a 78 per cent levy for unsewed straws. This compared with 50 per cent as at present and $4 a dozen and 50 per cent in the House and pending bills.

A duty of 90 per cent was fixed on hats made of braids not specially mentioned in the bill which contain a substantial part of rayon. This is the same as carried in the House bill but is an increase of 15 per cent over existing law.

HANDKERCHIEFS CONSIDERED

Embroidered handkerchiefs, now dutiable at 75 per cent, were given a rate of 90 per cent instead of the higher combination duty in the bill. Senator Barkley had proposed no increase in this levy, but agreed to 90 per cent on request of Senator Copeland, Democrat, New York, who complained of depressed conditions in the industry in his State.

The present duty of 90 per cent on lace handkerchiefs was retained in place of the increase proposed by the bill.

Lace and embroidered handkerchiefs made with hand-rolled or hand-made hems were assigned an additional duty of 1 cent each, together with a rate of 90 per cent to protect this industry in Porto Rico.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. (AP)—Reasonable preparedness was advocated today by Secretary Hurley, until the time "when the Golden Rule will be accepted as the fundamental principle of international intercourse."

Sinclair Lewis Seeks Secrecy

RENO, Jan. 30. (AP)—Sinclair Lewis, novelist and former newspaper man, who boasts of his days as a reporter, failed to live up to that reputation today when he asked, through his attorney, that the hearing on his motion to reduce alimony payments to his former wife from $1000 to $200 a month, be held behind closed doors.

The hearing opened today. Lewis is here.

"Yankee Clipper" Train Title Suggested by Another New Haven Man

NEW HAVEN (Ct.) Jan. 30. (AP)—A publication of the New Haven Railroad corrects an announcement by the road that John Coolidge originated the name "Yankee Clipper" for a new train between New York and Boston.

C. F. Caley thought of it. John wrote out a list of suggestions by various employees. Then an assumption was based on the handwriting.

FOXES FIGHT SUIT FILED BY ACTRESS

Joan Bennett's ex-Husband and Bride Attack Action Asking Support Money

SEATTLE, Jan. 30. (AP)—A demurrer to the suit of Miss Joan Bennett, Hollywood talking-picture actress, against her former husband, John Marion Fox, and his bride of less than two months, was filed in Superior Court here today by the Foxes. Miss Bennett sued for support money for her daughter by Fox.

The Seattle couple asserted in the demurrer that the actress's suit failed to set forth sufficient facts for action. They also moved to strike the name of the present Mrs. Fox, the former Miss Polly Perkins, Seattle banker's daughter, from the complaint.

The Foxes objected particularly to the prayer of the actress for $300 attorney fees, declaring that a man is not liable for fees for his divorced wife after a final decree has been granted.

Fox married the actress in London in 1926. She divorced him in Los Angeles in August, 1928, on grounds of cruelty, shortly after the birth of their daughter. A Los Angeles Superior Court ordered Fox to pay $50 a month toward the support of the child.

Fox and the Seattle heiress were married in Seattle in December, last year.

EX-INDIAN VICEROY'S WIFE DIES

Lady Reading Spent War Years in Washington; Noted as Hostess

LONDON, Jan. 30. (AP)—Lady Reading, wife of the former Viceroy to India, and former High Commissioner and Special Ambassador to the United States, died here this morning.

Lady Reading was seriously ill last August and in 1925 in Calcutta, after an operation, prayers for her recovery were offered in many places of worship, in synagogues, temples and mosques of India.

She was a brilliant hostess and will be greatly missed in society. She accompanied her husband to the United States during the war and to India while he was Viceroy there. She interested herself in his task throughout the difficult post-war years.

She was Alice Edith Cohen before her marriage, third daughter of a London merchant, and was married to Lord Reading in 1887.

Elephant Runs Amuck at India Religious Fete

BOMBAY (India) Jan. 30. (AP)—Many persons were trampled on and injured when an elephant ran amuck during a religious procession in Allahabad today while an immense crowd of pilgrims were reciting prayers at the Kumbh Mela festival.

The elephant was returning with eight others from the river bank with the customary pageantry, banners, bands and gold and silver palantines, when it suddenly attacked the beast ahead, unseated its own rider and turned on the other elephants.

In the belief that the maddest elephant can be subdued if a camel bites its ear, some venturesome spirits drove a camel toward the enraged animal, which thereupon dashed into the heart of the crowd. The elephant then charged for the river. Two tame elephants ultimately rounded up the rogue after a four-mile chase.

Lien Seizure of Auto Upheld

DENVER, Jan. 30. (AP)—A corporation which in good faith sells an automobile on the installment plan can exercise its lien if the car is seized for transportation of liquor, the United States Circuit Court of Appeals of the Tenth District held today.

The opinion was in an appeal filed with the higher court by the C. I. T. Corporation, which sued in the Federal District Court for Kansas to enforce a mortgage for $1035.35 on a car seized and sold by Federal authorities after Calvin Humbered was convicted of transporting liquor in it.

WASHINGTON HIGHWAY BILL PASSED BY HOUSE

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. (AP)—The Cramton bill to authorize appropriation of $23,000,000 for a George Washington memorial parkway along the Potomac River from Mount Vernon to Great Falls, Va., was passed today by the House and sent to the Senate.

VIOLENCE FILLS CHICAGO NIGHT

Wholesale House Bombed and Eight Persons Hurt

Friend of Gang Lords Shot from Ambush

Taxicab Official and Driver Murdered in Auto

CHICAGO, Jan. 30. (AP)—A night of violence that began with a $100,000 bombing and carried on with a gangster ambush came to a tragic end early today with a double murder.

The bomb explosion—the most terrific in the memory of police—wrecked a large one-story brick building, housing a wholesale grocery company on the Northwest Side. Eight persons were injured and buildings for blocks around were damaged.

GANG-LORD PAL SHOT

Shortly afterward Johnny Genaro, pal of gang lords and with a reputation of his own, stepped from a club on the edge of Chicago's Chinatown—Wentworth and Twenty-third—into a two-man ambush and was shot, probably fatally. The men stood within three or four feet of him, took careful aim and emptied their revolvers. They drove away in a small car and Genaro lay unconscious in the street.

The Rogers Park residential section became the scene of the night's most appalling crime. Barney Mitchell, treasurer of the Checker Taxicab Company, and George Jackson, a driver for the company, were found shot to death in Jackson's cab at the intersection of Farwell avenue and Ridgewood Boulevard.

KILLING CLEWS SLIGHT

Several bullets had been fired into Mitchell's body, which lay sprawled grotesquely upon the rear seat. Jackson was shot as he sat at the wheel, a bullet entering his head behind the right ear. The door by his side was partly open and his left leg was partly out, as though he had been about to step from the machine.

Police had slight clews to any of the crimes. The bombing followed the receipt of letters demanding money under threats of death. In the case of Genaro, detectives said, he had so many enemies "it is hard to say which of them might have tried to kill him."

The taxicab murders were even more mysterious.

EXTENT OF SILK LOBBYING TOLD

More Than $10,000 Spent in Interests of Tariff

Association Official Reveals Details of Efforts

Purported Interview With Hoover Disclosed

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. (AP)—Expenditure of more than $10,000 by the Silk Association of America to advocate a protective tariff on silk products during consideration of the pending tariff bill was disclosed today before the Senate Lobby Committee.

This testimony was given by Horace B. Chene of South Manchester, Ct., chairman of the association's legislative committee, who said he has been coming to Washington on tariff matters since 1898. The first trip was with his father, who had been active in tariff matters for many years previously.

DETAILS GIVEN

In a manner contrasting sharply with those of some previous witnesses who quarreled with members of the committee, Cheney testified slowly, in a gentle tone, that the Silk Association has spent $8040 in connection with the pending tariff, while he has expended $1962 on fourteen trips to Washington.

Explaining the activities, he said appearances were made before the House Ways and Means Committee and Senate Finance committees, which handle tariff legislation, and that briefs were filed with the committees. His expenses were paid by his company—Cheney Brothers of South Manchester.

Receipts of the association in 1929 were $137,426 and expenditures $121,470.

LETTER READ

A letter written last April by Cheney to Ramsey Peugnet of New York, secretary of the silk association, which was read, told of a purported interview with President Hoover.

It represented President Hoover as being in favor of enlarging the powers of the Federal Trade Commission "with relations to unfair competition" and favoring "using invoice value in the United States as a basis both for the tariff commission's formula and the assessment of ad valorem duties" in the tariff bill.

MANSLAUGHTER CHARGE FAILS

Bakersfield Panel Declares Willbanks Not Guilty

Truck Driver Indicted by Grand Jury Acquitted

Tried for Death of Three Railroad Men in Crash

BAKERSFIELD, Jan. 30.—Within fifteen minutes after they had begun their deliberations late this afternoon, jurors trying Jack Willbanks on three manslaughter counts found him not guilty on all three counts.

Attorney Jack Mahon defended the truck driver, who was indicted by the grand jury after the deaths of Ralph Toland, Martin Stinson and J. M. Christensen in a crossing accident at Famosa, where the Southern Pacific San Joaquin Flyer struck an oil truck driven by Willbanks for the Lang Transportation Company.

On the witness stand, in his own defense, the young man asserted that under the circumstances, he had acted to the best of his ability and declared he wound have exchanged places with any one of the three members of the train crew who were burned to death when the engine struck the trailer of his truck, loaded with gasoline.

Willbanks stated that he was employed by the Lang company to drive one of their big trucks and trailers, weighing about thirty-four tons. He said the airbrakes on the trailer operated satisfactorily, but that the foot and emergency brakes were not in good condition. He declared he reported their condition, but nothing was done about it.

Mackay Shares Major Part of Mother's Estate

NEW YORK, Jan. 30. (Exclusive) Clarence H. Mackay, president of the Postal Telegraph-Commercial Cable Company, is named principal beneficiary in the will of his mother, Mrs. Marie Louise Mackay, who died September 4, 1928, leaving a gross estate of $2,596,020, according to a transfer tax appraisal filed today by Maurice A. Stephenson, deputy State Tax Commissioner.

The principal assets of the estate, however, were notes of Mackay's totaling $1,542,570.

Mackay received the residue of the estate valued at $2,391,934.

BANK YEGG HIDES BEHIND PRESS

DENTON (Neb.) Jan. 30. (AP)—"I'm a newspaper reporter. Where did you move the funds of the burned bank?" a voice inquired by telephone yesterday of W. T. Voss, banker, whose institution was destroyed by fire the night before.

Politely the banker told his caller, whose profession he had no reason to doubt at that time, describing the location of a near-by vacant building temporarily utilized.

A blasted safe greeted the banker's eyes this morning. As much as $1000 is believed to have been taken.

LOW VERSION OF NATIONAL TUNE URGED

Patriotic Society Cuts Out Higher Notes from "Star Spangled Banner"

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. (AP)—Flourishing a revised copy of music for "The Star Spangled Banner" with the high notes eliminated to make singing easier, a committee representing virtually every patriotic organization in the country tomorrow will urge Congress to designate the song as the national anthem.

The sixty or more men and women will appear before the Judiciary Committee of the House with a petition signed by 5,000,000 persons.

Not only will they present the revised copy of the famous old tune—they will take along an attractive soprano as exhibit "A" to prove to the objectors that the "rocket's red glare, bombs bursting in air" no longer soar too high for the average voice.

For three years the national Americanization committee of the Veterans of Foreign Wars has been working to have "The Star Spangled Banner" officially recognized by Congress as the national anthem. Last year a bill was introduced, but never reported out of committee. At the hearing the objection was raised that no ordinary gathering or no ordinary soprano can get to "the land of the free" without a breakdown.

So Christian A. Praetorious has made a transposition which keeps the original tune, but in a lower octave. Those sponsoring the transposition consider the song better adapted now to the bassos than to the sopranos.

KANSAS CITY, Jan. 30. (AP)—A frayed cable, connecting to the right aileron of a Central Air Lines passenger plane that crashed here Monday and killed five persons today was submitted to a Coroner's investigation as the probable cause of the accident.

R. G. Lockwood, general operations manager for the Universal Aviation Corporation, which controls the Central Air Lines, presented the evidence.

EX-WARDEN ON WITNESS STAND

Jennings Gives Inside of Auburn Riot

Admits Surrendering to Ringleaders

AUBURN (N. Y.) Jan. 30. (Exclusive)—Brig.-Gen. Edgar S. Jennings sat in the witness box here late today and reluctantly admitted that he ran up the white flag to the rebels during the bloody Auburn prison riots of last December 11.

As former warden of Auburn prison he was testifying in the trial of the six young desperadoes who are charged with the murder of Henry Sullivan, one of the ringleaders in the convict rebellion.

He told of being stuck up by a convict as he was making an inspection tour of the prison on that fateful morning. He admitted that he was armed, and the Colt .38 that he carried was identified.

He told of submitting to the binding of his hands behind his back, and later to being handcuffed to a civilian employee and of being struck in the face by Claude Udwin, one of the murder defendants now on trial, who smiled pleasantly today at the recollection.

ADMITS NOTE

And finally he admitted sending a pleading note to the guards and troopers outside the cell block, where he was confined, entreating them to give fifteen of the convicts safe conduct to freedom. The note read:

"Allow us to come out with the prisoners and without any firing. The officers are to be used as shields. If a shot is fired the prisoners will kill the officers and have sworn to die. Open the front gate so the fifteen men can go out free. Please don't shoot.

(Signed)

"E. S. JENNINGS."

"Was anyone threatening you when you wrote this note?" Dist.-Atty. James J. Hosmer asked.

"Two convicts had guns on me," he replied. "The guns were sometimes touching me."

"Did they threaten you in the event that you refused to write the note?"

"Yes they said they'd kill the officers, or some of them."

RELATES DETAILS

In the two hours and twenty minutes Jennings was on the stand he related in detail the story of the riot from his own experience. He told how three of the armed riot leaders led him to the punishment ward, where, using him as a shield, they overpowered and disarmed the guards on duty there, seized the keys and unlocked the cells to augment their forces. He related how he, six keepers and a civilian were held captive, shackled together with handcuffs while the rioting progressed and the leaders schemed to use their hostages on bartering with those in command outside the prison for their own liberation.

The State will contend that it was the slain Sullivan who marched with a gun poked into the small of the warden's back when the leaders with their captives before them walked into the tear bomb trap troopers set for them when the rioters believed they were about to be set free.

Jennings will be cross-examined tomorrow by each of the three attorneys for the defense.

Juliana's Fiance to Meet Queen

'BAD BOY' OF CHICAGO SENT TO SAN QUENTIN

SACRAMENTO, Jan. 30. (AP)—Roy Decker, self-asserted "Chicago bad boy," indicted last night by the county grand jury, was arraigned in Superior Court today and after pleading guilty to a charge of assault with intent to commit murder was sentenced to an indeterminate term in San Quentin. Decker shot Detective Albert Babayco in the hand in resisting arrest. He was captured in Chicago last week.

WILL PROVIDES RING LOTTERY

Eleven Children to Draw For Prized Diamond Left By Mother

NEW YORK, Jan. 30. (Exclusive)—Confronted by a dilemma somewhat similar to the famous one in which Solomon found himself when two women claimed the same child, Mrs. Hannah Cohen of Brooklyn, who died October 16, last, decided to let the blind goddess of chance settle it.

She directed in her will, filed today, that her property be equally divided among her twelve children, but the property included a prized diamond ring, which could not very well be partitioned. So she specified that eleven of the twelve should draw lots for it, the twelfth being excluded because she had been given a diamond brooch.

SEVEN MEN IN BORDER LIQUOR NET

Four of Suspects Taken on Smuggling Charges Former Federal Agents

DETROIT, Jan. 30. (AP)—Seven men, four of them formerly attached to the customs and immigration border patrols, were under arrest today on Federal indictments charging participation in a syndicate organized to smuggle Canadian liquor into the United States.

Two other former customs border patrol inspectors said to have been involved in the plot have not been indicted, but will be used as government witnesses.

Three of the suspects are former customs officers. They are Charles Cresswell, Robert Winder and Carl E. Krimel, and are free under $5000 bond each on charges of conspiring to violate the tariff and prohibition acts. Egiche Chamch, a former immigration inspector, also is out on $5000 bond. He is accused of having accepted $1000 for allowing rum-runners and an automobile load of liquor to go free.

Jack Kearns, Thomas J. Murphy and W. J. Ratcliffe also have been arraigned and released on bond.

The other two former Federal officers who will be used as witnesses are Herman Griffith and Frank E. Crandall.

FOOTLIGHTS TO ECLIPSE SOCIALITES

New York's Society Buds Who Turn to Stage May Be Dropped From Register

NEW YORK, Jan. 30. (Exclusive) New York society buds who turn to the professional stage for careers face the probability of being dropped from the Social Register, reports current at the register's headquarters indicated today.

The rapidly increasing number of debutantes who are seeking fame on Broadway is believed responsible for the reported edict which may be put in force for the 1931 issue of the publication.

One of the most striking instances recently brought to the attention of the register is that of Nadejda De Braganza, daughter of Princess de Braganza, who overcame parental objections sufficiently to be allowed to study for a dramatic career under Max Reinhart in Germany. The girl, who is a member both of the aristocratic Rhinelander and Stewart families, hopes to make a stage debut some time within the current year.

Numerous other society girls have chosen the footlights in preference to the drawing rooms, among them Julia Hoyt, Hope Williams, Josephine (Fifi) Lainbeer, Mary Holmes, Katherine Leslie and Bessie Morgan Belmont.

Gen. Koutipoff Kidnaped, Says Paris Witness

PARIS, Jan. 30. (AP)—The police tonight claimed to have found a witness who said that Gen. Alexander P. Koutipoff had been kidnaped from the Paris streets in broad daylight last Sunday morning while walking the few blocks between his home and the Russian Club.

This witness said he saw the general, who succeeded the Grand Duke Nicholas as head of the Russian exiles here, hustled into a taxicab. The four-day absence of the general had caused a sensation here and it is feared there is very little hope of finding him alive.

Because of rumors that Communists were connected with the disappearance the police doubled their usual protection of the soviet union embassy. On the other hand, Communist newspapers assert that the general has absconded with 50,000 francs.

FOUR ESCAPE ASPHYXIATION

Two Women, Two Children of Fresno in Close Call

Timely Arrival of Relative Prevents Gas Tragedy

Wife Falls Unconscious as She Opens Door

FRESNO, Jan. 30.—Two women and two small children of prominent local families narrowly escaped death by asphyxiation today when a soot-clogged flue filled the home of Attorney Fred J. Rogers with carbon monoxide fumes.

Those affected were Mrs. Rogers and her children, Russel, 2 years of age, and Don Dick, 4, and Mrs. Flora Everts.

Arrival of Mrs. Rogers's sister, Mrs. W. A. Stutsman, is credited with saving the women and children from death, as three of them were unconscious when she reached the Rogers home.

Mrs. Stutsman was called by Mrs. Rogers, who told her sister that her family was ill. When Mrs. Stutsman arrived, Mrs. Rogers fell unconscious as she attempted to open the door to admit her sister.

The eldest child was unconscious in his bed, as was Mrs. Everts. The youngest child was not seriously affected.

Dreadful Pains of Neuritis Put to Quick Rout

"Sargon gave me an eight-pound gain in weight and overcame troubles I'd been suffering with for fifteen long years! It certainly is a wonderful medicine!

"I had pains like neuritis all through my body—it seemed like there wasn't a spot on me that didn't ache and my joints would get so stiff and sore I could not turn over! I'd be in such pain and so nervous I never knew what it was to have a good night's sleep—two hours was all I could expect, and I became run down and lost weight until I was really alarmed! My kidneys were bothering me, too, and I'd have backaches until I felt like screaming! My circulation was sluggish and my feet and hands would get so numb and cold it would seem like my veins were filled with ice water. I had a world of trouble with my stomach and sometimes even a little milk would cause gas to form and press against my heart until I could scarcely breathe! A slow-acting liver was a great drawback and I guess I've taken nearly every kind of laxative under the sun, trying to rid myself of constipation. I'd have headaches and dizzy spells when I'd have to grab hold of something to keep from falling; there was a horrible nauseating taste in my mouth, and my tongue was heavily coated nearly all the time.

"I could feel the marvelous strengthening effects of Sargon right from the first few doses and now all my aches and pains have left me entirely! My kidney trouble seems corrected, my nerves are worlds better and for the first time in years I'm enjoying sound, refreshing sleep; and my circulation is so much improved I never have that cold, numb feeling in my hands and feet any more.

"Sargon Pills are the only laxative that ever gave me lasting relief from constipation. They stimulated my liver to healthy action and put an end to those miserable headaches and dizzy spells, and I no longer have an unpleasant that cold, numb feeling in my tongue.

"I'll never be able to say enough for Sargon and I do wish I could tell every sufferer personally what a marvelous medicine it is."

The above statement was recently made by Mrs. Jessie White, 1136 Eleventh St., San Diego.

The Sargon Man is at the Owl Drug Store, 6th & Broadway, meeting the public and giving the facts about this remarkable new scientific discovery. He cites case after case of Sargon's wonderful powers at work; personal instances of health renewed and happiness restored, right here in this city. DOMESTIC WAR OUTLAWED

Wife Talks One Day, Husband Next, According to Plan Agreed on in Court to Avoid Divorce

CHICAGO, Jan. 31. (Exclusive)—John Maloney was talking against time in his home last night. With one eye on an alarm clock and the other on his wife, he loosed a torrent of words. He had much to say. In the three years lapsing between their separation and reunion yesterday (Thursday) before Superior Judge Lewis he had thought of many dazzling bits of repartee which he might have said while she was easing her mind during their married life, and he was at a loss for the proper retort.

He hurried to get them all in. Mrs. Nellie Maloney sat in stolid silence. She had both eyes on the clock. She rocked slowly back and forth, humming in a portentous manner. For all her attitude, the husband might well have been addressing an empty chair.

WIFE'S TURN COMES

Promptly at midnight the alarm jangled. Maloney stopped in the middle of what was to have crowned his efforts. With a leap his wife seized the alarm and silenced it. Before its echo died she began. She too, had not been idle in the years of separation. But her discourse was not marred by haste; she has until midnight tonight to do herself justice. At last reports Maloney was fidgeting uncomfortably.

This domestic interlude was approved by Judge Lewis when Mrs. Maloney appeared before him to press her suit for divorce, on charges of cruelty. She complained that her husband quarred with her constantly. Maloney voiced the same plaint. The Maloneys were married April 27, 1918. She is 50 years of age and he is 56.

PLAN AGREED TO

"It takes two to make a quarrel," Judge Lewis observed, "and quarrels begin in argument. Now, if you can listen while your wife has her say and she extends the same courtesy, everything should go along fine and there would be no reason for a divorce.

"Suppose you, Mrs. Maloney, could unburden yourself on Mondays and your husband would have all Tuesdays for expression of his woes, and so on through the week. There could be no fights because the other would be honor bound to keep from talking back. But let me see, that gives three days apiece and leaves Sundays open. I think they should be reserved for Mrs. Maloney to give the woman the last word."

The Maloneys expressed willingness to give the plan a trial.

"Fine," the judge exclaimed. "This is Thursday, the honors are yours, Mr. Maloney, until midnight."

Why she isn't Popular

This Kansas City girl has good looks and personality—but men and women alike have avoided her for years. She never gets invited anywhere. She has a lonely time of it wherever she goes—and she cannot understand the reason for it. Somebody ought to tell her why—but nobody has the courage to do so.

Don't fool yourself

Halitosis (unpleasant breath) is a barrier to friendship, affection and business progress.

So many every day conditions cause it that no one is entirely free of it. And since you cannot tell when you have it—and your friends won't tell—the one way of putting yourself on the safe side is to use Listerine as a mouth wash 3 times a day. Keep a bottle handy at home and office.

Kills germs—destroys odors

Full strength Listerine ends halitosis because it strikes at the germs which cause odors. And instantly destroys odors themselves.

DISABLED GIVEN CHANCE BY ACT

Check-up Shows Many Gain by Vocational Training

Measure Must be Amended to Give States Aid

California Report Reveals 1645 Persons Helped

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. (Exclusive)—Since the passage of the Vocational Rehabilitation Act of 1920 approximately 40,000 persons, disabled in line of duty to work, have been returned to self-supporting employment, most of them receiving higher wages than they received prior to their disablement, it was revealed here today following a check-up of the first nine-year period of the law's operation.

If, however, Federal aid to the forty-four States provided for originally in the act is to be continued during this and successive years, it will be necessary to amend the act with additional legislation, it was pointed out by supporters of the bill to that effect introduced at the opening of Congress by Representative Reed, New York, chairman of the House Committee on Education.

FUNDS PROVIDED

Reed's bill provides for a continuation by Congress of appropriations to the States involved in the rehabilitation program. The urgent need for more funds, supporters of the bill declare, is indicated by the fact that more than about 55,000 persons annually are rendered physically unfit and in need of rehabilitation, while only about one-tenth of that number are reached and benefited by the vocational program.

If Reed's amendment passes, the Federal government will authorize appropriation of additional sums ranging from $1,250,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1931, to $2,500,000 for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1936, and for every year thereafter.

CALIFORNIANS AIDED

Approximately 600 different occupations, ranging in nature from laboring jobs to the professions, are included in the training program which for the past nine years has restored the injured to remunerative employment. Last year alone the States engaged in this work restored 6000 disabled persons.

California statistics show that since the passage of the original act 1645 persons have been rehabilitated completely and that 664 are at present undergoing training.

Lowden Favors Income Tax as Aid to Farmers

SPRINGFIELD (Ill.) Jan. 30. (AP)—Former Gov. Lowden, advocated a general State income tax to replace general property taxes as one of the principal means of aiding the farmer, in an address tonight before the Illinois Agricultural Association.

The former Governor, long a champion of agriculture, said he could not understand why financial experts had overlooked agricultural depression in assigning causes for the present general depression in all business.

In advocating tax revision, Lowden said the farm population of the nation was about 25 per cent of the whole, yet it received only 10 per cent of the national income and paid 30 per cent of that out in taxes. "The other 75 per cent of population receives about 90 per cent of the national income and pays 10 per cent out in taxes. How long can this go on without disaster to agriculture?"

UNION BODY CITES RISE IN IDLENESS

Federation Gives Data on High Total of Unemployed Members for January

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. (AP)—More trade-union members were reported today by the American Federation of Labor to have been out of work in January "than even the worst month two winters ago when there was so much suffering from unemployment."

In its monthly survey of business the federation says reports from twenty-four cities show that unemployment in trade unions increased considerably in January. It says that 19 per cent of union members were out of work in January, as compared to 16 per cent in the preceding month

"In the building trades 38 per cent of members are out of work, the largest proportion for January in the three years covered by our figures," the federation sets forth. "Our report also covers wage earners in shipping, railroads, hotels and restaurants, chauffeurs and truck drivers, government work and a number of other trades and professions, including the musicians."

It adds, however, that "it seems probable that employment will increase shortly."

HYDE WARNS PEST FIGHT MUST GO ON

Agriculture Chief Views Dropping of Fruit Fly Battle as Calamity

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. (AP)—Abandonment of work toward the eradication of the Mediterranean fruit fly in Florida now would be a calamity, in the opinion of Secretary Hyde.

In a statement today in which he defended the Florida plant board, the Agriculture Secretary said cessation of the eradication work "will mean that the money already expended has been wasted and the fly, if and when it reappears, will spread without hindrance to the enormous damage of the whole South, Southwest and West."

Hyde said implications that the plant board had discovered the fruit fly to save its political life were "ridiculous." He added the rumors apparently had originated because a resolution was pending in the Florida Legislature to abolish the board about the time the fruit fly was discovered.

He asserted the resolution was never taken seriously and said the board is composed of outstanding Florida citizens who serve without pay.

HIGHWAY URGED TO BOOM TRADE

State Chamber Backs Alaska to Buenos Aires Road

Project Declared Feasible; Support Widespread

U.C. Scholarships for Latin Students Also Favored

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30. (Exclusive.) Additional outlets for 1,000,000 American-made motor trucks and motor cars annually, a large increase in sales of road-building equipment and machinery, and closer commercial contact between Latin America and the Pacific Coast will result if two projects approved by the State-wide foreign trade committee of the State Chamber of Commerce at its meeting today are carried to a successful conclusion.

The projects are completion of the International Pacific Highway extending from Fairbanks, Alaska, to Buenos Aires, down the west coasts of North and South America, and the establishment in the University of California of scholarships or fellowships in highway engineering for Latin-American students.

ROAD HELD FEASIBLE

The building of the International Pacific Highway was accepted by the committee not only as one of the greatest advances in foreign trade, but as a practical and feasible project that can be gotten under way in the near future. Ernest East, chief engineer of the Automobile Club of Southern California, advised the committee:

"For the past several years we have been in contact with influential citizens and officials of Latin-American States and republics. These men have desired information as to road costs, type of construction and methods of financing. A great many officials of these countries have spent considerable time inspecting highway work in the United States. All of these people have been interested in developing highway connections with the United States.

SUPPORT ASSURED

"We have addressed a letter to each of the governors of the States of Mexico and the presidents of the Central and South American republics traversed by this proposed highway asking their co-operation in carrying the project to a reality. We have received replies from practically all of these officials in which they express their interest in the proposed road and offer the utmost co-operation in bringing about its early construction.

"More recently Mr. Hanna of Touring Topics and myself made a trip with the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce excursion to Mexico City. We met with the officials and influential citizens in all of the west coast towns and with Federal authorities in Mexico City and discussed ways and means of financing the construction of the road. We were assured of the deep interest of the Mexican States and the Federal government in the project and assured that every effort will be made to bring the project under construction at an early date."

FINANCING PLANS

Supplementing East's report, Marsden Manson said he had found the Pan-American road not only practical, but that hundreds of miles are already available in a semideveloped state in many of the countries of South America.

Chairman Bentley reported definite plans for the financing of the highway now are in the making. As a further stimulus to the undertaking the committee resolved to lend its efforts to the establishment of scholarships in road engineering for the brightest engineering student in each of the Central and South American countries. This matter, it was said, will be taken up immediately with the University of California.

FOREIGN TRADE WEEK

An initial step is that of promoting foreign trade week in all communities of the State February 14 to 22, next. This activity is proposed to stimulate the interest of Californians in the economic and cultural benefits to be derived through increased commerce across the Pacific to Near West countries and south to Latin America.

The plan calls for all avenues of publicity, including newspapers, radio broadcasting stations, service clubs, chambers of commerce, schools and universities.

Speakers' bureaus are being formed in all cities and addresses and educational pamphlets will be distributed throughout the State. Banks and stores are co-operating, it is reported, to the extent of putting in display windows depicting foreign trade and steamship companies will hold open house on passenger vessels in the various California ports during this week.

CUSTOMS MEN BAR EDITION OF RABELAIS

EMBEZZLING DENIED

SKIRT HEM LOST IN DISPUTE

American Buyers Can't Agree on Correct Location; Averages Range Top of Calf to Along Floor

PARIS, Jan. 30. (AP)—The temporary lull in summer style shows here today gave everybody a chance to do some thinking with tape measures. The American buying group is not agreed on the best length for sports skirts, but the average simmers down to something like fifteen to thirteen inches from the floor, which is slightly below the top of the calf.

Street and tailored clothes average an inch more, bringing them to within a foot of the ground. Afternoon dresses range from the top of the calf to ankle length.

And the evening dresses are growing longer and longer. They no longer stop at the floor at some houses, but lie around the feet in billows and folds.

An Englishman who is dressmaker for the Court of St. James, but who also operates in Paris, is responsible for the longest dresses dragged through salons thus far. Ruched tulle skirts yards wide are his contributions to the mode. Since this man is the favorite dressmaker of Queen Mary, making many gowns for court presentations, his ideas are taken seriously by French as well as Americans.

What may be the final word in sports costumes will be uttered tomorrow when Suzanne Lenglen, the tennis star, presents her ideas of what's what for athletic women. Much interest is shown in her entry into haute couture.

Another personality in the style trade is Lady Diana Hope, who got her start in the trade as a shop girl in New York and now operates a sports shop here.

Designers agree on restricting the hips, but the waistlines are to remain natural.

GILLETTE'S WIFE FILES SUIT IN RENO

Son of Safety Razor King Accused of Cruelty and of Being Too Modern

RENO, Jan. 30. (Exclusive)—King Gaines Gillette, son of the inventor of the safety razor bearing that name, was sued for divorce here today on ground of mental cruelty, Mrs. Elizabeth Caldwell Gillette declaring in her complaint that her husband preferred to spend his time in the company of others. Custody of a 16-year-old adopted daughter Celeste, is awarded Gillette through a separation agreement made recently and there has been a substantial property settlement, it is set forth.

The Gillettes married at Hollywood September 10, 1913. Mrs. Gillette in her complaint says that beginning in 1924 her husband became uncommunicative regarding where and how he had spent his days and nights and with whom he had associated. He told her, she says, that his life, his business and his associates were his own and were sacred from the intrusion of anyone. When he finally did talk to her, she says he became cynical and supercilious, and chided her for her "old-fashioned ideas" regarding the upbringing of the child, and told her they were puritanical. Their notions of morality differed, she charged, that of Gillette being a modern philosophy which she could not assimilate.

The case will probably be heard next Monday and there will be no contest, it was indicated today.

Negro Attacks Woman in Home

OAKLAND, Jan. 30. (AP)—Bound and gagged after being beaten and attacked by a negro in the kitchen of her home, Mrs. Stephen Loveland, 35 years of age, was found here today by Mrs. L. Borland, a boarder in the Loveland home.

When the woman was discovered, five hours after the attack, she was near strangulation from the gag. Mrs. Loveland, wife of a deputy constable, said the negro knocked at her door and asked for food. As she turned to comply, he forced the door open, and, threatening her with an ice pick, attacked her, she told police.

STEUART SAYS CENSUS MEANS MUCH TO STATE

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30. (Exclusive)—William M. Steuart, Federal census director, told Supervisors of Northern California and Nevada today the population census in California "is especially important because Congressional representation is involved and the State is likely to gain on its census showing." Seasonal occupation of many of the State's residents, he said, will make the task particularly difficult.

ORCHARDISTS BUSY

OROSI, Jan. 28.—Pruning is in full swing in most of the orchards and vineyards of the Cutler-Orosi district, and the farmers are rushing the work in anticipation of a wet spring. Field mice and rats are said to have taken to the trees, making their nests in the crotches, this being considered by old-timers a sure sign of much rain.

Woman Caught With Jewels in Theft-Ring Quest

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30. (AP)—Culminating a seven-months' investigation of a purported San Joaquin Valley crime ring, detectives here today arrested Mrs. Mattie Wells, 40 years of age, of Bakersfield, and recovered more than $10,000 worth of jewelry asserted to have been stolen from the home of Lloyd Dinkelspiel, San Francisco attorney, last June.

Mrs. Wells was taken in custody after she left a Post-street jewelry store where, police charge, she had taken the jewelry for an appraisal at the request of the company which had paid the insurance on Mrs. Dinkelspiel's stolen gems. Police assert she offered to return the jewelry to the insurance company for $3800. The company pretended to demur until she had obtained an appraisal and Mrs. Wells was sent to the jewelry store. Police were notified and she was arrested with the gems.

Mrs. Wells denied knowledge that the jewels were stolen.

Missing Army Man Located

EL PASO (Tex.) Jan. 30. (AP)—Lieut. John B. Allen of Fort Bliss, reported missing since Friday, was located today in Juarez. Police had feared the lieutenant had met with foul play.

When the officer was found an organized search had been instituted for him. Police had worked on a theory that he might have been mistaken by prize-fight racketeers in Juarez and slain.

It was not immediately learned where Allen has been since Friday.

ISOLATED VILLAGE GETS FOOD SUPPLY

ASTORIA (Or.) Jan. 30. (AP)—An emergency supply of provisions for residents of Brookfield, Wash., was deposited on the edge of a ten-foot ice barrier by the river steamer Elfin today and an acute food shortage was relieved. The ice barrier isolated the fishing village from communication except by telephone and telegraph.

SENATORS QUIZ PHONE LEADER

Gifford Gives His Views on Communications Bill

He Sees Measure as Death to Control by States

Full Federal Power Over Utilities Held Unwise

WASHINGTON, Jan. 30. (AP)—Expressing no objection to the pending Couzens communications bill, Walter S. Gifford, president of the American Telephone and Telegraph Company, said before the Senate Interstate Commerce Committee today that passage of the measure by Congress probably would mark the end of State regulation of utilities.

Senator Wheeler, Democrat, Montana, expressed the opinion that the present trouble about rates in many States is that the regulating authority of the States has not been exercised.

"The trouble is not in the law," he said, "but in the inertia of the State commissions."

GOUGING DENIED

Gifford asserted he thought it would be unwise to take away from the States the power of regulating utilities.

Outlining the policy of his company, which he said is shaped only to obtain a reasonable return, the witness added there is "not the slightest incentive" to make undue profits because the money would be distributed among a large number of stockholders, none of whom holds more than 1 per cent of the stock. He added that such a procedure would not be sound business.

Nothing has happened recently in the communications, he replied in answer to a question by Senator Watson, Republican, Indiana, to warrant the transfer of regulatory authority from State to Federal control.

LIKENED TO RAILROADS

Gifford added that what happened with the railroads under regulation of the Interstate Commerce Commission, where Federal control has become supreme, is bound to happen also in the field of communications.

The Couzens bill groups radio, telephones, telegraph and cables under control of a new communications commission, and the committee is making an extensive investigation of the whole subject.

Gifford explained to the committee, however, that inasmuch as most of the provisions of the pending measure already are law, enactment of the bill probably would not change the present situation.

Questioning the witness, Senator Dill, Democrat, Washington, asked whether the Federal government might not be able to aid the States in their regulation of utilities by amending the present law, but Gifford replied that probably would be impossible.

"Whenever a Federal commission touches utilities," he said, "the result is that the Federal government controls and the State fades away."

'Pig Woman' of Hall-Mills Case Near to Death

JERSEY CITY, Jan. 30. (Exclusive)—Only a blood transfusion can save the life of Mrs. Jane Gibson, "pig woman" in the famous Hall-Mills New Brunswick murder mystery. If her condition permits the transfusion may be made tomorrow in Jersey City Hospital, it was announced tonight.

Mrs. Gibson was taken to the hospital on Tuesday from her farm on De Russey's Lane, near New Brunswick, where the bodies of Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, choir singer, were found in September, 1922.

Mrs. Gibson was the star witness for the State in the trial four years ago which ended in the acquittal of Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and her brothers, William and Henry Stevens.

Body of Girl Seen in Surf

MONTEREY, Jan. 30. (AP)—With the sighting of the body of a young woman floating near Pacific Grove Beach today, Monterey police believe they have solved the mystery of the disappearance yesterday of Henrietta Vierra, 15-year-old schoolgirl.

Henrietta, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Vierra, left her home in the Oak Grove district to go to school at 8:30 a.m. She never arrived at school.

Police suspect the girl was murdered.

COUNCILMAN RESIGNS AND INQUIRY CLOSES

SEBASTOPOL, Jan. 30. (AP)—Investigation of a charge that City Councilman Miller had arranged with a private detective to "cut in" on money received from the county for liquor raiding purposes, closed today with the acceptance of Miller's resignation. The charge was made at a recent Council meeting by Detective Elmer Westphal when he presented a bill for prohibition enforcement expenses. The Council questioned two items of $50 each and Westphal declared the money was for Miller. The accused official denied the charge, but tendered his resignation at a secret meeting of the Council.

MAIL TOO SLOW FOR ROBINSON

Arkansas Senator Pines in London for Letters from 'Way Back Home

Copyright, 1930, by the New York Times

LONDON, Jan. 30. (Exclusive)—Senator Joseph T. Robinson, commenting this afternoon on the trans-Atlantic eastbound mail problem, said he is more isolated in London as far as mail from home is concerned than he was when in South Africa a year ago. He said, strange as it may seem, the fact is he has had only one letter from his home in Arkansas since his arrival two weeks ago.

This situation is due, he said, to the use of slow American ships for eastbound mails instead of the faster liners under French, British and German flags. There is no question in his judgment, said Mr. Robinson, but that something should be done in Washington to cure this situation.

"Just think," he added, "I have been in London two weeks and have had just one letter from home."

What is true in his case is also true of other members of the delegation of advisers.

MacDonald May Get Nobel Prize

STOCKHOLM, Jan. 30. (AP)—It was stated here today that the Socialist party leaders, Peralbin, Hansson and Moeller, have proposed that the Norwegian Storting give the Nobel Peace Prize to Ramsay MacDonald, British Prime Minister.

The Socialist or Labor party has a sizeable plurality in the Norwegian Storting.

INGRATITUDE TO UNCLE CHARGED

Ninety-four-Year-Old El Toro Patriarch Sues

He Declares Nephew Raised by Him Stole His Ranch

Complaint Avers Fraud in Wording of Deed

SANTA ANA, Jan. 30.—Ysidro Olivares, 94-year-old patriarch of El Toro, who ranks among the earliest pioneers of Orange county with his record of eighty years' residence here, has been robbed of the small rancho he has owned for forty-two years, while his nephew, Bene Burnell, has, figuratively, bitten the hand that fed him during orphaned childhood, according to sensational charges of fraud made by the old man in a suit against his nephew, on file today in Superior Court.

Trusting his nephew to prepare his will for him, the patriarch had no suspicion when he signed the document, which he could not read, he stated. He had intended willing twenty acres of his fifty-eight-acre ranch to the nephew, but discovered he had signed a deed transferring the entire ranch to Burnell.

His suit asks that the deed be set aside and declared void, and that title to the ranch be quieted.

The complaint stated that Olivares had raised Burnell from childhood and sent him through the public schools to receive the education that the old man himself lacked. The nephew is pictured as matching his education against his uncle's trustful ignorance, to deceive his benefactor and strip him of his possessions.

Addition Plans for Courthouse Being Drafted

VENTURA, Jan. 30. — Working plans for the new addition to the Courthouse now are being made, and bids on the project are expected to be advertised for within about sixty days, according to Harold Burket, architect in charge of the structure.

The gas shovel has been relentlessly eating its way into the hillside west of the Courthouse, clearing a site for the addition, since the 21st inst. A residence and some sheds belonging to Alexander Pratt are being moved off the property, which has been sold by Pratt to the county. The home also has been purchased by the county and will be moved to Seaside Park to serve as a residence for the caretaker of the baseball park.

County Engineer Charles W. Petit said today that the excavation work probably will take thirty days more.

Edison Company Plans Expansion

ONTARIO, Jan. 30.—During the present year the Southern California Edison Company will spend more than $500,000 in this community in extended service, general additions and improvements to equipment and a general improvement of service, Glenn D. Smith, district manager, announced today.

According to Smith the steadily increasing use of electrical appliances, particularly electric refrigeration, is taxing the company's present electrical equipment.

At present the company is completing two substations in this district at a cost of $120,000. The larger of the two is at Sultana avenue and Nevada street and cost $80,000. The other is a new $40,000 outdoor substation and will take the place of the old indoor station in the northern section of the district.

BABY SEAL PREFERS TO BE LANDLUBBER

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 30.—Like the proverbial cat, Santa Monica's shore-roving seal has come back. Released last Sunday by Humane Officer Wahlforth and Police Sergeant Webb after it had refused to eat at the City Pound, when motorists on the Coast highway brought it in from the rocks above Topanga Canyon, the baby seal returned today. A special pool was made for it at the Santa Monica Athletic Club, where it greets its friends, but still refuses to eat. That it is the same infant seal is certain, for it has a damaged eye easily identifiable. Perhaps partial or total blindness, from some accident in which it was battered against the rocks during recent storms, is responsible for its return to the human friends ashore who have treated it so kindly. The seal will be given every opportunity to return to its natural element, but if it chooses to remain ashore, will be permitted to stay in the tank.

RAINS TO HOLD UP STORM-DRAIN WORK

SAN FERNANDO, Jan. 30.—The building of a storm drain between Mulholland and Eighth streets and paralleling the latter street to Pacoima Wash will not be undertaken this winter by the County Flood-Control Department, it is stated by E. B. Currey, local City Engineer.

The project includes the construction of settling basins and check dams and a concrete box conduit to carry off the flood waters from May Canyon, which flood residential districts in the northeast part of the town each rainy season. Another thirty days is to be required to complete the survey and estimate the cost of the drain line. While nothing definite is yet agreed on it is stated that as soon as the present rainy season is over steps will be taken to start fixed plans for the work.

EVEN DOOR MAT GROWS GRASS

Ten-Year-Old Article on Step of Glendale Home Has Luxurious Growth of Green Thereon, Obscuring "Welcome" Sign and Puzzling Scientists

GLENDALE, Jan. 30.—Riotous growths in the vegetable kingdom are no unusual thing in Southern California, but it has remained for this city to grow a crop of grass on a 10-year-old doormat. Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Woodbury, 315 West Cerritos avenue, own the doormat. Ornamented with the word "welcome," it has lain on the front door step for all these years, smiling its message to the visitors to the Woodbury home.

The recent rains soaked the mat through and through, and by some strange process, that has puzzled the neighborhood scientists, a crop of green shoots has forced its way up between the fibers of the doormat, adding a vivid note of color to the customary drab tones of the mat and obscuring the welcome sign.

The only explanation that Woodbury can offer is that seeds and particles of earth have been ground into the mat by the feet that have been wiped on it for years past and that the rains have started the seeds to growing.

He is watching the crop very carefully and has posted "keep off the grass" signs around it to warn trespassers away. If it turns out to be blue grass or white clover he will borrow a rabbit and pasture it on the grass, but if it is only a weed crop, he will summon the Boy Scouts to clean it up.

Woodbury asserts that the city cannot enforce its ordinance about the cleaning of vacant lots with regard to his doormat, and if the street department starts anything he will simply haul the doormat inside the house and stand on his constitutional rights.

ALIEN LAND LAW CASE UP

Superior Judge Rules That Japanese Defendants Can Not Testify and That Action is "Quasi Criminal"

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 30.—Characterizing the State's attempt to wrest three acres at Vista from control of six asserted Japanese as a quasi-criminal proceeding, Judge C. C. Haines today ruled in Superior Court that none of the defendants may be called upon to give testimony.

Argument on the question had halted introduction of evidence from the time the case went to trial Tuesday morning.

Defense attorneys, led by Arthur Dorn, contended the present procedure was criminal and not civil in nature, whatever the form; that the Japanese had been tried once on a criminal charge of conspiracy to violate the State's alien land law, had been acquitted and, therefore, could not legally be placed once more in jeopardy.

The court's ruling, as it affected the last contention of the defense, was that the defendants in effect are not being tried on the same charge as originally lodged in the admittedly criminal case against them. The present suit is to obtain escheat of the land to the State. The alien land law was designed to prevent such control of California lands by Japanese as set forth in the case at bar, Dep. Dist.-Atty. E. N. Clark declared.

Three Killed in Auto Crash; One Severely Hurt

SANTA MARIA, Jan. 30. (AP)—Three Santa Maria men were killed and one San Francisco salesman seriously injured in an automobile collision on the State highway twenty miles north of here about midnight. The triple tragedy was caused by the excessive speeding of one of the victims, who was racing to the bedside of his daughter in Oregon, where she also was an automobile accident victim, it is reported.

The dead: W. L. Judd, 35 years of age; C. Spencer, 50, and J. W. Chenoweth, 25, all of whom were employees at the Rosemary ranch here, owned by Capt. G. Allan Hancock of Los Angeles. Ralph Henderson, 25, San Francisco automobile salesman, is in the Santa Maria Hospital with a broken leg.

Judd, receiving a message of his daughter's injury, started with Spencer and Chenoweth to catch a bus that was en route to San Francisco. Driving at what investigators reported was a terrific pace, their car hit Henderson's on a curve. The latter was hurled through his windshield but suffered only a broken leg and slight cuts. Spencer and Chenoweth were killed instantly, and Judd died shortly afterward. Their car was demolished.

All that could be learned of Judd's injured daughter was that her name is Elsie and that she is at Rainier, Or.

PHONE BOOK UNITES BROTHERS

New Directory Brings Them Together

Oscar and Guy Michaels

After losing track of each other for thirty-one years, two brothers born and raised at Bonner Springs, Kan., are reunited at Pasadena, although for a year they had been living within five blocks of each other there, and where Oscar, the elder brother, had even complimented Guy, the younger, on his culinary ability at the cafe where the latter is chef.

PASADENA, Jan. 30.—Distribution today of the new local telephone directory was welcomed by the city at large, but it marked a new epoch in the lives of two brothers, Oscar and Guy Michaels, who are now reunited after losing track of each other thirty-one years ago.

For the last year, the brothers have been living here within five blocks of each other, Oscar, a blacksmith, at 181 South Oak avenue, and Guy, a chef, at 92 North Allen avenue.

A strange coincidence was revealed when it was learned following the reunion that Guy, the younger brother, has been employed for several months at the Columbia Cafe on Colorado street, near Allen avenue, where Oscar habitually lunches. While eating in this cafe, Oscar had exchanged pleasantries with the chef and complimented him on his culinary ability, not realizing it was his long-lost brother.

This morning, Guy Michaels picked up a newly delivered telephone directory and while scanning the pages, his eye caught the name, "O. B. Michaels." A few minutes later Oscar Michaels answered the telephone bell.

"Is your name Oscar Burton Michaels?" queried a man's voice.

"It is," the blacksmith replied.

"Did you ever live in Bonner Springs, Kan.?" the voice persisted.

"I did, why?"

"Well, are the toes on your left foot cut off?"

"Yes, but is that your business?" countered Oscar.

"Stay right where you are then and your brother, Guy, whom you haven't seen for thirty-one years will come up to see you!"

Oscar Michaels had an appointment to shoe a horse at his small shop on North Glen avenue, but when Guy stepped into the house and proved his identity, Oscar called it a day "even if one horse has to walk barefoot." Late today, the brothers continued to sit on the back steps at Oscar's home to "catch up with each other a bit," as Guy put it.

Both have been married since their separation in boyhood. Oscar has three children and one granddaughter. Guy's wife died five years ago.

After conducting a hardware store in Bonner Springs Oscar became a blacksmith and has worked at that trade ever since. Guy has made two trips around the world and has served as chef in England and Germany.

Oscar, whose left toes were cut off by a mowing machine, came to this city thirteen years ago. Guy came here in December, 1928.

"Just to think that we've been neighbors for more than a year without knowing it—why one of us might have died without the other knowing it!" exclaimed Oscar.

"It all goes to show it pays to be friendly," he continued. "If we had been more friendly and asked each other his name when we saw each other in the cafe, we wouldn't have had to wait for the telephone book to get us together again."

SUICIDE TRY BY GUEST IN HOTEL FAILS

Fred Oleson Inhales Gas at Redlands Hostelry But Discovered in Time

REDLANDS, Jan. 30.—Fred Oleson, 57 years of age, who attempted to take his own life at a downtown hotel by inhaling gas, is in a critical condition at the Community Hospital.

Oleson, apparently possessed of a fair income, had been a guest at the local hotel for more than a year, it was stated. Little is known of his connections or antecedents. In the months that he has been a guest at the hotel, it is stated, he has not worked or been engaged in business.

Her suspicions aroused by the fact that Oleson had not been seen for several hours, Mrs. Rosalia Kelly, proprietor of the hotel, went to his room. Entering, she found the man lying unconscious on the floor, the rubber tube from a gas heater in his mouth.

Summoning assistance, she immediately called the police, Officers King and Peterson responding. Within a few moments Fire Chief Perrin G. Thowbridge and his inhalator squad appeared on the scene and oxygen was pumped into the man's lungs. When signs of life had been restored, Oleson was rushed to the hospital.

Scion of Old Cuban Family Passes Away

SANTA BARBARA, Jan. 30.—Albert Valentine de Goicouria, 2417 Santa Barbara street, died yesterday after having been ill for two years.

De Goicouria, who had been a winter resident here since 1916, was a descendant of a distinguished old Cuban family. He was born in Havana in 1848. He graduated as a civil engineer from the Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute in Troy, N. Y., and practiced his profession for two years, but withdrew to become a member of the New York Stock Exchange. He retired in 1906. While he was still in college, he helped to run a blockade in the Cuban insurrection.

Besides his widow, De Goicouria is survived by a daughter, Mrs. Benjamin C. Allen of Colorado Springs, by a former marriage, and six grandchildren, among whom are Mrs. John Balfour Clark, Bedminister, N. Y., and the Misses Bessie Morgan Belmont, Alyce de Goicouria Belmont, and Cecelia, Barbara and August Belmont. Mrs. Allen and Miss Alyce Belmont arrived yesterday from Colorado Springs.

CHAMBER PLANS BANQUET

Santa Monica-Ocean Park Organization Will Hold Its Annual Feast Monday Evening at Hotel

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 30.—More than 300 reservations have been made for the annual banquet of the Santa Monica-Ocean Park Chamber of Commerce, to be held next Monday night at the Miramar Hotel. Joseph Scott, Los Angeles attorney and civic leader, will speak on "The Obligation of the Community to the Chamber of Commerce." Carl Bush, secretary of the Hollywood chamber, will discuss "The Place of the Chamber of Commerce in the Community."

Among the most interesting developments of the year, in a brief summary to be presented by A. R. Pratt, president of the organization, will be an experiment which has proved so successful that other commerce bodies throughout the country have written inquiries. In an effort to preserve a perfect balance of business and professional interests on the board of directors, the local chamber has been operating under a provision which requires that if any director retires his place must be filled by a man from the same business or profession. John L. S. Cooke and President Pratt declare the innovation is of great value.

The annual banquet this year inaugurates a membership drive in charge of Morton H. Anderson.

GIRL FAILS TO PROVE RACE

Santa Ana Marriage License Clerk Refuses Document to Couple on Suspicion Girl is Filipino; Time Limit Expires and She Doesn't Come Back

SANTA ANA, Jan. 30.—County Clerk J. B. Backs today had qualified in a new role—as judge of racial lineage—when Ernest Lopez, 25 years of age, and Marie Roberts, 19, Los Angeles couple, failed to appear at the marriage license bureau and demand a license, thereby allowing their application, filed thirty days ago, to legally lapse.

The couple tried to get the license the 2nd inst., but Backs refused it, on the suspicion that the bride is a Filipino. The law bars marriage between Caucasians and Filipinos. The girl admitted she was a native of Manila, but asserted she is of white blood. She declared her intention of bringing proof of her claim.

But the limit of time expired yesterday and the couple had not appeared.

WORK FOR JOBLESS SEEN

Temporary Relief for Needy Men With Families Will Be Provided by San Diego Authorities' Plan

SAN DIEGO, Jan. 30.—In accordance with the $10,000 bread basket planned by city and county officers, temporary relief for unemployed men with needy families was in sight today, following a decision of Mayor Harry C. Clark, City Manager Fred Lockwood and J. G. Morley, park superintendent, that it would be feasible to straighten and widen the narrow, winding roads through Balboa Park connecting Tenth street and University avenue with Eleventh and A streets.

Their decision was made following an inspection. The matter will be brought before the park board for authorization. Also, in order that work for the jobless may be provided as soon as possible, legal and administrative angles, including civil-service adjustments, are being considered.

"The road can be modernized into a desirable traffic artery without too much work," Lockwood said after the inspection. "I believe it will relieve morning and evening traffic jams around Fifth and Sixth streets on University avenue and also on Park Boulevard."

No date was set for actual starting of the work. It must first be approved by the park board, officials said, and it was considered unlikely that the work could be financed without passage of an ordinance, which would delay it until early next week.

Work seekers today visited the offices of the Mayor and Councilmen, but nothing definite could be offered them. It was made clear that the plan is meant only to furnish groceries and shelter to needy men with families, tiding them over until they can find regular positions. City officials say that the present condition is to be attributed in large part at least to a recent influx of families without sufficient means.

Besides her husband, she leaves two daughters, Miss Lois Greenlee and Miss Alice May Greenlee, a sister, Mrs. A. R. Kirkwood of this city, and two brothers, L. N. Dane of Pasadena, and George B. Dane of Berkeley. Funeral arrangements will be announced by Turner & Stevens Company.

Three Held on Embezzlement Charge at Indio

RIVERSIDE, Jan. 30.—Charged with embezzling and aiding and abetting the embezzlement of approximately $1600 from the Valley Motor Service Company of Indio to obtain funds for "riotous living," two young women and a man late last night were lodged in the County Jail on felony charges after being bound over to the Superior Court for trial from a preliminary examination in Justice Allen's Indio Township Court.

Principal defendant in the prosecution is Geraldine Barman, also known as Mrs. Edna Barman, until recently bookkeeper for the Motor Service Company, who faces the charge. Sheriff Sweeters asserts that she systematically robbed the company over a period of months to get money for a "wild life" that her moderate circumstances did not permit. She is charged with grand theft.

Accused of aiding and abetting Miss Barman and of helping her spend money they assertedly knew was stolen, Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Read, 21 and 19 years of age, respectively, of Brawley, were taken into custody by Sheriff Sweeters and named jointly in the complaint filed in the Indio Township Court.

Public's Faith is Asked for by Realty Dealers

VAN NUYS, Jan. 30.—Following a meeting here of the executive council of the Fifteenth District of the California Real Estate Association, of which Leslie Taylor of Van Nuys is the vice-president in charge, it was decided to hold another meeting at Glendale on February 28, next, to formulate a program to stimulate real-estate activities, and to adopt certain radical measures that will rehabilitate the buying public's confidence in all realty transactions.

Taylor at the meeting here outlined a plan which he hopes will be adopted at the Glendale conference. This will be attended by the leading real-estate men in this section.

At the meeting here City Assessor Edward W. Hopkins was guest of honor. In a part of his talk he explained the work of his office. Discussions followed relative to various tax matters. A dozen newspaper men were present. In a short talk Taylor asked them to give abundant publicity to his plan which, he said, when adopted will tend to wake up real-estate market activities.

CITY DIRECTOR MAY RUN FOR SUPERVISOR

PASADENA, Jan. 30.—City Director Irving S. Monroe admitted today that he probably will be a candidate for County Supervisor from the First District. "I had not considered seeking the position until a few weeks ago, when Pomona friends urged me to enter the field," he declared this afternoon.

"Now hardly a day goes by but that I am asked to run for the office, but before I make a final decision I shall look over the situation in Long Beach.

"I have not heard whether Supervisor Fred Beatty will seek re-election, but understand that State Senator Frank Merriam of Long Beach will be a candidate. I am not sure I can finance such a campaign, but shall give the question serious consideration."

American Capital President in Annual Report

Figures for 1929 Show Net of $1,698,223.98

Equals $1.94 Rate on Class B Stock and $2.97 on A

American Capital Corporation of Los Angeles, an investment trust, in its annual report for the year ended December 31, last, which was released yesterday by Henry S. McKee, president, showed net income after Federal income taxes of $1,698,223.98, equal after preferred dividends to $10.08 a share on 99,999 Class-"A" common shares of no par value. For the period from its organization, May 19, 1928, to December 31, 1928, the corporation showed net income after Federal taxes of $1,162,108.57 or $7.85 per Class-"A" common share.

The income applicable to common stock for 1929 was $1,008,227.07, equivalent to $1.94 per share on 366,666 Class-"B" common shares and $2.97 per share on 999,999 Class-"A" common shares outstanding, taking into acount the participation features of both classes of stock. In the 1928 period, the income applicable to the common stock was $784,565.51 or $1.64 per share of Class-"B" and $2.82 per share of Class "A," allowing for the participation features.

Total income for 1929 was $2,051,626.75, which included only cash received as dividend and interest income and cash profits realized from the sale of securities, and compared with $1,311,144.15 for the partial period of 1928.

The corporation pursued an investment policy similar to that of the Pacific Investing Corporation, of which Mr. McKee is also president and of which the management is practically the same as that of the American Capital Corporation, the report said. During and after the market decline extensive purchases of securities were made at satisfactory prices with a large amount of cash which had been kept on hand at all times for this purpose, supplemented by a still further large amount derived from sales of securities made when prices were high, largely during August, September and October.

As a result of this policy, the report stated, the position of the company has been substantially improved over that existing at the beginning of the year, as its securities are owned at a lower cost than formerly and the company receives from them a higher rate of return on the investment. The auditors' report showed that the market value of securities owned December 31, last, (taken at the low levels then prevailing) plus the excess of cash assets over all liabilities amounted to more than the total paid-in capital and surplus. Profit and loss surplus increased from $784,565.51 on January 1, 1929, to $1,593,370.58 on December 21, last.

The income received as dividends and interest earned on investments in 1929 was substantially in excess of the dividend requirements on the company's outstanding prior preferred and preferred stocks, the report pointed out. On December 31, last, the company owned ninety-six securities and cash and call loans amounted to $2,539,521.83. This investment fund was distributed by classes as follows: 1.2 per cent in rails; 10.1 per cent in public utilities; 47.6 per cent in industrials, etc.; 15.8 per cent in bank and insurance company stocks; 1.2 per cent in foreign bonds, principally governmental, and 15.1 per cent in cash and call loans.

The fund at the close of the year was invested by types as follows: Cash and call loans, $2,539,521.83, or 15.1 per cent; bonds and notes (domestic and foreign), $285,285.32, or 1.7 per cent; preferred and preference stocks, $2,097,446.88, or 12.4 per cent; bank and insurance company stocks, $2,665,749.05, or 15.8 per cent, and common stocks (rails, public utilities, industrials, etc.) $9,267,070.82, or 55 per cent.

HOLMES URGES OIL CURB

Texas Company Head Believes Crude Curtailment Will Solve Problems in Industry; Officers Here

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Conserve crude oil by regulating the output, and the refining problem will take care of itself. In substance this was the comment yesterday of R. C. Holmes, president of the Texas Company of Delaware, who is in Los Angeles looking over his company's oil operations in this part of the State.

Mr. Holmes declines to worry over surplus production of gasoline, a question that is bothering a number of leaders in the oil business. Once the operators bring the production of crude oil under control, he said, the industry will right itself and adjustments of corollary problems.

CURTAILMENT ADVOCATE

Throughout the petroleum industry he is known as a vigorous advocate of curtailment of oil output, particularly since his services last year as chairman of the general committee appointed by the American Petroleum Institute to study and report on the conservation situation. The report his committee submitted to the Federal Oil Conservation Board, while failing of enactment into law, has been the basis for voluntary regulation adopted in the various producing centers.

Mr. Holmes is keenly interested in California's experiment to meet the production situation by legislation aimed at the wastage of natural gas. If this law proves effective, he predicted that the mid-continent, the southern and other oil-producing States would proceed to sponsor similar legislation. The whole industry, he said, is waiting to learn the results of this pioneer venture into the control of production by law.

With his party of directors and officers the Texas president left early yesterday morning for a tour over the Los Angeles basin operations, especially Santa Fe Springs, where the Texas Company is one of the largest operators. With reference to the proposal to drill the lower sands at Santa Fe under the unit plan, Mr. Holmes observed that the American Petroleum Institute favors this method under proper circumstances and he knows of no reason why it should not be applied successfully in California.

Accompanying Mr. Holmes in his tour over the California oil fields are Eugene M. Stevens, president of the Continental Illinois Bank and Trust Company of Chicago; J. N. Hill, Albert Rockwell, J. H. Lapham, directors of the company; C. B. Ames, vice-president and director, legal department; W. S. S. Rodgers, vice-president and director, domestic sales; T. Rieber, vice-president and director, export sales and marine department; R. Ogarrio, vice-president in charge of production, and Lester J. Norris of St. Charles, Ill., representing large stock interests.

DEALS NOT INTENDED

Mr. Holmes, in reply to a question about the possibilities of Texas acquiring other properties in California, said nothing of this nature is contemplated at this time. His party, he explained, is merely making an annual tour of operations, having visited operations in Illinois, Louisiana and Texas before coming to California. The Kettleman Hills and San Joaquin Valley fields were visited earlier in the week, and on Saturday the party will leave for the east.

Since its acquisition of the California Petroleum Corporation in February, 1928, the Texas Company distributes its products throughout the entire United States and in forty-six foreign countries. Twenty-six of its own, besides several chartered vessels, transport Texaco products to various foreign markets. The company is one of the largest of the so-called independent group.

NEW PHELPS DODGE CURTAILMENT STEP

CLIFFTON (Ariz.) Jan. 30. (AP)—Production of copper will be cut 40 per cent, beginning February 1, by the Phelps Dodge Corporation at its Morenci branch, officials announced here last night. At the present time the Morenci branch is producing 5,100,000 pounds of copper monthly.

CITIES SERVICE WINS SUIT

Writ to Compel Issue of Rights After Withdrawal by Company Denied in Federal Court

NEW YORK, Jan. 30. (AP)—Federal Judge William Bondy dismissed a suit for an injunction brought to restrain directors of the Cities Service Corporation from withdrawing their offer of special stock-purchasing rights issued October 10, last, to holders of common stock of the corporation.

Under the rules of the curb exchange, a copy of which was filed with Judge Bondy, all holders who traded their rights on the curb, selling them to others at from $1.50 to $2.25 a share, must reimburse purchasers. The curb exchange rules provide that sales on a contingency basis, such as those of the rights in question, are nullified by any condition which makes execution impossible.

Hugo Cohen, a common stockholder, had filed the suit on behalf of himself and others similarly situated soon after the directors on October 30 reconsidered their decision to issue stock-purchasing rights.

The original action of the directors promised stockholders to issue a warrant indicating the number of shares which each might purchase at $45 a share "as soon as possible after November 7."

During the stock market slump late in October, however, Cities Service common dropped below 45, and the directors withdrew their offer "for the benefit of the corporation and stockholders."

Meanwhile, however, many hundreds of Cities Service stockholders had disposed of the rights. In addition, many holders of debenture bonds had exercised the privilege of buying themselves into the common stockholders' class to avail themselves of the special rights privilege.

Among the representatives of the debenture holders who purchased stock in anticipation of the rights distribution was Charles E. Quincey & Co., which expended $136,080 in the purchase of stock and traded its prospective rights at $2.12½ a share. The Quincey company and Bertha Lann, a stockholder, joined Cohen in his suit.

In his opinion, Judge Bondy held that nothing contained in the offer made by the board prohibited revocation before its acceptance and that the "well-established principle that an offer may be revoked at any time before its acceptance governs the right of the parties to this suit."

Judge Bondy, while making it plain that he believed the plaintiffs had no cause of action, set forth that if any cause existed it was enforcible in a damage suit and not in an injunction proceeding.

CANADA FORESTS IN PERIL

Dominion Leaders Sound Note of Warning Before Paper and Pulp Association Gathering

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

[Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance]

NEW YORK, Jan. 30.—"Find a substitute for pulp, or cut down the size of newspapers," is the suggestion of W. D. Robb, vice-president of the Canadian National Railways, speaking before the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association in Montreal.

"Some 6,328,000 cords of pulp wood, worth $75,000,000 in 1928, were fabricated into finished goods, worth more than $185,000,000," said Mr. Robb before this gathering. "So the value of the raw material was multiplied two and one-half times by the manufacturing process. Rayon, too, is demanding more pulp. So is the paper-box business."

"Conserve our forces" is becoming a national slogan in Canada. Sir Henry Thornton agreed with Mr. Robb and called attention to the need of substitutes whereby production may once more overtake consumption in the Canadian forests.

Sir Henry's point is primarily that Canada badly needs scientific research study in the solving of this very important problem which concerns not only Canadian business, but American as well.

Next to wheat, paper is Canada's main export.

When E. H. H. Simmons, president of the New York Stock Exchange, at the close of one of the worst bear days in the stock market in November, said that the amount of short interest was only one-seventh of 1 per cent of the total listed sales, it showed in cold figures as nothing else could the fact that short selling is not widely practiced.

"This short selling business—I can't quite understand it," is the way one stock market bull expressed himself to the writer.

Should short selling be permitted? In some countries it is prohibited.

But in a falling market, short selling is undoubtedly the best stabilizer. It creates "potent buying power."

"Had short selling been more extensive, the stock market decline might not have gone so far nor so fast. The absence of short selling was due to the sad experience of bears in the protracted bull market," says one market observer.

When the elder J. P. Morgan said "Never sell United States short," he was only expressing the common sentiment and feeling of the shrewd investor.

The report of the United States Steel Corporation, showing net earnings for 1929 of $258,659,000, staggered even Wall street. It is the corporation's best record since the war. The net earnings increased over 1928 by more than $1,250,000 a week.

Think of a company setting aside for depreciation more than $5,000,000 a month! After taking out of net earnings every conceivable kind of a depreciation, there was left $197,531,000. Preferred stock dividends took $25,219,677 and common stock dividends took $63,408,000. This left a surplus of almost $109,000,000 as against $39,000,000 for 1928.

The record years of the United States Steel Corporation were 1917 when net earnings soared to a little more than $295,000,000 and 1916 when they hit their all-time record peak of $330,574,000.

Ingot steel production is now running at the rate of more than 77 per cent of capacity as against 72 per cent a week ago, and 67 per cent two weeks ago.

The steel business is looking up.

Net income for the full year 1929 was $1,862,160, or $4.63 a common share, as compared with $1,272,104, or $13.53 a share on the capital stock outstanding in 1928.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Stock Market Maintains Steady Undertone as Trading Activity Slackens

Price fluctuations held within a very narrow range on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday as the volume of dealings slipped back from the higher level of the previous session. Under the scattered trading no definite trend was established and at the close the small number of fractional changes were about equally divided in losses and gains.

Western Air Express, the feature of Wednesday's sessions, opened strong and reached a new high for the recovery at 36 1-8 and from this level was knocked down to a close at 33½, off 1 1-4 points net. Aero Corporation on light sales, closed unchanged at 3.00.

Transamerica and Pacific Finance, while not as active as in the preceding session, continued to turn over in large volume. The former closed up 1-4 to 44 1-4 and the latter reacted 5-8 to 41. Southern California Edison played a prominent part in the activity with a transfer of 1800 shares under which it added ⅛ to close high for the day at 59.

Richfield Oil and Standard of California traded more rapidly than in the recent past but eased fractionally lower with the other oil shares. Union, off 3-8 to 44, recorded the largest recession of the group.

There were no changes among the bank stocks. International Re-Insurance firmed up ½ to 42. Trading in other sections of the board was negligible.

Sales totaled 16,222 shares valued at $556,074; previous day, 27,971 shares valued at $743,353.

ONTARIO RESERVOIR GETS FIRST CLEANING

ONTARIO, Jan. 30.—It will require one week's time to fill the city's 10,000,000-gallon reservoir at Eighth street and Campus avenue, City Manager Austin Burt said today. It required several days to empty the huge cistern, which was filled five years ago and was given its first scrubbing this week. A small army of men armed with brooms scrubbed the sides and bottom of the reservoir. A careful inspection of the bottom and walls was made, and no cracks or blemishes found, Burt reported.

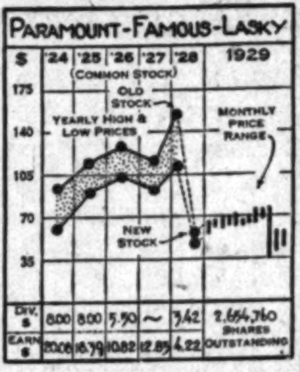
WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR STOCK



PARAMOUNT FAMOUS LASKY

One of the pioneers in the motion-picture industry, Paramount is at present one of the two most important organizations in the motion-picture business, being engaged directly, or through subsidiaries in production, distribution and exhibition. Production is centered at the Hollywood studios, where the more important pictures are made, others being filmed at the Long Island City (N. Y.) properties. The company now devotes itself principally to sound pictures, although silent versions are made for theaters not yet wired, or for foreign distribution. Exhibition facilities include more than 400 theaters either owned or controlled, with additions being steadily made. A half interest is held in the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Net income for the nine months ended September 30, 1929, was approximately $9,725,000 or $3.67 per share on the common stock, as compared with $5,975,000 or $2.90 per share for the similar 1928 period. Current assets, as of November 1, 1929 were $35,300,000 against current liabilities of $12,600,000, leaving an indicated working capital of $22,700,000. NEW YORK BOND PRICES

NEW YORK, Jan. 30. (AP)—Increased activity in foreign bonds and in a few convertible issues tended to lift today's bond market out of the rut. However, the movement of prices in domestic corporation issues continued along irregular lines, with many rails still meeting moderate pressure. The expected new issue of International Telephone obligations was announced after the close of the market. It is a $50,000,000 issue due in twenty-five years, 5s, priced [illegible]. The imminence of this flotation [illegible] liquidation of the company's stock [illegible] convertible 4½s, which move with the shares, dropped to 112¾, later recovering a quarter point for a net loss of [illegible]. The straight debenture 4½s yielded ⅛. [illegible] bond financing is showing a considerable decline. Numerous foreign bonds changed hands in large blocks, especially the German governments, the 7½s touching a new high of 120¼, and the 7s reaching [illegible]. Outstanding changes developed in [illegible] Alsace 6s, October, up 3½, and [illegible] Company 7s, up 3¾.

United States governments gained on [illegible] turnover. The advance in the [illegible] amounted to 11-32, while the [illegible] 4¼s rallied 9-32.

American Telephone convertible 4½s traded actively within a 3-point range with the closing price of 142¾ [illegible] net loss of ¼. Atchison [illegible] 4½s gained 2. St. Paul 5s, [illegible] general 4s, New York Central general [illegible], Northern Pacific refunding 4s, Pennsylvania Consolidated 4s of 1948 and other [illegible] moderately. [illegible] particularly the semispeculative [illegible] tended upward. Fisk Rubber [illegible], International Paper 5s, and Armour [illegible] 4½s improved. [illegible] changes in the utilities were small. The new American Telephone 4½s were [illegible] at 100⅛ to 100¼.

The quotations represent sales of bonds in thousands (of dollars) and the high, low and closing prices in order given. [illegible] transmission, the close is [illegible] the same as the low, and [illegible] close when same as high.

Total sales today, $5,900,000; previous day, $9,632,000; week ago, $8,454,000; year ago, $10,286,000; two years ago, $12,744,000; January 1 to date, $196,626,000; same year ago, $247,444,000; same two years ago, $311,677,000.

SAN FRANCISCO

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30. (AP)—Evidence of revived interest by San Francisco brokers in their own market was given today by the rise of industrial stocks. Gains of 1 to 2 points, scored early, lifted averages to a new top for 1930. Even with a readjusting and settling in some issues late in the day, prices showed good strength.

Bonds came into fairly heavy demand, $34,000 crossing the protected securities counter. Stock sales at 42,314, selling for $1,177,176, were somewhat smaller than yesterday. The Sutro average of twenty stocks was at a new high, showing a gain of three-tenths of a point.

Sharp gains by selected industrials followed recommendations turned out by various Montgomery street analysts. Closing prices, while failing to hold early gains in many cases, showed gains of 1 to 2 points for Atlas Diesel, California Packing, Clorox Chemical, California Ink and Investors Association. Reactionary issues included California Cotton, down 3½, and a few fractional losers.

Pacific Telephone helped the utility stocks, with gains of a point each by the common and preferred stock. After selling strongly higher, Pacific Gas lost a part of a fractional gain. Pacific Lighting preferred was slightly higher at the close, but the common converted an early gain into a small loss. Great Western 7s slipped fractionally.

All price changes in the oil group were downward. Necessity for further restriction of gasoline output was believed along Montgomery street to be acting as a heavy weight on petrols. Losses, however, were small.

Transamerica, closing at 44⅝, was at its 1930 high. The gain was only ⅛, however. Discussions revealed considerable optimism in investment circles over the possibilities of this issue to take advantage of Federal legislation, already introduced, to permit national banks to established branches throughout their respective Federal Reserve districts.

METAL MARKET

CLEVELAND, Jan. 30. (Exclusive)—Daily Metal Trade today says:

Sheet metal mills report uncertain and fluctuating specifications, particularly in the lighter gauges. Consequently operating schedules are difficult to arrange for any considerable period ahead. Finished steel demand is picking up at Detroit, reflecting the steady increase in automobile production. Steel bars, plates and shapes now are being quoted at 1.95 to 2.00 at Chicago, which compares with a flat 2.00 price hitherto quoted.

Shape bookings are somewhat improved in the East, where the mills are operating at 75 to 85 per cent of capacity. Cold strip steel orders are slightly heavier. Pig iron buying continues heavy with indications are that January business will exceed that place in the corresponding month a year ago.

METAL PRICES

NEW YORK, Jan. 30. (AP)—Copper dull; electrolytic spot and futures, 18.

Iron steady and unchanged.

Tin firm; spot and near-by, 39.37; future, 39.75.

WOOL MARKET

BOSTON, Jan. 30. (AP)—A moderate volume of finer grades domestic wools are being sold. Some of the large worsted mills are in the market and while they are not buying heavily, they are covering immediate needs without attempting to force down prices. Speculative offers several cents a pound below current quotations are being made but most dealers are inclined to reject bids of this character.

MARKET FLASHES

NEW YORK, Jan. 30. (AP)—Stocks irregular; International Telephone touches year's lowest.

RUBBER MARKET

NEW YORK, Jan. 30. (Exclusive)—Owing to the closing of the Singapore market for the celebration of holidays there trading in futures on the local rubber exchange today was featured by continued dullness throughout the day, as all interests were content to stand by and await the resumption of business in the Far East before making any new commitments.

There were no new developments in the statistical news of the day. In London cables were merely steady all day and presented no incentive for any activity here. Final quotations, after slight gains, which were made in the early dealings, were canceled on some profit-taking and were unchanged to 10 points below previous closes. Sales amounted to 120 lots, or 300 tons, the entire total being dealt in in the first three hours of business. From 1 o'clock to the closing bell not a single contract had changed hands. On Wednesday the turnover aggregated 103 lots, or 257½ tons.

London spot closed dull and 1-16d higher at 7 9-16d. The last quotation for the spot position in Singapore was 7⅛d in the outside spot market and here the quotation dropped ⅛c to 16¼c.

Outside prices were:

Smoked ribbed sheets—Spot, 15¾; February-March, 15⅞; April-June, 15⅞; July-September, 16⅝.

First latex crepe, 15⅞.

Clean thin brown crepe, 13⅝.

Amber No. 3, 13½.

Para upriver fine, 16¼.

SUGAR MARKET

BY HOWARD KEGLEY

That the Kettleman Hills oil and gas field will, within the next few weeks, be placed on the unit basis for future development is the probability which looms out of a series of conferences which oil operators have been holding with Secretary of the Interior Wilbur.

Operators have combed the country for practical ideas applicable to Kettleman Hills, and have finally shaped up a modification of the unit system now being used by several companies in Texas fields. The plan, in brief, would be to pool all fee lands, leases and government permits, form a large corporation with authority to develop or contract for the development of the lands, drill them in such a way as to exert the utmost economy in operation, and distribute the net revenue from oil and gas among all interested persons or companies on the basis of their respective interest in the entire field.

There will be many details to be worked out if this plan is decided upon at a meeting of the Kettleman Hills Conservation Committee next week, but it could be made workable within a few weeks, and if the method is adopted all wells now producing or in the oil sands would be thrown into the pool. While it would be possible for the various interests to create a new development company for the operation of the field, it is thought more than likely that the actual development program will be entrusted to the Standard Oil Company of California, which owns outright 33,000 acres in the heart of the field.

To Be Ready

With the present proration period expiring tonight for the Santa Fe Springs and Signal Hill fields, new agreements calling for a ninety-day extension are still in circulation, there being a number of operators who have not been able to sign or still are holding out for some reason.

Umpire Neil H. Anderson at Signal Hill has practically every signature required to make that field 100 per cent. At Santa Fe Springs there are perhaps a half-dozen operators who have not signed. As in the past the Wilshire Oil Company is reported to have not signed up for curtailment of output.

Further Need Unnecessary

Officials in close touch with the situation at Santa Fe Springs believe that the production peak of the field will be passed within the next two weeks and that curtailment beyond the next ninety days will be unnecessary unless a deeper producing sand is discovered.

For the past ten days the daily flow at Santa Fe Springs has been close to 170,000 barrels, but for the past four days it has shown a gradual decline despite a number of scattering completions, all rather small in comparison to other records established.

During the next two weeks, the field's potential is expected to be 366,900 barrels, which is approximately the same as during the past two weeks.

Elwood Situation

With the completion of the Barnsdall-Rio Grande combination's Luton-Bell No. 15, the Elwood field's daily production increased to 35,900 barrels, but that is expected to show a decline as soon as the new producer is beaned down to cut the total flow to the 30,000-barrel quota. The Luton-Bell No. 14 is yielding 3200 barrels of oil per day and is cleaning up.

Suspends Dscovery Well

To aid the curtailment of production, the Ohio Oil Company has shut in its Recreation Gun Club No. 1 discovery well southeast of Venice and will keep it capped until there is a greater demand for crude oil on the market.

Officials of Ohio announced that due to the conservation policy they considered the shutting in of the company's first producer near Venice the proper procedure in view of the efforts to check overproduction of oil in the various fields.

Ohio's Recreation Gun Club No. Club No. 1 was completed last December and started off at approximately 3000 barrels of 24 deg. gravity oil per day from a depth of 6190 feet. It was gradually beaned down and has recently been putting out about 1900 barrels per day. The oil has been sold to the Western Oil and Refining Company. Since its completion the new producer has yielded about 50,000 barrels.

El Paso Ambitious

Fifty thousand dollars is being raised by members of the Commercial Club at El Paso, Tex., to be paid as a bonus or prize to the company or individual who discovers oil in commercial quantity within a radius of fifty miles from that city during 1930.

According to an announcement by the El Paso Evening Post most of the money has already been subscribed. J. E. Anderson of Los Angeles informed the club that he plans to drill at least two wells in the El Paso district this year. Geologists are said to be of the opinion that an oil field should be found in that region.

Initial Test Progressing

The Continental Oil Company's Tideland Permit No. 124-1 off the coast near Carpinteria recently spudded in and has set stove-pipe casing at ninety-two feet. In the event the company's project finds oil other tideland property will be tested by individuals and companies who validated their permits several weeks ago by rigging up small drilling outfits.

Showings Comtinue

The Pacific Western Oil Company's Espee Willett No. 1 in the Ventura-avenue field has been coring ahead continuously in oil sand below 6871 feet. Showings were first encountered at 6225 feet. The project will be drilled to 7000 feet before a production test is attempted.

Water Shut Out

The Petroleum Securities Company's Graham No. 1, located in the southeasterly portion of the Signal Hill field, succeeded in shutting out water recently and the project yesterday was drilling below 6540 feet in oil sand. The company's Young No. 3 is standing cemented at 7261 feet and a production test will be made soon.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, Jan. 30. (AP)—Led by its old-time favorites, the utilities, the curb market moved upward today, establishing several of the leaders at the highest levels in several weeks. Much of the buying developed in the final hour when the rather irregular tendencies of the earlier trading gave way to strength.

Electric Bond and Share accounted for one-seventh of the day's total volume of business. The stock rose to 89¾, easing off from the top to show a net advance of 1⅛. Duke Power advanced 4, while United Light and Power "B" shot up 10. Consolidated Gas of Baltimore rose 2⅝.

The old Deere stock, which is to be split five for one on approval of the shareholders, soared to 656, where it was 8 points above its 1929 high, and closed a point under that figure with a net gain of 14 points. The new, when issued, traded between 129 and 131½. Aluminum Company of America and Huylers, with gains of 8 and 5 points, respectively, were other industrial features.

Oil shares joined in the advance, Gulf climbing 2¼, while Cities Service and Humble improved fractionally.

Mayflower Associates, up 4 points, featured the investment trusts, which were mostly firm. Petroleum Corporation rose more than a point.

Republic Steel Corporation common, when issued, was steady around 73½. Liggett & Myers rights were active at an average price of about 12½, while Transcontinental Oil, when issued, ruled between 19 and 19½.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

Wheat Futures Register New Price Decline

CHICAGO, Jan. 30. (AP)—Wheat pitched downward today to more than 16c a bushel lower than last week and finished prostrate at the bottom-most level reached yet this season. The wheat market here reeled owing largely to reports that Russia is offering wheat not only through ports on the Black Sea but also by way of the Baltic, slashing under the cheapest prices quoted on wheat from North America. Liverpool dispatches intimated that a price-cutting war in grain exists between Canada and the United States. Rye and corn here, as well as wheat, broke the season's low price record.

Chicago closing prices on wheat were shaky at the lowest point touched yet both for the day and season, 2c to 2⅝c under yesterday's finish. Rye closed 1½c to 4⅝c down, corn varying from ¼c decline to ¼c advance, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 12c.

Violent fluctuations in wheat prices here followed one another rapidly, ending in an especially swift break of more than 2c a bushel in the last fifteen minutes. Earlier buyers showed themselves disheartened as a result of the market failing to maintain rallies. Holdings of future deliveries were thrown overboard in the face of nearly complete absence of purchasers, and values collapsed quickly. Adding impetus to the late downward rush of prices here was announcement that Northern American export business in wheat today totaled only 8,000,000 bushels.

After the Chicago market closed, the Farmers' National Grain Corporation posted bids of $1.20 a bushel for No. 1 hard winter wheat to arrive. This is the Federal Farm Board's loan basis, and is equivalent to $1.18 for No. 2 hard, a grade acceptable on ordinary future delivery contracts in the Chicago market. The government loan basis on wheat and the Farmers' National Grain Corporation's latest posted offer for immediate delivery of rural receipts of wheat in Chicago is therefore 2⅛c a bushel higher than wheat deliveries here in March, which went begging in today's final transactions. The acute weakness at the finish here was particularly associated with price breaks at Winnipeg and to reports from there that London bakeries were exhibiting window signs saying no Canadian wheat was used in the shop's bread.

Corn and oats received late buying support from previous speculative sellers, a strengthening element which was lacking in wheat.

Provisions eased down, responsive chiefly to downturns in the value of hogs.

HAWAII TRAVEL GAIN INDICATED

Quick Turn-Around on Slate for Lassco Liner

City of Honolulu Due Today and Out Tomorrow

Action Prompted by Growth of Passenger Trade

BY WAYNE B. CAVE

A twenty-five-hour turn around will be made by the Lassco Line today to enable the liner City of Honolulu to handle the bumper passenger travel developing to and from Hawaii.

The liner will bring in 291 passengers this morning, reaching the Wilmington terminal shortly before noon. Tomorrow noon she will sail for Honolulu with more than 300 travelers. At the same time the Diamond Head of the same line will depart with her small but capacity list of passengers for the island.

Donald B. MacMillan, Arctic explorer with Peary and with Byrd, heads the list of outbound passengers on the City of Honolulu. Others include Walter Hagen and Joe Kirkwood, golf professionals of Detroit and Glenside, Pa., respectively; Harold Gould Gaze, Pasadena artist; Thomas L. Guest, Los Angeles banker, and Martha W. Beckwith, teacher in Vassar College, Poughkeepsie, N. Y.

Also embarking are Horace D. Pillsbury, president of the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company, San Francisco; Horace Gregg Shover, Toronto financier, and Maj. J. E. Wilson, U.S.A., New York.

In order to effect the quick turn-around, dock forces are expected to work into the night to complete the ship's discharge of Hawaiian products, including nine huge koa wood logs, and to load outbound cargo.

NEW REFRIGERATED BAIT BOAT ON WAYS

Keel was laid at the yards of the Harbor Boat Building Company yesterday for another 115-foot refrigerated bait boat, to cost $80,000. Names of purchasers was not revealed, but the craft will fish for one of the local canneries. It will be propelled by a main Diesel of 300 horsepower, giving a speed of twelve knots and a radius of 6000 miles; will have a raised deck forward and will carry almost 200 tons of iced tuna. The job will be rushed to completion within two months.

The same yard next week will send down the ways the 105-foot bait boat White Star for Nick Bakovich and K. Ceseres, to fish for Van Camp Sea Food Company. Completion is set for early March.

Charles J. Colden, former Councilman of the Fifteenth District of Los Angeles, left by train last night for San Francisco, where he will sail today on the Dollar liner President Madison. He will make a leisurely tour of the world, consuming eight months.

More than 50,000,000 pounds of sardines were brought to local canneries during the month of December, last, according to tabulations by the California Fish and Game Commission. The month's total catches for the county, including thirty varieties of fish, totaled 58,-[illegible],432 pounds. American mackerel was the second largest item, totaling 3,118,540 pounds, most of which went to canneries.

The Tokujiro Tsutsui theatrical troupe of Japan is due here tomorrow on the Nippon Yusen Kaisha liner Taiyo Maru, to present a repertoire of Ken-Keki dramas, after which it will proceed to New York. The "sword drama," as it is called, was founded by Tsutsui, who plays the lead in the presentation. California performances are sponsored by the Japanese Theater Association of this State.

Four ships massed at American Hawaiian docks yesterday, dropping or lifting 6000 tons of cargo. They were the Californian, discharging from the Atlantic coast; Oregon, loading for the Atlantic; Willboro, loading for the Atlantic, and the Golden Sun, discharging copra and Philippine hardwood.

The Norwegian motor ship Villanger returned yesterday after her first round trip to South America in the Westfal-Larsen service. She disembarked several passengers and will discharge coffee and general cargo.

A son, the first, was born at San Pedro General Hospital yesterday to Clyde Miller, terminal agent for Bidwell & Co., and Mrs. Miller.

NEW CANCER SERUM TO BE TESTED HERE

Destruction of cancerous tissue is credited to a serum to be introduced here Sunday in a clinic at the offices of Dr. G. H. Hall. The announcement was made in San Francisco yesterday by Drs. Walter B. Coffey and John D. Humber, discoverers of the serum, who said that they will demonstrate on cancer victims here. Drs. Coffey and Humber denied reports that their serum is a positive cure for cancer. They did assert, however, that it can destroy cancerous tissues without injuring healthy organs. Remarkable results are asserted by the discoverers.

RADIO INTIMACY THING OF PAST

Modern Sets Permit Drift Away from Receiver

Television May Bring Return to Close-up Contact

Attractive Offerings Listed by Don Lee Station

The Times Forum: KHJ, 10.30 a.m., Dr. Philip M. Lovell, editor of the Care of the Body Department of The Times. World-wide news, 12:30, 4:30 and 10 p.m.

BY JOHN S. DAGGETT

What will bring the public back to intimate contact with the radio receiver?

Television would do this, but it is a question if television ever will be successfully introduced. At least it will not be introduced until legislation has been passed by Congress that will definitely establish the right of those in control to exact from the public a fee for its installation. And not until the motion-picture theaters give the order to "go ahead" on the new departure. Television could be introduced in short order, but the situation is not ripe from the standpoint of theater or radio control.

Sketching the evolution of the radio in its relationship to the public, we find that the greatest intimacy and most concentrated attention was given when most of the listeners-in wore the "ear muffs," way back in the days of the crystal set.

FAMILY HUDDLES

Do you remember when they had three and four headsets hooked in to the same receiver, placed on the library table? The little group had a huddle all of their own, and smiled approval at each other or frowned disapproval, as the program came to them. Their attention was concentrated on what they were hearing. Perhaps in a corner of the room other members of the family or guests would be playing cards, but these early radio fans were oblivious to everything other than the sounds coming through their earphones, until such time as conversation became too boisterous on the part of the players, who then would be immediately "shushed."

Then the group gathered around the old-fashioned megaphone horn. They sat a little farther away and the "shushing" became more general. The next step brought the modern loud speaker with the set hooked into the electrical wall socket; the situation which exists today, and we find the family group has drifted away from the receiver.

INTIMACY GONE

The intimacy of the radio is practically gone, except in the case of feature presentations, notables, headliners or for those who want their news items, or some other daily attraction, which has become a part of their lives. Something should be done to bring the public closer to the receiver, for it is entirely too much of a musical background, and too often merely a piece of furniture. Perhaps the well-organized impulse of musical educational endeavor will do it; a minimizing of hours of broadcast would have an effect in this direction, but this latter is beyond probability as long as the stations are selling time on the air. Absolute elimination of commercial announcements also would work far toward increased intimacy on the part of the listener-in.

Pessimism does not enter into observations which are made from time to time in this column regarding radio, for the writer believes that it is the most far-reaching and forceful channel of communication that has ever come into being. He does feel, however, that the public is almost ignoring its responsibility in the situation.

NAMES MEAN LITTLE TO CHINESE ACTOR

A name means nothing in the young life of a certain Chinese film extra in Hollywood, according to the story revealed yesterday by Mervyn Leroy, director at First National studio. Leroy is directing a convict picture in which a Chinese was needed for a certain sequence. Ah Yet appeared on the set, went through the scene and at the end of the day was given his check and dismissed. Next day Leroy called for another Chinese. When it was time to use the new Chinaman Leroy was confronted by the same one. "Aren't you Ah Yet?" he asked the oriental actor. "No, my name Young Foo," the Chinese answered. "But weren't you here the other day?" Leroy asked in amazement. "Sure, I here." The oriental then admitted that he is registered at the casting bureau under no less than fifteen different names.

Victim of Auto Crash Declared to be Fugitive

An inquest into the death of Vernon Newson, 19 years of age, who died at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital early yesterday as the result of injuries sustained in a traffic accident the previous day, will be conducted at the Coroner's office today at 9:30 a.m.

Newson and three companions were injured when an asserted stolen automobile he was driving crashed into another automobile and a truck at Sixty-second and Alameda streets last Wednesday morning. Interrogation of Clarence Belmont, 18, riding in the car with Newson and now in the prison ward of the General Hospital, disclosed that the automobile was stolen in Palo Alto last week, Deputy Sheriff Blasdel reported.

Word was received yesterday by Sheriff Traeger from Sheriff Lyle at San Jose that he held felony warrants for Newson and Belmont charging grand theft.

Two other youths riding in the automobile, Thomas Clayton, 18, 2526-A East Fifty-sixth street, Huntington Park, and Elmer Ferris, 18, 2536 East Fifty-third street, Huntington Park, were being held in the County Jail yesterday for investigation. Their injuries were pronounced not serious.

Newson and Belmont, cousins, gave their address as 6339 Cottage street, Huntington Park.

County Denies Liability in Row Over Bay Flood

Los Angeles county is not liable for flood damage as a result of partial completion of flood control work in the San Gabriel River Valley, according to an opinion presented the Board of Supervisors yesterday by Flood Control Counsel Dowd.

The opinion was filed after a suit was threatened by Alamitos Bay property owners.

The county's widening and deepening of the San Gabriel Channel was stopped at the north line of the city of Seal Beach when that city declined to co-operate with the flood control district, it is stated.

Hoy Dimite el Ministerio Mejicano

CIUDAD DE MEJICO, Enero 30. Se ha anunciado que el consejo de ministros presentará mañana su renuncia colectiva al presidente Portes Gil, a fin de dejar libre al presidente Ortiz Rubio para que designe su propio ministerio cuando tome posesión de su alto cargo. Comenzará a ejercer sus funciones el 5 de Febrero.

Muere una Mujer en Riga a los 129 Años de Edad

RIGA, Enero 30.—El haber gozado con exceso de su plato favorito, consistente en arenque salado nadando en café frío, se da como motivo de la muerte de Anna Kreiser, de 129 años de edad, que dejó de existir repentinamente en la granja de sus biznietos, cerca de Windau. Era la señora Krieser la mujer más vieja de Latvia, según afirman sus descendientes.

La señora Kreiser era incorregible bebedora de café; hasta las gachas y las sopas las condimentaba con café.

La Nieve Cubre a la Capital

WASHINGTON, Enero 30.—Una tremenda tormenta de nieve, que casi paralizó hoy todo el tráfico, no pudo, con todo, impedir que el presidente de los Estados Unidos llegara puntual a su oficina, a las 9 de la mañana.

Más afortunado que la mayoría de los demás hombres de trabajo de la capital, Herbert Hoover no tiene que caminar más que una cuadra para llegar de la Casa Blanca a su oficina provisional del edificio de Estado y Guerra, y como fue en automóvil, entró en su oficina con los pies secos.

Los miembros del congreso y otros funcionarios del gobierno toparon con mayores dificultades. Los taxímetros, que, de ordinario, pululan por las calles, habían desaparecido como por encanto. Los pocos que se lograba ver iban ocupados, y era casi imposible encontrar alguno libre.

La nieve, que, para media mañana, había alcanzado una profundidad de nueve pulgadas, seguía cayendo sin indicios de tregua, y a muchos les trajo a la memoria la catástrofe del Teatro Knickerbocker, ocurrida hace ocho años. El peso de la nieve rompió la techumbre de dicho coliseo, y ocasionó la muerte de noventa y ocho espectadores.

Du Pont Proyecta una Votación en Delaware Sobre la Prohibición

WILMINGTON (Delaware), Enero 30.—Con el objeto de conocer el sentimiento del pueblo de Delaware en lo que respecta a la actual ley del Estado, auxiliar de la de Prohibición federal, Pierre S. Du Pont aboga porque se recoja el voto de la gente adulta del Estado.

Dijo anoche en un mitin este caballero que el próximo martes se depositarían en el correo 112,000 cuestionarios dirigidos a todos los adultos conocidos del Estado, en los que se pide a cada uno de éstos que se sirva responder "sí" o "no" a la pregunta siguiente: "¿Está usted en favor de que se derogue la ley Klair?"

La ley Klair es la ley de observancia de la Prohibición promulgada por la Legislatura de Delaware.

Dice el señor Du Pont que él cree que Delaware puede, de tal manera, iniciar un movimiento que quizá sea imitado por otros Estados.

Ladrón que Roba a un Grupo de Piadosas Damas

En Santa Mónica se celebraba, no una reunión de acolchadoras, como la de la vieja Tía Dinah, sino uno de damas elegantes y modernas, que se dedicaban a la tarea de hacer colchas en la Primera Iglesia Presbiteriana de la citada población playera. Muy absortas se hallaban las piadosas señoras en su labor, y sólo una de ellas pudo ver a un joven que atisbaba hacia adentro por una puerta. No se dio a la cosa mayor importancia, pues creyó se trataba de mera curiosidad masculina.

Más adelante, sin embargo, se vino en conocimiento de que habían desaparecido dos bolsos, que contenían unos $15 en efectivo y varios papeles de importancia. Ahora se ocupa la policía en buscar a un joven que responda a las señas que del ratero ha dado la única señora que le vio.

Muchacha Citada ante el Juzgado por Falsaria

La joven Dorothy Dellinger, de 20 años de edad, ha confesado a la policía que firmó algunos cheques, falsificando las firmas de personas que conocía, con el fin de arbitrarse fondos para comprar su canastilla de bodas. Tal delito la ha hecho comparecer ayer ante el juzgado municipal, acusada de falsaria. Se ha fijado su audiencia preliminar para el 6 de Febrero próximo, y se ha señalado a la reo fianza de $1000.

Los cheques, según parte de la policía, fueron aceptados por varias tiendas de Hollywood, donde la Dellinger hizo compras.

Lands of Long Ago

HAVANA on the Cruise-Tour of the Panama Mail is a sequel you will never forget.

Step by step you move to the Caribbean Capital through the gorgeous colorings and languid life of vanished centuries.

You see Mexico, Guatemala, Salvador, Nicaragua, spend two days of wonder in the Canal Zone, explore ancient Cartagena in Colombia.

Finally Havana rises out of a sparkling sea, a tropic Eden gleaming white in the morning sun.

Havana can be your destination or you can continue on to New York on a later liner.

Every other Saturday from San Francisco, every other Monday from Los Angeles Panama Mail liners sail on the Cruise-Tour. Specially built for the tropic trade they offer every convenience of modern travel. Rooms are all outside.

Only the Panama Mail offers the Cruise-Tour. Only this way can you see The Lands of Long Ago. Yet the cost is no greater than other ways. New York is as low as $275. Havana even lower.

COUNCIL VOTES PERMIT TO BELL

ment Plant Rights Granted for Santa Monica Hills

stigation Plea Refused and Speaker Muzzled

rge Delegation in Prayer to Mayor for Veto

After refusing to initiate an investigation of charges that money and influence had been used in connection with the matter, the City Council majority of ten yesterday passed the ordinances permitting Alphonzo Bell and his Los Angeles Mountain Park Company to erect and maintain a quarry and rock crushing plant in the Santa Monica Mountains as an adjunct of his cement scheme.

The vote for Bell: Barthel, Burns, Davis, Henning, Holland, Ingram, McAllister, Martin, Webster and Roberts.

Against Bell: Cooke, Lewis, Randall and Williams. Jacobson, an opponent of Bell, is absent attending the Colorado River conference in Reno.

The ordinances, which were passed as permits as an exception to the residential district ordinance, now go to Mayor Porter for his signature. He has ten days in which to act.

PLEA TO MAYOR

Immediately after the adoption of the measures, Mayor Porter received a letter from residents of Huntington and Pacific Palisades, in which his attention was directed to his promises of opposition to industries in residential districts as made during his candidacy.

The communication, bearing the signatures of 246 residents and twenty-two property owners who do not reside in the district, was presented to the Mayor in person by a committee from the Pacific Palisades Improvement League.

A previous engagement prevented the Mayor from giving the committee an audience yesterday, but he has promised to hear their plea next Thursday.

In directing Mayor Porter's attention to his campaign utterances and describing the attitude of the residents, the letter said:

"Many of the undersigned attended a dinner of the Pacific Palisades Improvement League April 1, 1929, at which you were the guest of honor.

REMINDED OF PLEDGE

"You spoke in behalf of your candidacy for the mayoralty at the election soon to follow.

"In your remarks you declared yourself as being firmly opposed to the introduction of industries into residential districts.

"At that time the rock crusher proposal of the Los Angeles Mountain Park Company was already pending, and your remarks could then bear but one interpretation in the minds of all who heard you speak.

"The rock crusher will now become an actuality, barring only the contingency of your veto. We are confident that your statement, made to us as mentioned above, was in good faith and represents your real conviction.

"We also believe that an expression of that conviction in a veto message will prevent the City Council from passing it over your veto.

"As an evidence of our faith in your word, we cite the fact that our three precincts cast a total of 314 votes for the three leading candidates, and that of these you received 183 votes in the primary election.

RESOLUTIONS ATTACHED

"At the general election you received 313 votes out of a total of 400 cast in the three precincts, notwithstanding the fact that the local Bell newspaper loudly supported Bonelli.

"We trust that the confidence of the community and the future beauty and progress will not be marred by the introduction of one of the most obnoxious of all industries, where the traffic to and from it and other industries inevitably to follow will be our daily reminder."

It was pointed out by the committee which waited on the Mayor to urge his veto that the letter was signed by every resident in Huntington Palisades except two. One of these, it was asserted, is financially obligated to Bell and the other is out of the city.

Attached to the communication were two resolutions adopted by the Pacific Palisades Improvement League. One on May 24, 1928, and one on January 17, 1929. They bear the signatures of the league officials.

JUDGE WOOD TO SELECT GRAND JURY

His Appointment to Master Calendar Department of Superior Court Announced

Appointment of Judge Wood to the master calendar department of the criminal division of Superior Court was announced yesterday by Presiding Judge Doran. The assignment is for a period of six months and will become effective Monday.

Judge Wood will succeed Judge Aggeler, who has been in charge of the calendar for the last six months. Judge Aggeler will return to a department handling trial work.

Duties of the master calendar department include selection of the grand jury and receiving of indictments and reports returned by that body, hearing pleas and conducting arraignments in felony cases, setting cases for trial and assigning them to trial courts and hearing and ruling on motions for bail, demurrers and writs.

Judge Wood said yesterday he soon will make a statement regarding the selection of the 1930 grand jury. Names of prospective members of the body already are said to have been submitted and it is expected the jury will be chosen and functioning within the next month.

Judge Wood has been on the Superior bench since 1920. He was Public Defender for Los Angeles county from 1914 to 1920, having graduated from Stanford University in 1901. He resides in Pasadena with his wife and daughter.

Dog Bites Man and This Time It's Real News

If a dog bites a man it usually is not news, but it became news yesterday because the offending canine is the possessor of a somewhat higher education and, therefore, was supposed to know better. The German police dog is named Jack Holt, after the film actor, by the owner and victim, White Horse Bernard, 72-year-old Indian trainer of 2738 Compton avenue. Recently the dog has been appearing in film productions.

Yesterday Bernard was about to drive his auto away from the house when the dog leaped aboard. The owner put him out, but Jack returned. Bernard started to tie the dog to a tree when the animal sprang at him, sinking his teeth six times in the owner's arms and hands. Fife, an Airedale, also owned by the trainer, fought the police dog away from his prey.

Bernard's wounds were cauterized at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital.

UNION PACIFIC TO OPEN PURSE

General Betterment Program Scheduled for 1930

President Carl R. Gray Here on Ten-Days' Visit

He Says Business Outlook For New Year Good

Although lacking in plans for spectacular development of Union Pacific System facilities between here and Salt Lake City, the line's 1930 program calls for substantial and consistent improvements all along the route, President Carl R. Gray said yesterday on arrival for his first visit of the new year. He said the organization is going to try to make its details catch up with some of its recent major developments.

"Savings accounts in banks which ordinarily are drawn down heavily for investments during January interest paying time this year show an increase, bankers in the Middle West have told me," Mr. Gray said "and altogether I see nothing fundamentally wrong with conditions in spite of the stock market situation that was precipitated some time ago."

FEW LOST MONEY

He reminded his interviewers that comparatively few persons actually lost any money, that some "lost" money that they might have made had they sold, but that possibly most of the people who talked most about the collapse had what he charitably called a "psychological interest only."

"I must pay compliment to the conservative way that President Hoover and the newspapers handled the situation," he said. "The newspapers did not overplay the steadying efforts. I realize that 'psychological' is a much overworked word, but this situation certainly was a psychological one."

UNEMPLOYMENT DECREASES

Mr. Gray said he has observed that unemployment is on the decrease, that much road building and considerable real estate building are in prospect and that the farmer is much better off than a few years ago.

The Union Pacific, he said, is all ready to build a twenty-five or thirty-mile line from Las Vegas to a terminal at Boulder Dam site as soon as it is indicated that activities will begin there.

The Union Pacific president is here for a week or ten days, he said, and is accompanied by Mrs. Gray. He was here five times last year and the increase in Union Pacific facilities keeping up with Los Angeles' growth probably will necessitate as many or more trips this year, he said.

DOESN'T FEAR PLANE

Rail passenger service, he said, is "dolling itself up a little" in colors, car appointments and service to meet new public demands. He does not see in airplane travel much competition to regular rail travel at this time, but admitted that he might be old fashioned in this respect, adding:

"A few years ago I was not much impressed by possible bus competition, but now I'm in the business myself from Chicago to Los Angeles!"

Baruh to Take Leadership in Hospital Drive

J. Y. Baruh, vice-president of the Zellerbach Paper Company, yesterday was appointed chairman of the special gifts committee for the $1,000,000 campaign of the Cedars of Lebanon Hospital, which is being conducted by the Federation of Jewish Welfare Organizations through permission of the Community Chest.

Baruh has been the first vice-president of the hospital for a number of years, and as chairman of its finance committee has been largely instrumental in raising funds for the hospital which have made possible its construction to date. One million dollars is still needed to complete the building and to equip and furnish it. The special gifts committee will concern itself with contacting the larger givers. Their plans call for work being completed when the official solicitation of funds begins. It is expected that the results obtained by the committee will act as an incentive for the general solicitation.

NAME CHANGED

The City Council yesterday adopted an ordinance changing the name of Verdun avenue to Sycamore avenue.

RIVER VIADUCT COSTS CUT

More Than Third of Million Lopped Off of First Figures on Fourth-street Span

A reduction of $377,435 in the estimated cost of the proposed Fourth-street viaduct was disclosed yesterday when revised plans, eliminating archways over the Santa Fe tracks, were filed with the State Railroad Commission. The total cost under the new estimates was given as $2,264,951.26, against the previous total of $2,642,386.81.

The city's and the county's percentages of the total are 3 1-2 per cent greater under the new plans than they were under the old plans, but the sums to be provided are smaller because of the cut in the total cost.

The proposed division of costs is as follows:

City, 25 1-2 per cent, $577,563; county, 25 1-2 per cent, $577,563; Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad, 13 per cent, $294,443; Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, 21 1-2 per cent, $486,964; Los Angeles Railway, 14 1-2 per cent, $328,418.

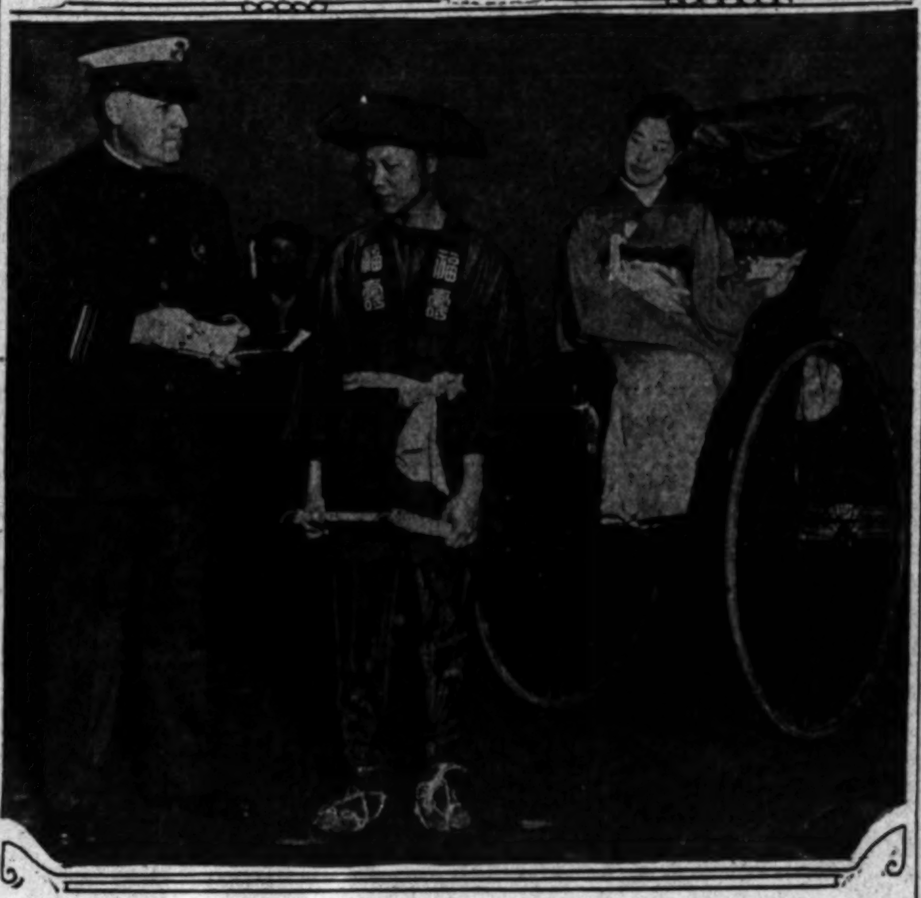
Under the original allocation of costs, Assistant Transportation Engineer Gorman said, the percentages were:

City, 22 per cent, $581,325; county, 22 per cent, $581,325; Los Angeles and Salt Lake Railroad, 11 per cent, $290,663; Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe, $845,563, and Los Angeles Railway, 13 per cent, $343,511.

Revised plans allow $1,431,360.50 for construction of the viaduct, $4294.37 for wiring; $300,324 for damages, and $173,597.89 for contingencies and engineering fees. Removal of the old bridge, it is estimated, will cost $16,197.50. Cost of relocation of Santa Fe trackage is estimated at $214,297, relocation of Los Angeles and Salt Lake trackage, $31,530, and work in connection with Los Angeles Railway trackage, $93,350.

JINRIKISHA PUZZLES TRAFFIC OFFICER

Law Guardian Plays Safe However—Bestows Ticket



Geisha Dancer's Whim Causes Mix-up

Officer R. M. Waskow bestows ticket on operator of odd oriental conveyance in front of Central Station. Mimosa Chigusa, actress from across Pacific, is the passenger

Taxicabs may be all right for the traveling American, but when a troupe of Japanese actors and actresses arrived at Central Station last night Mimosa Chigusa, one of the geisha dancers of the company, for some reason or other demanded a Japanese jinrikisha to take her to her hotel.

She got it all right, but her driver, or hauler, whichever he may term himself, received a first-class occidental traffic ticket from Traffic Officer Waskom for snarling traffic with his quaint oriental conveyance.

All the fuss happened on the arrival of Tsutsui, Japanese actor, and his company of thirty singers, sword players, comedians and geisha dancers from Osaka here to open an American tour.

After things had been straightened out the jinrikisha boy put the traffic ticket in his hat, jogged out of the camera line with his odd buggy and representatives of the company announced the first tour performances will be given February 10, next, at the Figueroa Playhouse.

Adult Education Topic at Dinner

The field in China for the efforts of such an organization as the California Association for Adult Education was described in an address by Dr. A. P. Chang of Nankai University last night at a dinner at the Women's Athletic Club given to honor Mrs. Ethel Richardson Allen, executive secretary of the association and assistant superintendent of public instruction of this State. Dr. Chang was introduced by Mrs. Allen, who made his acquaintance while she was a delegate to the recent Council on Pacific Relations in Kyoto.

Other speakers were Susan B. Dorsey, former superintendent of the local school system; Dr. C. E. Moore, president of the University of California at Los Angeles; Dr. Lyman Bryson, director of the association; Mrs. Frank Gibson, chairman of the association, and Dr. John R. Haynes. Dr. Remsen B. Bird, president of Occidental College, presided.

PANTAGES IN NEW BATTLE

Theater Magnate to File Plea With Appellate Court for Release on Bail Because of Ills

Another attempt will be made to free Alexander Pantages from the County Jail following a denial yesterday morning by Superior Judge Fricke of Pantages's application for temporary release on bail, it was declared last night by the millionaire theater man's counsel.

A writ of habeas corpus or an original writ of application will be taken before the Court of Appeal tomorrow, Le Compte Davis, attorney for Pantages, stated.

FRICKE DENIES PLEA

In denying yesterday's application, the second denial by Judge Fricke, the court scored what was termed "ex-parte, repeated and improper efforts by members and representatives of the defendant to obtain irregularly the defendant's release."

Judge Fricke, following a statement that "I have not changed my opinion since denying the defendant's first application," also took exception to the affidavit submitted to the court by Dr. E. C. Fishbaugh, Pantages's personal physician.

Mrs. Lois Pantages, on probation following conviction here on a manslaughter charge, wrote a letter to Judge Fricke two weeks ago in which she made a plea to the court for her husband's release on the grounds that his health might be permanently impaired by further incarceration and that his rightful place was at home with her and their children, Judge Fricke declared following rendering of the denial decision.

LETTER DESCRIBED

"It was the usual type of sentimental letter, three pages of note paper written in a large hand," the judge declared. "I filed it in the wastebasket."

The other efforts to sway his opinion, Judge Fricke declared, had been made by "persons who worked their way in to see me after they had visited Mr. Pantages and pleaded that he was a very sick man and should be freed from jail under bond."

PHYSICIAN SCORED

Judge Fricke declared that in Dr. Fishbaugh's deposition it was stated that Pantages had had his tonsils removed several years ago, while in another passage the physician declared Pantages to be suffering from chronic tonsilitis.

Davis replied that in the first statement Dr. Fishbaugh had reference only to the history of the

A report of the County Affairs Committee, recommending that the Board of Supervisors be asked to allocate $23,000 of the city's share of the Good Roads Fund to the improvement of Topanga Canyon avenue, was adopted by the City Council yesterday.

ACTRESS SAYS HUSBAND USED CAVEMAN TACTICS

Helen Twelvetrees, motion-picture actress, yesterday sued her husband, Clark Twelvetrees, for divorce, making charges that her husband on four different occasions got drunk and beat her.

They were married in New York February 27, 1927, and separated last month, according to the complaint, which was filed by Attorney Roger Marchetti.

Recently, Mrs. Twelvetrees said, her husband has been almost continuously intoxicated, and on several occasions has held "wild parties" at her home in which several "rowdy and dissolute companions" took part.

During one of his asserted sprees, she said, Twelvetrees leaped from a window on the sixth floor of a New York hotel, causing injuries which confined him for three months in a hospital. Mrs. Twelvetrees paid the bill, she said, and added that her husband has contributed very little to her support since they were married.

TAPIA WILL BE HONORED

Official and Social Functions Planned in Tribute to Mexican Executive Coming Here

Arrangements for California's welcome to the new Governor of Lower California's Northern District, Gen. Jose M. Tapia, were announced yesterday. Preparations by Gov. Young and by P. Alfonso Pesquiera, Consul of Mexico, assure official and social functions befitting the occasion, when Gen. Tapia comes to Los Angeles, February 12.

Upon his arrival at the border, Gov. Tapia will be met by a personal representative of Gov. Young, and will be escorted to this city. Formal interchange of official calls will be observed following his arrival in Los Angeles. Gov. Young will call upon Gen. Tapia, who later will return the call.

Consul Pasquiera is tendering a dinner in honor of the two governors at 8 p.m. on that day at the Jonathan Club. The affair will be informal, it was announced by the consulate, its object being to acquaint the two executives and to promote a closer mutual understanding. A small group of prominent leaders in financial and commercial circles of Los Angeles will attend this dinner, it was added.

Gov. Tapia will accompany Gov. Young on February 13 to Riverside, where the two executives officially will inaugurate the twentieth annual orange show. They will make several stops on the way from Los Angeles to Riverside.

Following his recent appointment as Governor of the Northern District of Lower California, Gen. Tapia announced a program containing many features for the fostering of good will with California.

CALTECH PLANS TEN NEW UNITS

Dr. Millikan Gives Outline of Great Program

World's Research Center Being Created

Institute Associates Hear Epochal Address

Plans for the rapid development of Southern California as a world research center were outlined last night by Dr. Robert A. Millikan, renowned scientist, in an address before associates of the California Institute of Technology, at Dabney Hall.

DR. ROBERT A. MILLIKAN.

The immediate erection of ten new buildings on the campus of the institution, six of which will house the astronomical, geological and biological sciences, was announced as Dr. Millikan discussed the construction program before the associates, who were the guests at a reception and buffet supper.

The Institute Associates, a group of public-spirited citizens interested in the advancement of learning and who have been incorporated as a nonprofit organization for promoting the interests of the California Institute of Technology, were conducted over the grounds, which were floodlighted for the occasion.

Following the buffet supper served in the lounge of the Hall of Humanities, the guests heard numbers by the glee club and then were addressed by Dr. Millikan, who is chairman of the executive council. His discussion, which was illustrated with slides from architects' drawings, was followed by a talk by Dr. William B. Munro, chairman of the faculty.

DR. MILLIKAN'S TALK

"The purpose of this particular meeting of the California Institute Associates," said Dr. Millikan in his opening remarks, "is to present to those who have made this high adventure possible a report on whence we have come, where we are today—January 30, 1930—whither we are going, and why we must go thither if we here in Southern California are to act like men and women of insight, intelligence and understanding, instead of like people without discernment, as communities not infrequently do act, especially in educational matters."

Three reasons were given by Dr. Millikan for the advancement that has been made by the institute. The first, he said, were the existence of the associates; the second because far-seeing, philanthropic foundations and individuals saw the unmatched opportunities here for study of the sciences, and third the decree of the gods themselves which required human brains to render them effective.

NATURE'S FOUNDATION

After declaring that the first step in the building of the California Institute was taken millions of years ago when the mountains were raised up nearer the sea with altitudes sufficient to get above the haze, with temperatures moderate enough to insure human efficiency in observing, with relatively windless heights and a large percentage of cloudless nights, the speaker pointed out that the human element entered about thirty years ago when the Carnegie group asked George F. Hale to pick the best location for an astronomical observatory.

"From that moment," said Dr. Millikan, "Southern California was chosen as the world's most-favored center of astronomical progress, and for the past twenty years, wherever intelligent and informed men gather, they talk about the advances made at the Mt. Wilson observatory in California more than about any one other thing that happens on this whole western coast."

The speaker then discussed the linking of the Rockefeller Foundation with the forward movement by the appropriation of $1,000,000 to build and equip on Mt. Wilson the world's largest reflecting telescope, this project to be completed within the next six to ten years.

He pointed out how this project brought the coming erection of three new building to the institute to provide not only for the telescope itself, but all the many accessories to a continued, effective observing program.

In discussing Southern California as favored in the field of geological sciences Dr. Millikan said: "There is no region in the world so well adapted to be a seat of Mobbing Filipinos is becoming an entertaining form of popular amusement.

The reason for this is that they are mostly scared little boys who can't fight back. It was a great mistake that the police of Watsonville did not deal adequately with the first mob who started this merry ruffianism. That would have ended it right there.

It is not unlikely that before this is through the government will be sending troop ships to the Philippines. The same elements who are making trouble for England in India will jump at this chance.

THE "WORKSHOP" BOSS

Prof. George Pierce Baker of the Yale Workshop has done more for the native drama than has any other intellectual force in America. It is providential that he is in Los Angeles—lecturing—at a time when motion-picture drama is at a crisis in its career.

Generally speaking, the motion-picture producers are in the condition of mind of a tribe of Ashantee warriors who have captured a missionary and are astonished to hear his phonograph box talking aloud. They know that the talkies are wonderful and revolutionary, but they don't quite know where they go from here.

DRY PLEDGES

Some worthy statesman—lacking a sense of humor—suggests that all Congressmen take the white ribbon pledge not to drink. When they took their oath of office swearing to uphold the Constitution of the United States they bound themselves by an oath. But it didn't seem to "take" in most cases.

TERRIBLE CRISIS

There is a new Persian kitten at our ranch.

It climbs all over the dogs without fear or favor; but it got the thrill of its brief career when it happened to turn a corner and came face to face with a big, dignified Rhode Island Red rooster.

With bulging eyes it heaved up its fat back until it looked like a lady's muff; but finally decided to seek cover underneath the Scotty—who endures kittens and roosters with bored resignation.

GOOD BABIES

The actors in "Bad Babies" have duly been convicted and the morals of the nation are presumed to be safe.

Punishing actors for taking part in an immoral play is the nearest grown-up thing I know to a child kicking the bad, wicked table that bumped his head. If anybody is to be punished it would appear to be the producer who hired the actors.

HUMANE WAR

It is a very wonderful thing for the nations to adopt a new code providing "humane methods" in war. Not that any nation will pay the slightest attention to the provisions of such a code after it is adopted. A humane war is about like an honest burglar or dry water.

If nations could be brought up to the moral standard of business men—and would stick to their bargains—there wouldn't be any wars. It is the fact that every diplomatic office in Europe has a fifth ace up its sleeve that makes peace impossible.

DOPE FOES PLAN GREATER FIGHT

Greater Co-ordination of All Forces Being Sought

Federal, State, County and City Agents to Meet

Preliminary Session Held Here Yesterday

Plans for a campaign intended to co-ordinate the law enforcement bodies of the nation, State, county and city in the fight against narcotics were outlined yesterday during a conference between Capt. Joe Plank, chief of the narcotic enforcement division of the State Department of Penology, Tom O'Brien, chief of Dist.-Atty. Fitts's investigation bureau, and Harry Seager, chief of the police narcotic detail. The conference was held in the office of Capt. O'Brien.

As a result of this meeting it was announced that another conference will be held in the offices of the police narcotic detail at noon next Tuesday, at which it is hoped representatives from all law-enforcement agencies will be present.

According to Capt. Plank it is his intention merely to promote a closer co-operation between all officers concerned in the enforcement of the United States and California narcotic laws. No radical change in the procedure already followed is contemplated, he said, but an effort will be made to harmonize all enforcement effort as much as possible to promote efficiency.

At the meeting announced for next Tuesday, Vaughn De Spain and Jack Dennison were selected to represent Federal agents; J. O'Farrell and Capt. Plank, State officers; Capt. O'Brien, and J. L. McDermott, county, and Capt. Seager, city narcotic enforcement agencies.

Defendants in Rose Tourney Suit Reduced

All individuals save one were eliminated from the case of Carrie M. Wright against the city of Pasadena and various officials, the Tournament of Roses Association and its officials, by an order issued yesterday by United States District Judge McCormick. The plaintiff is seeking $50,000 damages for injuries received during the street-stand crash of January 1, 1926. The owner of the lot where the stand was erected is the one individual not eliminated from the action.

It was stipulated that the ruling will apply to ten other damage suits now pending in Federal court. It is expected the cases will come to trial within a few months.

Order Finances Cancer Clinic

Funds to fight cancer have been voted by the Independent Order of Foresters, local lodge officers were notified yesterday by Frank E. Hand of Toronto, Supreme Chief Ranger. The lodge has voted a substantial appropriation for the establishment of a clinic for the study of cancer and the treatment of afflicted members.

The announcement quoted Dr. C. B. Dickson of Los Angeles as stating that cancer no longer is confined to the elderly. He contends that there are symptoms which, if noted early, can give warning and lead to checking of the disease. Education through clinics will promote such early care, he added.

CHARGES DISMISSED

Felony charges of molesting small children, filed against Barton Withall, physical culture instructor at the Wadsworth-street school, were dismissed yesterday by Municipal Judge Russill at the conclusion of his preliminary hearing. Child witnesses called by Dep. Dist.-Atty. Broker failed to substantiate the charges.

GYPSY PRINCESS BURIED

Wailing Chant of Tribe Surges Over Cemetery as Body of Rosa Nicols Goes Into Grave

Wailing chants dating back into the dim past, members of the Nicols tribe of gypsies yesterday afternoon buried their princess, 15-year-old Rosa Nicols, at Odd Fellows Cemetery, Whittier Boulevard. The ceremony was a mixture of Christian and pagan rites. A Catholic priest performed the ceremony for the dead at the grave. After he retired, women of the family, led by Queen Amelia, mother of the girl, passed a pan of glowing fire above the coffin. Then, too, water was poured into the grave and sprigs of blossoms dropped on the white casket as it slowly descended into the earth.

Owing to the fact that the girl had died of typhoid fever quarantine regulations were enforced by the city health department and none but close members of the family and the pallbearers were allowed to be at the grave. Lining the fence at some distance the friends and subjects of the princess joined in the ancient songs of mourning of the Romany tribes. The chants surged and lifted wildly through the groves that shaded the quiet burial place.

WEIRD DEMONSTRATION

Julia and Maria Nicols, sisters of the dead girl, screaming, tried to throw themselves into the grave but were restrained by the men. Fire and water, regarded as potent magic of old, were again invoked and then, crossing themselves devoutly, the members of the family walked slowly to the cemetery gates.

Rosa Nicols died Monday at the San Pedro General Hospital of typhoid fever. She had lived at 215 Fourteenth street, San Pedro. The mother is known as a fortune teller and the gypsy princess attended public schools this winter at San Pedro. She was born in the Argentine. Officials did not know of the rank of the girl until scores of members of the Nicols tribe began assembling at San Pedro to attend the funeral.

HEALTH BOARD ORDERS

"In 1921 the State Board of Health passed a rule making typhoid fever a quarantinable disease," said City Health Commissioner Parrish yesterday. "Under those circumstances we ordered a private funeral, just the same as if one had died of smallpox or any other communicable disease. We did not fear contagion from the body but it is always possible that other members of the family might spread the disease, hence the precaution."

Father Benso of the Catholic Church of Mary, Star of the Sea, officiated at the services which were conducted at the Cleveland undertaking parlors yesterday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock. He then conducted the Christian ritual at the cemetery later. The gypsy ceremony followed.

SHRINERS TO ENTERTAIN AT CIRCUS

Special Parties Planned for Opening Performances of Hippodrome Tomorrow

With 6452 seats sold for tomorrow night, the first annual Shrine Hippodrome Circus will get under way with what promises to be the most brilliant "big top" opening in history.

The first circus performance takes place tomorrow afternoon at Shrine Auditorium at which time thousands of children and grown-ups will attend. In the evening Al Malaikah Temple will don a typical "Shrine event" appearance, with theater parties being given by Al Malaikah officials and nobles. More than 50,000 seats already have been sold for performances.

Director Stanton A. Bruner announces that parties will be given at tomorrow night's performance by Fred J. Wadley, Jr., newly elected Potentate, Mr. and Mrs. George J. Ramsey, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Jefferies, Mr. and Mrs. William P. Bush, Mr. and Mrs. George E. Nagle, Mr. and Mrs. Benjamin Platt, Mr. and Mrs. Leroy M. Edwards, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Janse and others.

Girl Arraigned in Forgery Case

Checks which Dorothy Dellinger, 20 years of age, is asserted to have told police were written for her wedding trousseau and signed with other persons' names took her into Municipal Court yesterday charged with forgery. Her preliminary hearing was set for February 6, next and bail fixed at $1000.

Police reported the checks were cashed at Hollywood shops where she made purchases.

LINER'S CRUISE SOUTH WILL BE REPEATED

Mexican west coast cities are to be visited on a second "good-will" cruise by the Dorothy Alexander when the Admiral liner returns from her first voyage into the waters of the southern republic, on which she will depart from Wilmington Monday.

To accommodate the anticipated overflow the vessel will repeat the 2300-mile twelve-day trip, departing from Wilmington on February 17, two days after she docks from the first cruise.

HULA DANCER HELD AFTER ARRAIGNMENT

Arrested after a battle with police officers, Lillian Dusenberry, 18-year-old hula dancer, was arraigned before Municipal Judge Ambrose yesterday on drunk-driving charges and ordered held under $1500 bail to await preliminary examination, set for February 6, next. The girl, who resides at 1590 West Fortieth street, is accused of being drunk when her automobile crashed into another at East Forty-second street and Ascot avenue.

And She Never Saw Him Again

When Mary Beard left her husband she said she hoped she would never see him again, Lloyd Beard told Superior Judge Yankwich yesterday when asking for a divorce. She never did, he said.

"What was the trouble?" asked the judge.

"Nothing," replied the husband, and added: "She did say she did not want to have to ask anybody when she wanted to go anywhere."

Beard testified that his wife left him in 1927. They married in 1926. A decree was given the husband on the ground of desertion.

WELDER INJURED IN FALL FROM TOWER

In a fall from a light tower yesterday H. B. Blair, 28 years of age, a welder of 6338 South Arlington avenue, received internal injuries and a fracture of the right ankle. He was working on top of a light tower in the 3200 block of East Twenty-sixth street, when he lost his balance and fell thirty-five feet to the ground. He was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital in a critical condition.

POLICE TRIO TO TESTIFY ON BRIBERY

Suspended Negro Officers Will Take Stand Today in Their Own Defense

A procession of defense character witnesses yesterday occupied the sessions in Superior Judge Wilson's court in the trial of M. B. Sheffield, Roscoe Washington and Richmond Dunn, suspended negro police officers accused of six counts of bribery.

The witnesses were called by Defense Attorneys Thomas P. White, William Christiansen and William Crop, who stated the defendants probably will take the witness stand in their own defense today and Monday.

The criminal charges were preferred against the suspended officers in connection with their asserted acceptance of "protection" money from a number of reputed bootleggers in the Central-avenue district.

written plea to Mayor Porter was comprised of officials and members of the league, and included W. F. Lorin, president; W. S. Rothery, past-president; Fred Sedding, treasurer; Mrs. Margaret R. Logan, past recording secretary; Rev. J. M. Fulton, Commissioner William Peart, Arthur C. Logan, Mrs. Bertha T. Coler, Mrs. Verna M. Light, Floyd Howard and D. A. Crane, past-vice-president.

With the signature of Mayor Porter the Bell ordinance will become effective in thirty days unless held up by the filing of a referendum petition.

Before voting the ordinances the Council declined to approve the minority report of the City Planning Committee offered by Randall. This resolution asked for a thirty-day delay while a resolution introduced last week by Jacobson and asking that an investigation of unethical practices be conducted be acted upon.

The majority report of the committee, signed by Webster and Holland was adopted. This action eliminated the Jacobson resolution.

COUNCIL GAGS FOE

In submitting his minority report, Randall said the charges contained in the Jacobson resolution were such as could not be ignored.

He was supported by Lewis and Williams, but Cooke voted with the majority, declaring that the place for the investigation of criminal practices is before the District Attorney or grand jury.

Arthur A. Webber, head of the Miramar Estates Syndicate, holders of 737 acres of land adjoining the site of the Bell project, attempted to address the Council in opposition to the ordinances. He was denied the privilege by President Sanborn.

Following the Council vote and adoption Webber went to the District Attorney's office and spent almost an hour in conference with Dist.-Atty. Fitts.

He declined to discuss the nature of his talk with Fitts, or to confirm or deny a report that he had presented an affidavit and a copy of Randall's report to the District Attorney.

FITTS EXPLAINS VISIT

Fitts explained the visit and conference with Webber as a discussion of a situation that has developed during the last few weeks. He declined to enlarge on the nature of the matter. He declared that Webber had made no request for a grand jury investigation, nor supplied him with affidavits supporting charges set out in the Randall report.

The District Attorney also said that he is not contemplating any criminal investigation either by his office or by the 1930 grand jury which would involve or concern the Bell cement plant or activities in behalf of the project.

The Randall report, which was killed by Council action, says:

"Councilman Jacobson charges that the so-called cement trust is now directly involved in the Bell project. As one of the chief arguments for the Bell proposal is the allegation that it will create competition, the Council will be lax in its duty to the public if it does not permit him to assemble and present the evidence which we understand is in his possession.

MONEY SPENT

"Another charge the Council members cannot afford to ignore is that which involves the petitioner in the use of vast sums of money in the recent Councilmanic campaign and the expenditure of thousands of dollars in the 115 community newspapers for publication of many columns of Bell promotion propaganda matter designed to build up sentiment in Councilmanic districts favorable to the Bell project.

"This latter activity was nothing more than a thinly disguised scheme to build up a favorable atmosphere in the districts represented by Councilmen whose support was needed.

"To the charge that expenditures were made in support of various Council candidates, your committee cannot offer substantiation except as to one's district, the First. (This is Randall's district.)

"In that district it was a notorious fact that large sums of money were devoted to the efforts of two candidates before the primary election, and to one of these candidates after the primary.

"Those expenditures were made under the direction of a certain H. M. Sheehan, and such expenditures were estimated variously after the primary to amount to $25,000."

"Meal Ticket" Title Resented

Carl Sherman Scanland became angry when his wife, Lillian Cecilia, called him a "meal ticket," he told Superior Judge Price late yesterday when asking for a divorce.

Mrs. Scanland, the husband asserted, also made the remark that he was "too old for her." At another time she said that his clothes were out of date and that his friends were too old-fashioned to be interesting.

"I don't think her remarks were justified," Scanland told the judge. "I am not so old-fashioned. We were married at Tia Juana," he added. A decree was granted.

SAILINGS SHOW PORT ADVANCE

Shipping Man Cites Strides Before Trade Club

Further Rise in Commercial Standing Forecast

Other Maritime Questions Discussed in Detail

Direct shipping contact with all continents is advancing Los Angeles Harbor to the front rank in commercial position. There will be 128 sailings from the port during the ensuing month to many far-distant parts of the globe. They will be as follows, according to a compilation made by Harold C. Smith, agency manager for several well-known steamship lines, and presented yesterday before the Foreign Trade Club of Southern California at the City Club:

Sixteen to Shanghai, fifteen to London, fifteen to Kobe, fourteen to Yokohama, thirteen to Manila, eleven to Liverpool, nine to Singapore, six to Hamburg, six to Rotterdam, five to Java, five to Macassar, five to Sumatra ports, four to Melbourne, four to Bremen. Evidencing the growth of this port's business is his finding that fifteen steamship sailings are scheduled for Kobe from here, as against ten for the same Japanese port from San Francisco.

OTHER TRADE DETAILS

Various speakers also gave the club significant details in connection with the inadvisability of any attempt to increase local port charges, the satisfactory way in which shipping arbitration here is working out, the importance of Panama as a trade gateway to Latin-American countries, and contemplated interoceanic canal developments in Panama and Nicaragua.

It is essential in the port's welfare to keep it inviting to shipping, Mr. Smith told the club, and he declared against propaganda from any source that may seek to increase port charges here. Such an increase would impose an entirely unwarranted burden on shipping, he said and added that without anything of the kind the port of Los Angeles soon will be self-supporting.

Laurel E. Anderson, legal adviser at London for the United States Shipping Board, indorsed Mr. Smith's latter statement.

ARBITRATION SUCCESS

Developments within the last few days emphasize the success of the arbitration method instituted here to settle disputes in foreign shipping affairs, the club was told by Maurice Carasso. This procedure is administered by the office of Clarence H. Matson, manager of the department of foreign commerce and shipping, Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. The club indorsed a resolution by Mr. Carasso pledging the organization to the support of the arbitration method, which he pointed out is proving a valuable factor in promoting friendship between Los Angeles shippers and those in foreign lands.

Maj. James, who recently returned from the Panama zone where he went on trade-relation affairs, told the club about the building of a high dam across the Allejuila River to impound flood-water as a reserve for Gatun Lake, an essential link in the Panama Canal.

PANAMA GATEWAY

George Curtis Peck, Federal commercial attache at Panama, and C. O. Simmons, who was an engineer engaged in the building of the Panama Canal and at present has commercial interests there, urged dealing with responsible buyers there on the basis of reasonable credit leniency established by European manufacturers and shippers.

Panama affords exceptional opportunities as a trade gateway to the South American countries and should be developed along sound business methods by American sellers, he said.

Former President Dorton of the club was presented with an inscribed watch as a testimonial of the organization's appreciation of his work. Secretary Vernon presided.

Principal Gets Board's Praise

At the suggestion of Superintendent of Schools Bouelle, the Board of Education yesterday voted commendation to Clara Ellen Jones, principal of the Lillian-street school, for her action last week in capturing and arresting a man asserted to have been annoying two small girl pupils.

Supt. Bouelle said that when the two girls reported the actions of the man to their principal, she jumped into her automobile and, when she caught up with him, "forcibly placed him in the car and took him to the nearest police station." The board granted Miss Jones permission to attend court to appear against the man without loss of pay.

FIRE CHIEF TO ATTEND ANNUAL CONVENTION

Fire Chief Scott, president of the International Association of Fire Chiefs, was authorized yesterday by the Fire Commission to leave next Tuesday to attend the annual meeting of the organization in New York, from February 11 to 12, when the main question to come up is the establishment of international fire colleges. On his way east he will stop in Winnipeg, Can., to attend a meeting of the directors of the association in that city, when selection of the place for the 1931 convention will be made.

DEPUTY SHERIFF COLE AT MOTHER'S FUNERAL

Word was received yesterday from Deputy Sheriff Thomas A. Cole that he reached Detroit in time to attend the funeral of his mother, Mrs. Mary B. Cole. She was known here, having come to Los Angeles for fourteen successive years to spend the winter in the Southland. Failing health prevented her visit this year. She died on the 24th inst. She was 79 years of age, and leaves three sons, fifteen grandchildren and twelve great-grandchildren.

SAXOPHONES PUT LOVE TO SLEEP

Then Notes (Unpaid) Arouse Wife to Seek Succor in Divorce, She Says

Because her husband bought five saxophones and had installment collectors coming to the house all the time, Mrs. Hazle Runkle yesterday sued Walter H. Runkle for divorce.

In addition, Mrs. Runkle says, her husband made only small payments on her wedding ring and other gifts, and for a long time after they were married, he failed to make the payments. The defendant even went so far as to pawn her rings when she took them off her fingers for any reason, she said.

TWO YOUTHS CAPTURED IN LONG CHASE

Bullets Fly as Pair Run Into Brick Yard After Abandoning Roadster

Captured by deputy sheriffs and police amid a hail of bullets when they sought refuge in a brick yard at Seventh and Anderson streets after a spirited chase in the Hollenbeck Heights district, two asserted members of a youthful robber gang were taken to the County Jail yesterday.

The youths, Alex Loskutoff, 19 years of age, and Tony Semikoff, 20, abandoned their high-speed roadster and ran into the brick yard after having been pursued over several miles of streets by Deputy Sheriffs Zahn and Davis. With the aid of police, the deputies took the pair into custody after a number of shots had been fired at them when they attempted to hide among the kilns, the officers reported.

Loskutoff is held in connection with the attempted robbery of a service station in South Gate last Sunday at which time his asserted partner, Alex Pappin, was captured.

Award Set for Damaged Home

When a steam shovel rolled down a hill into the bungalow owned by Mary A. and Rose J. Bushnell it did damage to the extent of $4300, according to the opinion of Superior Judge Jamison, who late yesterday awarded the two sisters this amount in a judgment against Martter & Bock, contractors, who own the machine.

The Misses Bushnell had asked $10,350 for the damage done to their home near Ebey avenue and Wheeling Way. The accident occurred on November 26, 1928.

Pictures exhibited in court showed one corner of the bungalow caved in and the entire house moved from its foundation.

Damages Denied Widow by Jury

Mrs. Lola A. Brust will recover no damages from C. J. Kubach & Co., City Hall contractors, a jury in her $75,000 suit tried in Superior Judge Valentine's court decided yesterday.

E. J. Brust was killed when he fell down an elevator shaft September 9. His employers, Baker Iron Works, subcontractors, already have paid the widow $5500 indemnity, and so intervened in her suit against the contractors, basing their plea on a claim that faulty material was supplied them.

PHILIPPINES ISSUE OF MAGAZINE PRAISED

Dedicated to the Philippines, the January issue of Pan-Pacific Progress, the magazine of international commerce published in Los Angeles, has been commended by the Bureau of Insular Affairs, it was announced yesterday by Gardner Curran, editor. Most of the articles are the work of government officials or lay experts on island problems, and are especially timely, it is pointed out, in view of the recent Filipino riots in California. The February issue of the magazine will be dedicated to Alaska.

COURT SAYS "MACK" MAY "BRING THAT UP" AGAIN

Superior Judge Gates yesterday denied the petition of George Moran, "Black Crow" comedian, for an injunction against his partner, Charles E. Mack, using the name "Moran and Mack." Judge Gates gave the plaintiff leave to amend, however, which means that a new petition with technical flaws corrected will be filed.

The injunction sought to restrain Mack from billing a vaudeville act with a substitute Moran and also asked that the defendant be enjoined from using any of the "Two Black Crows" material in motion pictures.

In the complaint it was stated that Moran's real name is George Searcy, and Mack's name is Charles E. Sellers. The two actors have been stage partners for twelve years.

Contempt Case Against Lawyer to be Delayed

Contempt proceedings against Attorney Charles I. Rosin were delayed by Municipal Judge Ballard yesterday until the conclusion of the preliminary hearing of Rosin's clients, M. B. Martin, Berwick L. Martin and Roland D. Barnett.

Rosin was adjudged in contempt Wednesday when he refused to produce a written statement, which Dep. Dist.-Atty. Stahlman asserted was signed by Richard Machado, 10725 Glenn avenue, at the request of the three defendants, who paid Machado $100 for his signature. They are accused of bribery and conspiracy to bribe a witness. Stahlman contends the three men expected to use the statement, which he says was false, in a damage suit now pending in Superior Court.

Machado was the only witness called in the bribery case by Stahlman yesterday. He occupied the stand during the entire day and will resume it for further questioning this morning.

TUBERCULOSIS FIGHT OUTLINED

Social Research Undertaken by National Association

Causes of Deaths in Certain Group to be Studied

Visiting Official Honored by Local Organizations

Although the tuberculosis death rate in this country shows a steady decline from year to year, Frederick Hopkins, executive director of the National Tuberculosis Association, speaking before a group of executives and secretaries of Southern California associations yesterday noon at the Alexandria, said there still is such a long road to travel that he believes there should be less talk of the progress made in the fight against the disease and more action directed upon the problems yet to be solved.

"In the national office," said Hopkins, "one of our most important concerns is medical research, for which we expend approximately $50,000 a year. But we also believe we can add much to our knowledge along the subject of prevention by attempting the same thing in the way of social research. To that end we have just started a committee, the work of which will be directed toward the special groups responsible for the greatest proportion of the deaths.

NEGROES STUDIED

"For example, in spite of the decreasing death rate, most of the deaths still are occurring between the ages of 15 and 45, and the peak of the volume at about 25 years of age. Hence, our 1930 program is dealing with a special study of the negro death rate, which is three or four times that among the white population; and we are conducting research into the living conditions, surroundings and so on of 1000 young women from 13 to 25 years of age who died in New York City, to find out what conditions may have been contributing factors to their deaths.

"We have done a year's field work among the Indians to be supplemented with follow-up work; two workers are in Porto Rico at the present time studying the conditions there, where the death rate is four times that on the continent; and we are making a very special study of after-care for tuberculosis patients."

EARLY DIAGNOSIS STRESSED

Mr. Hopkins also emphasized the attention which is being directed toward the problem of early diagnosis this year among children, in an effort to check the disease in its early stages, or by education to eliminate the conditions which cause its appearance.

Mr. Hopkins is making a tour of the Western States to meet with the executives of county and city associations for discussions of the common problems of each. He also is making a study of the "quack" doctor situation.

Yesterday's luncheon was given in his honor by the various Southern California tuberculosis associations and Dr. R. L. Cunningham, president of the city association, acted as chairman. Present among the men who are active in the fight against tuberculosis in Southern California were Dr. F. M. Pottinger, A. J. Crookshank of Orange county, Dr. Donald J. Frick and Louis M. Cole.

Woman Hurt in Downtown Street Mishap

Struck by a street car yesterday, Mrs. Madge Douglas, 45 years of age, of 7206 Sycamore avenue, received a possible skull fracture, possible internal injuries and fractures of three ribs. She was taken to the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital in a serious condition.

Policemen Napier and Anderson report that witnesses said Mrs. Douglas was in the crosswalk safety lane at Tenth street and Broadway when a Los Angeles Railway car crossed against the traffic signal. The street car was in charge of Motorman E. Rhodes, they reported.

Prize Play to Be Reviewed

Alice Grannis Botsford's monthly play review at Bullock's tomorrow at 10:30 a.m. will be on "Street Scene," by Elmer Rice. The play won the Pulitzer Prize and has had a successful run in New York, promising to be shown here this season.

"Street Scene" is a panorama of sounds and scenes of the brownstone apartment district in New York City, out of which emerges a human theme containing both comedy and tragedy.

Mrs. Botsford also will give a short resume of what is being done in the New York theaters.

TWO BANDITS HOLD UP MOTORIST IN GARAGE

Two bandits who early yesterday morning attacked W. R. Waggoner and struck him on the head with a club while he was putting his automobile in the garage at the rear of his home on One Hundred and Fourteenth street near Redondo Boulevard are being sought by deputy sheriffs. Waggoner reported he fought off the men, who fled. He was unable to describe his assailants.

Officers also are seeking two men who late Wednesday night held up and robbed C. B. Griffith, 505 Los Angeles street, Montebello, under similar circumstances. Griffith reported he was compelled at the point of a gun to hand over $22 contained in a billfold.

"Open House" Planned as Department Transfers to Education Building

Administration offices, classrooms and exhibition halls of the art department of the University of California at Los Angeles tomorrow will be removed from the top floor of the library building, in which they have been housed temporarily, to the new education building, now being rushed to completion. The quarters will include two studios equipped for painting, four rooms devoted to all branches of designing, three craft rooms fitted for basketry and other forms of weaving, five pottery study rooms, a dyeing room, an exhibition gallery, a museum and an office suite.

A series of "open house" days has been planned in recognition of the removal. During the reception all rooms will be hung with exhibitions. Mrs. Louise Sooy is head of the art department.

With the opening of the spring semester, February 17, next, the department of home economics also will be transferred to the education building. Installation of equipment is being completed, it is announced. This department, of which Dr. Helen B. Thompson is chairman, will occupy the third floor of the building and comprise classrooms, laboratories and faculty offices. There will be two food laboratories, a specially equipped unit kitchen, two research laboratories, two clothing studios, a textile laboratory, a social room and a storage room for surplus equipment. An electric elevator will transport the required supplies to the department.

SLAP TRIPS SUSPECTED BANK BANDIT

Row With Night Club Girl Leads to Identification as Toledo (O.) Fugitive

When police arrested Joe Berger, alias Logan, alias Bert Scott, for slapping a hat-check girl in a night club here yesterday it was discovered the prisoner is wanted in Toledo for robbery and shooting to kill during a bank hold-up June 4, 1928. On that date Toledo police sent out circulars to various cities with Berger's description and fingerprints.

Berger was taken in custody after he had slapped Miss Lila Young at a night club at 1651 Cosmo Place. According to Miss Young, Berger checked his hat and overcoat and started into the cafe, when he suddenly turned and demanded to know what remark the girl had made to him. The girl asserted she had made no remark.

A fight followed and the police were called. At the police station Berger asserted his name was Joe Logan, but his fingerprints identified him as Berger. Toledo police were notified.

Services Will Commemorate Life of Moody

A service commemorating the life and work of Dwight L. Moody, late founder of the Young Men's Christian Association and evangelist, on the occasion of the ninety-second anniversary of his birth, has been arranged for Sunday evening at the First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood. George Mansfield, in the New Age, under the caption, "Moody—A Great American," says: "The personal story of Dwight L. Moody is as fascinating, if not more so, than the stories of Barnum, Edison, Ford or Roosevelt."

Dr. Stewart P. MacLennan, pastor of the church, asks that all who had personal contacts with Moody, or have attended any of his schools, be present at the service or write in their impressions, which will be read from the pulpit. In the evening gospel song service only Moody and Sanky hymns will be used. The orchestra and organ will accompany, under the direction of Prof. J. B. Nield. Services will be broadcast over radio KNX.

Babies . . . and Bottled Sunshine!

They need it to help them build strong bones and sound teeth

OR will they be soft and subject to early decay... menacing his health and detracting from his appearance in later years?

You can help your baby build good teeth for life by seeing now that he gets a plentiful supply of one essential tooth-and-bone-building factor. Vitamin D!

There are two common sources of this protective element. Sunshine and good cod-liver oil.

Sunshine would protect your baby but it is almost impossible to get enough sunshine on the bare skin to be of benefit. Clothing, clouds, fog and smoke prevent it. Even ordinary window glass filters out the protecting ultra-violet rays.

Authorities urge Bottled Sunshine—good cod-liver oil—as the surest protection. And many of them insist on Squibb's Cod-Liver Oil.

They prefer Squibb's because they know they can depend on its high vitamin content. It is not only very rich in Vitamin D, which helps to build good bones and teeth, but also in Vitamin A which promotes growth and increases resistance to many infections.

Your physician knows the importance of good cod-liver oil for your baby. Use the vitamin-tested, vitamin-protected oil—Squibb's. All good drug stores have Squibb's Plain and Squibb's Mint-flavored Cod-Liver Oil.

Today's Bible Text

If this counsel or this work be of men, it will come to nought: But if it be of God, ye cannot overthrow it; lest happily ye be found even to fight against God.—Acts v:38, 39.

THE BIG FAMILY

A New Jersey widow with thirteen children married a man who had eleven of his own. The whole twenty-six settled down in a five-room house, but the place was too small to do anything but scrap. The families had a fight every day and finally the court had to intervene. The wife has taken her flock elsewhere and the husband will pay $5 a week toward their support. That's what comes from family mix-ups.

FORCED THRIFT

For want of money Chicago is having an overdose of municipal economy. There is a big deficit in both the city and county treasuries and curtailments were imperative. It is mentioned that not only have nearly 500 policemen been dropped from the roll, but there has been a reduction in the number of firemen. In other positions of various kinds and degrees more than 1000 incumbents have been released. It looks like a rough year in civic life. The Board of Education had to borrow nearly $3,000,000 to pay the holiday salaries of the school-teachers and it will be a long time before enough tax money will be available to restore conditions as they were.

THE LOST ATLANTIS

A French archeologist is in this country in quest of backing for a submarine venture toward the discovery of the lost isles of Atlantis. Some of the big undersea boats they now build—some of them with a cruising radius of 10,000 miles—would be equal to this interesting enterprise. Ever since Plato set down the gossip which the Egyptian priests had with Solon the world has been full of folks who were sure that there was an Atlantis and that its people were the greatest and most powerful humans of their day. Some 15,000 years ago they dominated the known globe and then a tidal wave swept over the Atlantic and left them buried several hundred fathoms deep. Of their beautiful cities and their art and civilization no absolute trace was ever found. But the legend remains and anybody wishing to climb into a fat submarine with this Gallic scientist may trace it to its lair. The lost Atlantis was supposed to be in the Atlantic Ocean, directly west of the Pillars of Hercules—now the Straits of Gibraltar. Presumably the foundations are still there. Anybody want a deep-sea ride?

THE MIDWEST FLOODS

Midwestern streams often have gone on the rampage, but rarely if ever to the extent which they have of late, or with such harrowing results as have attended the swelling of the Wabash, White and Ohio rivers in Indiana. Ice jams miles long have been formed during subzero weather, damming and raising the waters and thus isolating and marooning many hundreds of people who were trapped in or near their homes at points difficult of access by those bent upon their relief. A Red Cross leader compares the situation to the Mississippi flood.

Had it not been for the quick action of Red Cross workers and others a large number of families in Knox and other counties in Indiana might have suffered dire distress. Aviators dropped food, medicines and other supplies in several places, but many flood victims have not yet been relieved.

As indicative of the effect of cold and flood, one dispatch says that an ice gorge eight miles in extent has formed near the mouth of a small river where it enters the old Wabash, famed in song and story. Other gorges miles long and from two to ten feet high are reported. These, with the huge masses of floating ice in the flooded valleys, have made the progress of relief parties slow and in some places impossible.

While these gorges and floods are said to be the worst in Indiana history, with the coming of warmer weather and the thawing of the ice, they will disappear and the waters will assume their old levels. That this may occur soon it is fervently to be hoped, for if delayed sickness and death may be widely prevalent in the flooded district.

RIVERA STEPS OUT

The resignation of Gen. Primo de Rivera, dictator of Spain since 1923, and the announcement of his successor, Gen. Damaso Berenguer, that he will restore constitutional government in King Alfonso's domain, is the important news of the week in Europe. It is difficult to analyze at this distance the causes which brought about Rivera's downfall, but among them appear to have been the steady hostility of the King and the failure of his Finance Minister to stabilize the peseta.

Gen. Berenguer, once in disgrace because of the failure of his soldiers to get the best of the Riffs in Morocco, did not at the same time lose the King's favor, for Alfonso made him chief of the royal household in 1926 and now appoints him to the Premiership in the place of Gen. de Rivera, who was his personal as well as political enemy. Gen. Berenguer proposes to retain the dictatorship only until parliamentary elections can be called and Parliament summoned, after which he may, or may not, be constitutional Premier depending on the fall of the cards.

Whether the change in governmental form thus inaugurated will be an improvement depends also on the fall of the cards. Popular government has never been an unquestionable success in Spain, and things were in a pretty bad way when Gen. de Rivera took charge. There was disaffection in the army, the Morocco campaign was absorbing blood and treasure in distressing amounts, the office-holding clique was another drain upon the public treasury without much corresponding benefit and Parliament was split into a vast number of incoherent parties, none of which was able to form a workable majority bloc. Gen. de Rivera, while he abstained from the theatricals and bellicose pronouncements of which Mussolini is so fond, brought a surprising amount of order out of this chaos, quelled a series of incipient military revolts and overawed or contented the disturbed populace. He accomplished a good deal of reform in the civil service.

Much of the good he accomplished, it seems reasonable to expect, will be retained in the new order of things; at least administration is not likely to drop back at once into the old slipshod ways. On the other hand, politicians are not necessarily chastened by being deprived of power; they may merely have been made hungry, in which case Spain is possibly letting itself in for troublous times.

The anti-monarchist riots reported from Madrid may, or may not be, a symptom of what is coming. King Alfonso seems to be generally popular among his subjects and the probability is that these riots are of no great importance, and that municipal police can continue to dispose of them if and as they recur. It is possible, however, such radical centers as Barcelona, which Gen. de Rivera had little trouble from during at least the last years of his administration, may be stirred up again now that the dictatorship is over.

Generally speaking, dictatorships tend to make countries weaker. The impulse to self-government atrophies if it is not used, and is not readily restored. This is not an invariable rule; the dictatorship by United States marines seems to have produced excellent results in Santo Domingo, where a reasonably stable government has now existed for several years. But the same process in Haiti has been disappointing.

FOR COMMERCIAL UNITY

Much of the prosperity and progress enjoyed by California is due to the faculty its people have shown of working together for the common good, a characteristic much commented upon by business men from other States and countries. A continuation and, if possible, an acceleration of this spirit, is our best guarantee that our future advance will be even more marked and our general prosperity even more widely shared by all residents of the State.

No single agency has been more active in bringing about this happy condition than the State Chamber of Commerce which, under its old name, the California Development Association, worked unceasingly for many years to foster co-operation of all our interests and to promote State unity. The stronger and more generally representative we can make this great institution, the more assured we may be of that business harmony from which we have derived such inestimable advantages.

Everyone living within the borders of the Golden State, laborer, employee, investor, industrialist, farmer, fruit grower, is interested in the work of the State Chamber of Commerce, for everyone must benefit by its successful activities. It is combination and co-operation which get new industries started and assist established producers of soil crops and manufactured goods to obtain better prices and find new markets. All these activities postulate more work for a greater number of citizens.

This combination and co-operation, to eliminate sectional lines and put the whole power of California behind every project conceived for the benefit of any single part of the commonwealth, has been and will continue to be the major motive of the State Chamber of Commerce. As its increased membership enables it to supply better support to all business enterprises and to find new avenues of State development, so we may confidently expect to reap still richer harvests from an extension of California's commercial unity.

QUITTING THE JOB

The Fascist League in America is said to have disbanded. There were upward of 100 organizations in the league but they were unable to show vital reasons for staying in the game and, therefore, they subside. Fascism may work fairly well in Italy under a Mussolini, but there is no more warrant for its extension in this country than there would be for the commune—although they are far apart. The Italian government does not need its support in this country and America does not need its program.

The LEE SIDE o' L.A.
BY Lee Shippey

THERE still are a lot of old-fashioned people in Los Angeles. Yesterday we heard a man speak, quite seriously, about getting his daughters "safely married."

Any Excuse in a Pinch

KALLA-FOR-NEE AT LAST!
GOODY, GOODY!

Tourists who come here from the frozen North, get thawed out and then have to go home have many and various alibis for not remaining here longer. Usually they say their business needs them, sometimes they declare they yearn for real winter—though we can assure them that anyone can get all the winter thrill he wants any of these mornings by getting up before the sun does and taking a cold bath in a cold bathroom.

A big party of Montanans came in a few weeks ago, most of whom come here every year. The visit is, in fact, one of the things they look forward to from year to year. But after they had been here three weeks, some announced their intention of returning to Butte. This was the argument overheard in Pershing Square:

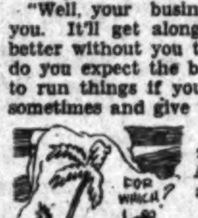
"What's the matter? Don't you like this climate?"

"Yep. It's sure a great climate. Couldn't beat it."

"Well, if you're homesick for snow you can get up into it in two or three hours."

"No, we ain't hankerin' for snow, exactly."

"Well, your business doesn't need you. It'll get along just as well or better without you this winter. How do you expect the boys to learn how to run things if you don't get out sometimes and give 'em a chance?"



"Oh, the boys are all right. Ain't worryin' any about them."

"Well, what does make you uneasy here?"

The spokesman for the homewardbound looked all about him, as if desperately searching for something with which he could find fault.

"Well, dang it!" he said, finally, "I should think people here would get awful tired of these palm trees."

Not So Bad as That

Painting the Lily

Hard Sider: As I sat in the beautiful and luxurious theater I could but marvel at the mysterious minds of the management.

I was seeing a wonderful and beautiful show, a complete and satisfying entertainment, a triumph of art.

But that had not been enough for the maagement. It had thrown in a forty-minute prelude of jazz and posturing—to make the $5 show more nearly worth the price of admission.

And the management was right. It took a penalty like that to make a $5 show worth only $1.50. —Maxim Wilde.

No Complaining Customers

"No danger," the bootlegger said,

That any customer I've cinched
Will tell the cops and have me pinched.

Whole Thing Made Clear

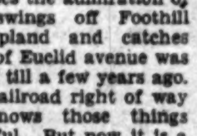
There are several reasons why the great Christian powers have extra-territorial rights in China. But the main one is that they are strong and China isn't.

Why Strive For Wealth?

"Money's nice, all right," writes O. K., "but not having any makes one feel so safe, so serene, so content, when he looks at Al G. Barnes and Alex Pantages, not to mention many others."

"The Upland Lawn"

The prophetic vision of poets is uncanny. It was more than 150 years ago that Thomas Gray, in his "Elegy in a Country Churchyard," wrote of greeting "the sun upon the upland lawn." And yet the beautiful Upland lawn which arouses the admiration of everyone who swings off Foothill Boulevard into Upland and catches his first glimpse of Euclid avenue was never dreamed of till a few years ago. It used to be a railroad right of way—and heaven knows those things rarely are beautiful. But now it is a charming park, and anyone who wants to know how to make grass grow under pepper trees ought to go and take a few lessons from Upland's city gardener. The same avenue runs through Ontario, and Ontario also does very well. But the lawn under the pepper trees is lovelier on the Upland end than anywhere else, and no doubt a great many Uplanders, both young and old, go there to greet the sun.



I'LL HAVE NONE OF IT!

THE ENEMY IN THE CAMP

Atty.-Gen. Mitchell's ruling that, hereafter, none but nondrinkers and supporters of the prohibition cause need seek appointment as law-enforcement officials for handling violations of the Volstead Act is at once salutary and disappointing. It is salutary in that it removes the worst handicap for the efficient application of the dry laws from which their enforcement has so far suffered. It is disappointing to learn that for the first ten years of this epochal experiment the appointment of drinkers and nonsympathizers to these essential offices should have been countenanced at all.

Prohibition is a fight for principles and all those engaged in it should come to its assistance with clean hands. Its path of progress has been blocked more by false friends than by open foes. Its worst enemy is the enemy within the camp, the man who votes dry and drinks wet, the official who trafficks with the bootlegger whom it is his sworn duty to put out of business, the hired propagandist who regards it merely as an opportunity for grabbing some easy money.

What would we think of an army of defense, officered by men openly in sympathy with the enemy? What would be its chances of success? What would happen to a community which turned over the prosecution of lawbreakers to the receivers of stolen goods? What would become of our churches if their care were intrusted to pastors who scoffed at their own professed beliefs? Through carelessness or lack of co-ordination this appears to have been to a large extent the position of the prohibition forces in their long, hard fight for sobriety and total abstinence.

This permitting of wet influences to get an inside hold on the enforcement of dry laws—whether they do so by outwitting administrators or through the connivance of bribable underlings—accounts for much of the failure to stop the circulation of illegal liquor. But it has done something worse than this for the final success of the cause. Through it prohibition advocates have incurred the charge of hypocrisy, not without some show of reason, and this charge has been the strongest weapon in the hands of the wets to stir up popular feeling against the enforcement of laws honestly designed for the protection of the children and the home.

Atty.-Gen. Mitchell's determination to weed out all traitors from the prohibition enforcement officers under the new regime is the best move taken yet for breaking down the obstinate opposition at present encountered in the fight for a sober America. Later on the same club should be applied to all holding public positions, in Congress, in State legislatures, in city administrations, in police and court circles, whose private practices do not square with their public professions. The final success or failure of the "noble experiment" rests on the example set in law-respect and self-control by those intrusted with its promotion.

This last consummation depends on the citizens themselves, on their insistence that every candidate running on a dry ticket should be dry in fact and not only for political vote getting. Prohibition must clear itself of the charge of hypocrisy to which at present, in the enforcement department at least, it has laid itself regrettably open. No temperance cause can win while it is infested with advocates whose immaculate frock coats conceal an illicit hip pocket. No righteous crusade can be trusted to those who are less righteous than the cause they represent. Prohibition's most dangerous opponent is the enemy within the camp.

YE GALLANT GANGSTERS

By James J. Montague

In days of old, the noble knights
Were always mixing up in fights.

They roved around the countryside
Till rival gallants they descried.

And in the rumpus that ensued
The local scenery was strewed

With people who found no romance
In being skewered with a lance.

Sometimes the knights their foemen slew;
More often folks like me and you

Who merely chanced to be about
Were mercilessly blotted out.

No sheriff had the power to stay
These warriors on their savage way,

No door too strong for them to force
While charging on their warlike horse.

Yet gentle minstrels sang their praise
In metrical and dulcet lays,

And many a lovely maiden sighed
To be an errant battler's bride.

The knights were rated, you will find,
The very noblest of mankind.

But standards alter with the years;
Today we'd call them racketeers.

Anti-Filipino Riots

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The California Filipino riots in Watsonville excite in a high degree the thinking Americans and Filipinos both in the United States and in the Philippines. The two salient facts with regard to this serious situation are apparent. In the first place, it is the labor competition between the Filipinos and the white laboring class. Second, it is the race prejudice.

The race prejudice is an old thing to the American people and is a novelty for the Filipino public. The long trouble between the Filipinos and the whites came to a boiling point over the presence of the white girls at the social dance of the Filipino club.

This is one of the consequences of the failure of the American people in the Philippines. The Americans are trying to make the Philippine Islands into an English-speaking nation; consequently the Filipinos are adopting American ways of living and have been taught that "All men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness." The Filipinos cannot be blamed if the white girls go with them. The fact is that the Filipino ways are rather occidental than oriental as a result of the Americanization policy in the Philippines.

To solve this complicated problem is to recall the message of Theodore Roosevelt to the British on their occupation of Egypt—to govern or get out. The latter, in all possibility, is the only solution to this problem.

EPIFANIO R. ZABALLERO,
Filipino College Student.

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 27.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The riot at Watsonville, where a mob of 500 whites descended upon the defenseless Filipino community with guns and clubs and succeeded in killing one and injuring a few, is another blot upon American civilization. This trait of barbarity—this brutal and merciless idea of settling a problem arising out of ruthless race prejudice, moral and economic, is not the first of its kind to be committed by the American people.

The Americans have been holding up their heads as Christian people, but apparently they can never be so and, instead, they wished to be scorned as they scorn the Russians for their barbarities. Whether the Filipino in this country is another problem, or whatever it may be, the Filipino people, by constitutional rights being under the protectorate of the United States, obviously deserves her protection and so to enjoy the "life, liberty and the pursuits of happiness."

The Americans should know better than to commit such horrible thing, for it is only through prudent mutual understanding can we solve this kind of a problem.

Island Prisons

LOS ANGELES, Jan. 28.—[To the Editor of The Times:] If conditions at San Quentin are even half as bad as described by Ex-Convict No. XXXXX in his series of articles which has just been concluded, it would seem as though a civilized and enlightened State should take drastic steps to improve them.

Mexico sends her felons to an island about seventy miles off the west coast. Why could not California do likewise? West and south of Catalina Island and within fifty to seventy-five miles of San Pedro are three other islands—Santa Barbara, San Nicolas and San Clemente. As measured on a large map, the smallest of these is at least two miles long, the largest more than twenty. Even the smallest is of ample size to take care of all felons in California, and still keep hardened criminals apart from first offenders. San Quentin and Folsom could be abolished. The overcrowding evil could be eliminated.

PSITTACOSIS

In these days of ultra-learning,
Savants' minds are fondly turning
To the eerie, to the weird and to the "new"
And these spectacled old fogies
Sure have dug up lots of bogies
Calculated to befuddle me and you;
Here's a new one—psittacosis;
Fiercer, far, than acidosis,
Worse than ptosis, or mycosis of the bean;
And they tell us "Pretty Polly"
Is to blame for it, by golly!
So the parrots now are all in quarantine;
We shall miss their raucous squawking—
Which some designate as talking.
Let the ladies all take warning—what we mean
Psittacosis may o'ertake 'em
If they talk too much, and make 'em
Fitting subjects to be placed in quarantine.

"WASHEE - WASHEE"

BY WILLIAM HAMILTON CLINE

He was just a Chinaman—a laundryman—a "washee-washee." He could not read or write English and he spoke it in pidgin fashion. He was tall, thin, ugly and often I suspected that he smoked hop at intervals. He kept the customs of his race and he never became "Clistian." He did my washing—some of it very well—and he lost things—yes, he did. He admitted it, with a smile that was childlike and bland; he'd stand on one foot at the door and scratch his head and mutter:

"I dunno how him not come. I look-see. Mebbe I find."

But he seldom did. Still, what would you? Yee was sincere, honest and faithful—what are a few mundane shirts among friends?

When I first came to Los Angeles on a trip, he had a little wash house near my hotel. I took him a bundle in an emergency, and called for it on the due date. He smiled as he delivered it to me—he always smiled.

"You gonna live heah? I likee do wash ev'ly week. I got good laundly. You stay hotel? I come see you."

I had been used to washerwomen in the East, but none had seemed available here. We came to a deal, after a dicker—so much a week for the average bundle—dirt cheap, I thought, but he was satisfied.

"Ev'ly Tuesday, I come. You hab laundly; I leave clean clo'. You pay—sometime I ketch 'um. Huh?"

So it began—and it never stopped. For a quarter of a century it continued without a break. Never a laundry slip, never a "cheekee," never a bill rendered. He kept the score in his head, figured it out on his abacus, never made a mistake. Infrequently, he apologetically asked: "You likee payee now, huh?" And I paid him. Sometimes he said: "You no payee now—nex' time." I don't know why. Next time, I'd pay, but "nex' time" might be a week off, or a month or so.

He piloted a decrepit horse and wagon for years. One day he drove up in a brand new Ford truck, handling it himself and proud as Puck to show off both car and driving ability.

"Ol' hoss, he die; ol' wagon, she lun down. Now, you come look-see."

And our family had to line up at the curb and applaud Yee's chauffeuring ability before he would be satisfied. We did it gladly.

Once in a long while he raised our arbitrary bundle price. Young China boys were hard to get; they didn't like laundry work. Soap was higher; so was starch.

"You hap pay li'l mo', Mis' Cline. Too bad—cos' me heap mo'. You pay two-bits mo' dis time now."

There was no appeal. Neighbors made us realize our treasure; they sought a similar financial arrangement. In vain.

"No can do. Mis' Cline, she ol' flien'. I do for them long, long time. You—no. Takee list—you see? Cos' mo' to you. Mis' Cline, she my flien'."

So we paid his petty raises and stood the petty losses and answered his many friendly, but sometimes all too impertinent and embarrassing questions—as you must do with a Chinese—responding to his genial smile. Every "Clis'mus" came a lily bulb; every Chinese New Year, a bag of weird candy and chi-li nuts. We were "ol' flien's" and Yee gave us thus evidences of his deep regard in his traditional way.

As age crept on him, well up in the sixties, the old laundryman brought his grandsons along to hotfoot in and out with the bundles. But proudly he still drove his chariot of service. He confessed to a wife in China to whom he sent money monthly. "She no likee 'Melica—cos' lot for she come ovah. She stay China." And the bright-eyed youngsters helped out the aging Chinese for many moons.

A few weeks ago or so, Yee ceased to come; a husky young nephew apologized:

"Ol' man, he not so well. He stay in laundly; me come."

So we missed the cheery greeting, the friendly smile. But the 'Clis'mus gif'' came just the same, and we sent greetings to the faithful old soul and hopes for a happy New Year.

He's having one, we are sure. This week, the nephew told us, haltingly:

"Ol' man, he no come no mo'. He die las' week Thu'sday. He sick couple days—not much—not send for doctah. Then his heart stop. He die quick—no pain. I come nex' week again? Yes? Thank you. Jus' same all time. You wanna pay now, huh?"

What a friend to lose—after twenty-five years—and real friends are so scarce, too. A Chinese wash man, yes—but what a friend to lose!

Radio Opens Garage Doors

Instead of climbing out of the automobile to open the garage doors, just press a button on your machine, and ride in. That will be possible by use of a new device invented in Switzerland. Pressing the button causes radio waves to be sent out, and these are picked up by an aerial on top of the garage and serve to start a motor which automatically opens or closes the doors.

BIG LUMBER FREIGHT BILL

In the United States about one-sixth of our original forest land now bears virgin timber, says the American Tree Association. In three centuries our forests have retreated westward and are now so distant from the centers of demand that today we pay $250,000,000 as our yearly freight bill to transport wood from the far-off forest to the lumber yard.

Of Interest to Women

Society

by JUANA NEAL LEVY

One of the lovely affairs of the day will be the luncheon with which Mrs. Frederick W. Flint, Jr., will entertain this noon at the California Club. The guests will all attend the concert of the Philharmonic Orchestra afterward.

Spring flowers and roses will adorn the luncheon table, where covers are to be arranged for Mrs. Flint, Mrs. Robert Irwin Rogers, Mrs. Eugene O. McLaughlin, Miss Margery Welch, Mrs. Avery McCarthy, Miss Louise Burke, Mrs. A. Nesbitt Kemp, Mrs. Franklin Booth, Mrs. Percy Booth, Mrs. Richard Fudger, Mrs. Robert D. Clarke, Mrs. Fred Hathaway Bixby, Mrs. Leo St. Clair Chandler, Mrs. Jefferson Paul Chandler, Mrs. William Spencer Hook, Jr., and Mrs. James Rathwell Page.

This will be the second preorchestral luncheon with which Mrs. Flint will have entertained this season.

Welcome Home

Honoring Mrs. Maude Montgomery, who has just returned from an extended trip, Mrs. Lloyd Mille of 720 Lucerne Boulevard entertained yesterday afternoon with a luncheon and bridge at the Women's Athletic Club, a yellow and green color motif being effectively carried out. The guests included a coterie of intimate friends of the honoree, who were bidden to welcome her home again.

Those included were Mrs. Frank Furnival Peard, Mrs. Thompson, Mrs. Ellen S. Ferris, Mrs. Ralph Cerf, Mrs. A. E. S. Carscallen, Mrs. John Bannister, Mrs. Walter Marshall, Mrs. Charles Carey, Mrs. Jean Perry, Mrs. Will Keller, Miss Laura Elizabeth Bush and Mrs. H. A. Sibbert.

Error Corrected

Owing to an inadvertent error in yesterday morning's society column, the dinner given by Mrs. Constance Simpson was accredited to Mrs. Deighton Simpson, who did not entertain there at that time.

Foster-Randall

Of much interest to many friends in the Southland is the announcement made yesterday of the marriage of Mrs. Kathleen H. Foster, widow of John Drabella Foster of this city, to W. West Randall, the ceremony taking place last Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the chapel of St. John's Church, with Rev. George Davidson officiating. Only a few intimate friends witnessed the ceremony.

Immediately following a tea was given by Mrs. Ozro William Childs, Jr., and Miss Emeline Childs in their apartments at the Darby, West Adams street, where forty friends of the bride were bidden.

Mr. and Mrs. Randall motored to Phoenix, Ariz., and are passing their honeymoon at the Biltmore there, and after their return will be at home at 813 West Twenty-eighth street.

At Hotel Del Coronado

Mrs. Owen D. Young of New York, wife of Owen D. Young, who headed the reparations commission, arrived at Hotel Del Coronado several days ago with her daughter, Josephine, her sons, Philip and Richard, and Miss Gertrude Chandler, coming to the Coast by way of the Panama Canal, and after a brief visit, is now in Los Angeles for a few days at the Ambassador.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Curtis Torrance, Jr., with the latter's father, Dr. Jack Keith of Wilshire Boulevard, motored down for the week-end, as did also Mr. and Mrs. Norman Church, accompanied by Miss Florence Dolan.

Preorchestra Luncheon

Among the charmingly appointed affairs of this afternoon is the luncheon with which Mrs. Frank William Davey of 7001 Lanewood avenue, Hollywood, will be hostess. The affair will take place at the Biltmore, and the guests will all attend the Philharmonic Orchestra program at the auditorium afterward.

Mrs. Davey is giving a series of these luncheons preceding the afternoon concerts, and among her guests bidden for today are Mrs. Eli P. Clark, Mrs. Mark Baldwin Lewis, Mrs. A. Stephen Vavra, Mrs. Willits J. Hole, Mrs. Samuel Knight Rindge, Mrs. Georgia Keating Kennedy, Mrs. Charles E. Seaman, Mrs. Mattison Boyd Jones, Mrs. Edwin O. Palmer and Mrs. Leiland Atherton Irish.

For Bride-Elect

One of the most popular brides-elect of the month is Miss Cecelia De Mille, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Blount De Mille of Laughlin Park, whose wedding with Francis Edgar Calvin is to be an event of February 22. The ceremony will take place in the late afternoon in St. Paul's Cathedral, South Figueroa street, followed by a reception at the De Mille home.

Last evening Miss Katherine De Mille entertained with a supper-dance at the Roosevelt in honor of her sister, the guests including members of the bridal party, Mrs. Paul Gardner, matron of honor; Miss Katherine De Mille, maid of honor; Miss Evelyn Fiebbe, Miss Helen McCartney; Mrs. Laurence Liggett and Miss Nancy Adams, Paul Gardner, best man, and Laurence Liggett, David Henderson and George Thomas, ushers.

Wednesday afternoon Miss Evelyn Fiebbe entertained with a luncheon and linen shower at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George H. Fiebbe in Los Feliz Boulevard, honoring Miss De Mille, green and lavender colors prevailing. The hostess was assisted by Miss Virginia Volland of Palo Alto, her house guest, who is remaining over for the wedding. Those included were Misses Cecelia De Mille, Madeline Campbell, Dorothy Campbell, Olive Borden, Gwendolyn Longyear, Peggy Campbell, Peggy Johnson, Kathleen Weiller, Marion Marks, Valentine Black, Muriel Scofield, Dorothy Bowen, Irene Mayer, Edith Mayer, Jane Woodin, Martha Woodin, Janet Braddock, Mary Hill, Ruth Turnbull, Virginia Davies, Florence Lake, Martha Sleeper, Dolores Brown, Elizabeth Puterbaugh, Marcoreta Hellman, Natalie Scheinkleberger, Katharine De Mille, Frances Cunningham, Virginia Parson, Elizabeth Lewis, Sheila Gerraghty, Nancy Adams, Helen McCartney, Patricia Lethon, Marguerite Swope, Mmes. Laurence Liggett, Bern Irwin, Wilson Jones, Arthur King, George Allen Miller, Robert White and Kenneth Purdy.

Smart Affair

Mrs. Leiland Atherton Irish will entertain for Dimitri Tiomkin and Albertina Rasch at the Friday afternoon concert of the Philharmonic Orchestra this afternoon. Included in the party will be Mrs. E. Robert Schmitz and Mrs. John Boyce-Smith. A table for tea at the Biltmore will follow at 4:30 o'clock.

Interesting Event

Invitations have been issued by Roger Noble Burnham, sculptor, to a private showing Sunday of his recently completed statue of "The Trojan." This gigantic figure will be cast in bronze and unveiled in June during the semicentennial celebration marking the fiftieth anniversary of the founding of the University of Southern California.

As a fitting expression of the spirit and ideals of S. C. students and alumni, this heroic figure will constitute a shrine on the Southern California campus where gatherings of a collegiate or academic nature will be held. Eight feet in height, the Trojan statue will stand on a ten-foot base surrounded by figures in bas-relief depicting student life. The base will broaden near the ground into a platform, allowing speakers to address their audience from the rostrum with the imposing statue as a background.

Assisted by many prominent leaders of the Southland actively interested in the University of Southern California, Mr. and Mrs. Roger Noble Burnham will receive guests from 2 until 6 o'clock at the studio, 3516 West Third street.

Hostesses include Mmes. Rufus B. Von KleinSmid, Merritt Adamson, Arthur Bent, George F. Bovard, Warren Bovard, John G. Bullock, Arthur Burnham, Daniel Hudson Burnham, William Alanson Bryan, Asa Call, Oliver P. Clark, A. E. D. Carscallen, Henry Northrup Castle, George I. Cochran, A. Bennett Cooke, Frank W. Davey, W. HELP GIVEN IN PLAY SEAT SALE

Assistance League to Present Drama

[Lansing Brown studios]

Miss Margaret Mariani

ONE of the attractive members of the younger social set of the Southland is Miss Margaret Mariani, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Johnson Mariani of 8439 Sunset Boulevard, and grand-daughter of the late Tom Johnson of Cleveland, O., who is assisting Mrs. Walter Perry Story in presenting the first production of the Nine O'clock Players of the Assistance League tomorrow evening at the Windsor Square Theater.

A most ambitious program has been arranged with great hopes of attaining a noteworthy standard of the little-theater movement.

In forthcoming productions not only will all the parts be taken by the committee members, but the scenery and staging will also be undertaken by members.

Miss Mariani is arranging and assisting in the seat sale of the plays and also took part in the pageant of the Assistance League at the Ambassador when it presented "An Old California Wedding" last month.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Tuesday and Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

SWEETBREAD MOUSSE

One pair of sweetbreads, one-half a cupful of chopped walnuts, one tablespoonful of gelatine, one and a quarter cupfuls of sweetbread liquor, the yolks of three eggs, one-half a cupful of whipped cream, one teaspoonful of salt, one-eighth of a teaspoonful of cayenne pepper, clean the sweetbreads, place them in a saucepan and allow to simmer until tender; strain the liquor and to one and one-half cupfuls of it, add the gelatine and heat until the gelatine is dissolved, beat the yolks of the eggs, add the salt and cayenne to them, mix with them half a cupful of the liquor the sweetbreads are boiled in, place in a double boiler and simmer slowly, stirring constantly until the mixture will coat a spoon, add the gelatine to the mixture and allow to cool. Just as it begin to set, add the nuts and fold in the whipped cream. Rinse a mold with cold water, place a portion of the gelatine mixture in it and allow to almost set. Cut the sweetbreads in small pieces and place in the ice box and let stand until solid. Slice and serve on lettuce leaves garnished with mayonnaise, halves of English walnuts and pimientoes.

LEMON PARFAIT

Make one cupful of thick lemon syrup by heating one cupful of sugar with one-half a cupful of water, when the sugar is dissolved, add the grated rind of three lemons, and half a cupful of lemon juice, beat the yolks of two eggs and pour this over the beaten egg yolks, return to the double boiler and simmer slowly until well thickened, remove from the fire, allow to cool, and fold into it two cupfuls of whipped cream. Fill molds that have been wet in cold water with the mixture and place in the refrigerator overnight.

NEAPOLITAN RICE

Three tablespoonfuls of oil, one clove of chopped garlic, two cupfuls of strained tomatoes, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of mace, a seasoning of salt and pepper, one cupful of washed rice, one onion chopped, one-half a cupful of pimiento cheese, two teaspoonfuls of finely chopped parsley, place the oil in a saute pan and when hot, add the well-washed rice, onions and garlic, and stir until the rice has absorbed all of the oil, pour over the strained tomatoes, cover and let cook slowly until the rice is soft, then add the seasonings, and the pimiento cheese.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

YOUR BABY and MINE

by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope, forwarded to this office, will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, ammoniacal urine, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

THE NEW BABY MEANS A TUSSLE WITH THE BUDGET

One of the baffling questions which we are often called upon to answer is the comparative cost of bearing a baby. We wish we had an absolute figure to give young parents who have little idea what to expect or upon what figures to plan. There are no definite figures, because the prices charged by doctors vary according to their reputation and practice and very often according to what the doctor feels the young couple can pay.

The mother who is entirely dependent upon charity fares best in this game, for she gets care—and good care—which is denied the young mother whose pride will not allow her to accept charity. Mrs. T. G. H. wants figures, some kind of figures, and we're going to try and give them to her. The figures given apply to no particular hospital, no particular community, no particular doctor. It is a general estimate gathered from various sources and averaged.

Doctors charge for confinement cases from $50 to $500. Hospital rooms range from $5 to $9 a day in price. Ward rooms range from $2.50 to $3.50 a day. A special nurse costs about $7.50 a day in the hospital and from $45 to $50 a week in the home. This means a registered nurse. A nurse who hasn't finished her hospital training, but is capable of following a doctor's orders, may be hired for about half the above amount.

The use of a delivery room in the hospital costs from $10 to $15 and drugs extra, but these cannot be computed, since the amount needed would differ so materially according to the individual case.

If the mother elects to stay at home she has the doctor's fee, a nurse for ten days or two weeks, and if she has no relative able to take over the burden of housekeeping, she may need a helper for this purpose, since the trained nurse cannot be expected to take care of the mother and baby and do housework, too. One mother thought this very unkind of a nurse getting so much money!

If the mother makes all the baby's clothes and the father enamels tub, basket, toilet basket and clothes racks, the cost of the layet will be small compared to one having the same number of articles, all bought ready made. Using our own prenatal care leaflet as a basis, the clothes and materials, nursery outfits, and drugs listed there can be bought for from $75 to $100, depending on quality of material and the prices paid for nursery furnishings. This does not include a baby buggy.

This isn't an optimistic estimate for the young parents, but it comprises an average outfit, neither very economical nor very luxurious, and gives the young mother good medical care and the two weeks of nursing to which she is entitled.

Bangkok, Siam, claims to have one of the finest water works in the world, it being built by American engineers.

Visiting Broker Foresees Stock Market Revival

Wall street is "beating back," in the opinion of Horace Loeb of Philadelphia, a member of the firm of Newberger, Henderson & Loeb, brokers, with offices in New York, Philadelphia and Lebanon, Pa.

At the Ambassador, where he is enjoying a two-month vacation, Loeb declared that he looks for a return to the former heavy volume of stock trading and to strengthening prices, with many quotations rising to points never before reached.

"Full effect of President Hoover's prosperity drive will become manifest in the spring, I believe," Loeb said.

WHEN THE SANDMAN COMES

by THORNTON W. BURGESS

HOOTY DOES CHATTERER A GOOD TURN

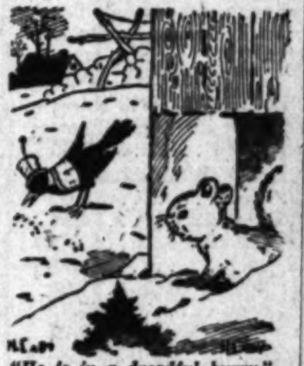
It matters not by whom 'tis done,
A good turn shineth like the sun.
—Chatterer the Red Squirrel

For several mornings Chatterer the Red Squirrel had watched his breakfast of corn disappear down the black throat of Blacky the Crow. Chatterer and Blacky are much alike in one thing—neither likes to be out after dark or to start out before daylight. So usually they arrive at the same time over by Farmer Brown's corncrib to pick up the corn that Timmy the Flying Squirrel had dropped there in the night. Sometimes Chatterer would get there a moment or two ahead of Blacky, which would give him a chance to get two or three grains of corn. Sometimes Blacky would get there first. But after Blacky arrived, Chatterer got no more corn.

Finally there came a morning when it seemed as if the Black Shadows never would go back to the Purple Hills. You see, it was a cloudy morning. So, when Chatterer reached the corncrib it was much darker than usual. Chatterer grinned when he peeped out from under his corncrib and saw that Blacky the Crow had not yet arrived. Chatterer ran out and began to eat corn as fast as ever he could. All the time he kept a watchful eye open for Blacky the Crow. He had no desire to be hit by that stout bill of Blacky's and he knew that if Blacky got the chance he certainly would hit him. The instant he caught sight of Blacky he darted under the corncrib. Blacky alighted and as usual shook out his feathers before beginning to eat. He stood for a moment or two looking keenly in all directions. Then he began to pick up corn.

"He's in a dreadful hurry," thought Chatterer. "He is picking up that corn as if he hadn't a minute to spare. I wonder what ails him. He certainly is nervous. He keeps looking this way and looking that way."

All the time that Chatterer was thinking these things he was scolding as usual. Every morning he had to tell Blacky just what he thought of him. Blacky paid no attention to Chatterer, but appeared to be most uneasy. He was. You see, it didn't get light as fast as usual and Blacky never can feel fully himself until the full light of day. Suddenly, when only half the corn had been eaten, Blacky spread his wings and left in a great hurry. In fact, he made Chatterer stop scolding and stare.



"He is in a dreadful hurry," thought Chatterer

"Something has frightened Blacky," thought Chatterer. "He is a frightened bird if ever I saw one. Yes, sir, he is a frightened bird. There must be some one around. I guess I'll keep under here for a while and keep my tongue still."

So Chatterer did both these things. He kept under the corncrib and he kept his tongue still. At the same time he peeped out and used those bright eyes of his for all they were worth. It was fortunate for Chatterer that he did. He saw something shadowy pass swiftly in the direction Blacky had just taken. Chatterer caught his breath. "Hooty!" he whispered to himself under his breath. "That was Hooty the Owl! Blacky must have seen him. I don't wish Blacky any real harm, but I hope Hooty will drive him away into the Green Forest and keep him there."

Chatterer danced about excitedly underneath the corncrib, but it was a long, long time before he dared to go out to get the remainder of the corn. You see, he didn't know where Hooty might be, and he knew that Hooty would like nothing better for breakfast than a red squirrel. But gradually it grew light, and at last it was so light that there was no chance Hooty would come back. Neither was there any chance that Blacky would come back, for by this time Farmer Brown and Farmer Brown's Boy were up and out. So it was that Hooty the Owl did Chatterer a good turn, for Chatterer had that corn all to himself.

MRS. MAUD MEYERS
460 E. 13th Street, Dubuque, Iowa

"I was all run-down and out of spirits before my third baby was born so I decided to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helped me with all my troubles and gave me an appetite where before I didn't eat at all. I did all of my housework up to the day my baby came, as I am a farmer's wife and could not afford help. I feel just dandy now and I will answer any letters and I will tell every one how good this medicine is."—Mrs. Ira Arnold.

"I read an ad. in the newspaper and I started taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I will recommend this medicine to any woman who is in bad shape like I was. I used to get so tired after a few hours' work that I was even afraid in my own house in the daytime. I didn't care if I lived or died. I have given birth to eight boys and I always feel strong right after, since I have taken the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. Maud Meyers.

WHAT'S THE MATTER WITH THIS Cake Recipe?

You can readily see that sugar is missing from this cake recipe. To be exact—one and one-half cups. What a failure you'd have if you followed the recipe with this single but important ingredient missing.

Too often we are inclined to leave sugar out of our meals. As a result the food is not palatable. This is true of certain vegetables. Yet you can make them appetizing by adding a dash of sugar in cooking. For example, tomatoes, peas, carrots and spinach taste much better when a pinch of sugar is added.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Comfort for Baby

A wool bag to cover baby's bottle while he is drinking will keep the milk from cooling during this important process. The bag has a drawing string at the top and fits quite snugly to the bottle. It also is a help to baby when he begins to hold his own bottle as it is not so slippery for the tiny fingers.

Getting Old

If the worn fur coat is beginning to look particularly shabby, it can be perked up remarkably by hanging over the bath tub, then the hot water turned on and all doors and windows closed, thus allowing the room to fill with steam. Let stay in the steam for twenty minutes, then shake well and hang on the line to dry. You will be surprised how it will take away that shabby look.

Father Charged With "Theft" of His Own Child

A charge of child stealing was filed yesterday against David Divine in a complaint issued by Dep. Dist.-Atty. McIsaacs, which accuses the man of abducting his own 9-months-old son from the home of his estranged wife.

The mother, Mrs. Courtney Divine, charges that her husband came to her residence at 1179 North Heliotrope Drive on the 21st inst. and took the child, David Dusoul Divine, from the custody of its nurse and drove away.

Since then a complaint also was filed against Divine charging him with grand theft of the automobile he is asserted to have used in taking his son from his home.

FARM LAND OIL DAMAGE FEARS FELT

Property Owners Point to Sump Mud Ponds Which May Break Levees

Complaint is being made by various landowners in the Long Beach and Downey districts concerning the danger of beach pollution and serious farm land damage which, it is feared, may arise in case of heavy rains, because of the existence of oil-field mud ponds which have been created along the San Gabriel River bottom about two miles west of Santa Fe Springs.

In a letter to City Manager Buck of Long Beach, Fred H. Bixby of Rancho Los Alamitos asserts that estimates indicate the existence of several feet of oily emulsion floating on the top of about fifteen acres of waste water contained in two ponds.

"I consider this situation a great menace," said Mr. Bixby in his letter. "The damage from the breaking of these levees would run into hundreds of thousands of dollars, not only to the landowners between Telegraph Road and the ocean, but to all the people living along the ocean for miles.

"If there should be an unusual or even a normal rainfall the levees around this lake of oil would break and the contents would be carried through the new San Gabriel River flood control channels and deposited in the bay. Many farms and ranches would be ruined."

It was learned yesterday that the emulsion ponds in question are no part of the skimming system operated by the Santa Fe Springs waste water disposal system owned by the major oil operators in that field. The ponds are said to have been created within the last eighteen months by small contractors who, after assertedly obtaining permission to dump drilling mud on river bottom lands, have contracted with certain oil operators to haul away the contents of their sump holes and dump the material in these ponds.

Many of the larger oil companies are said to have declined to enter into an arrangement to have their drilling mud hauled to these ponds because they are fearful that if high water should wash away the banks of the levees and let the emulsion flow down across farm lands someone would be called upon to pay heavy damages.

While it is not generally believed by many of the oil operators that there is any considerable amount of oil in the mud-filled ponds, some are of the belief that there is sufficient oil there to injure land materially for agricultural purposes in case of an overflow.

GUS EDWARDS'S FAREWELL

A farewell program will be given in honor of Gus Edwards, Monday night in the Blossom Room of the Roosevelt, at which time he and his protege will make what will probably be their last appearance here for some time. Edwards is scheduled to leave the film city shortly with a new revue act with which he will tour the R.-K.-O. vaudeville circuit, and at the Blossom Room Monday the various artists who will accompany him will take part in the program of entertainment. Edwards will, as a special feature, introduce a number of his new "song hits."

HISTORIC ATMOSPHERE

Although built more than 150 years ago by Indians, the La Ramada Inn, Huntington Drive at San Gabriel Boulevard, San Marino, has been restored and made comfortable for present-day requirements. No crumbling walls nor neglected corners are apparent, but the same old Spanish atmosphere and hospitality still prevail. Luncheons are enjoyed under great oak trees in the garden throughout the winter, and dinners that are culinary delights are served within adobe walls by candlelight.

MATINEE TEA DANCES

Saturday matinee tea dances will be inaugurated tomorrow at the Montmartre Cafe, Hollywood, with Gus Arnheim and his famous Victor recording orchestra rendering a special group of latest ballroom numbers.

Arnheim and his orchestra have just returned here from an extentive tour of Europe, during which they played revue and hotel engagements in London, Paris, Monte Carlo and Deauville.

NEW TUXEDOS WORN

Prince of Wales tuxedos, latest fad for evening wear in London, have been specially tailored for Johnny Hamp's Serenaders, now playing at the Cocoanut Grove at the Ambassador. The nobility and the stage leading men of the Mayfair colony in London have adopted this style of tuxedo, which was originally introduced by the Prince of Wales at a fashionable supper club.

Pair Escape as Plane Burns Up

Chief Pilot Peyton Gibson of Curtiss Wright Flying Service and G. L. McMurrin, a passenger, yesterday narrowly escaped injury when their plane backfired and burst into flames as they took off from a field at Amboy, where they had landed to refuel on a return trip from Mojave. As the flames enveloped them Capt. Gibson set the ship down, and the two leaped to safety. The plane was demolished.

In a mishap at the Municipal Airport, a Curtiss Robin plane was stripped of a wing. Ted Scoff, student pilot, had just landed when a training plane operated by a student of another company sideswiped it. Neither pilot was injured.

SNOWBALL WAR VETERAN FREED

Warm Spell Said to Have Influenced Court to Leniency

Temperature yesterday played a part in winning a suspended sentence for Alfonso Moreno, who appeared in traffic court to answer charges against him.

Municipal Judge Bush had just ordered the windows of his courtroom opened for coolness when Moreno appeared before him for plea. "You are accused of throwing snowballs," the judge read, eying the complaint carefully. It charges that Moreno "did throw a snowball capable of causing personal injury and damage to property."

Moreno pleaded guilty, explaining that he was having a snow fight with friends near Mt. San Antonio. When he declared that snowballs were not thrown at anyone outside of his own party the judge suspended a $20 fine.

HIGH SCHOOLS GIVE DIPLOMAS

Commencement Week to End With Exercises Tonight

System Graduates Total of 2530 Pupils

Modern Youth Given Warm Praise by Speaker

Commencement week of the Los Angeles high school system will be ended tonight with the holding of graduation exercises in five high schools, and 2530 boys and girls from twenty-seven high schools will have been qualified to enter the next phase of their educational career or to go out into the business world as exemplars of the training received in the Los Angeles schools.

Last night graduation ceremonies were conducted at Hollywood High, which had a class of 181 graduates; James A. Garfield High, where forty-two students received diplomas; North Hollywood High, which graduated twenty-eight students; and Phineas Banning High, whose graduating class numbered eleven.

NEW YOUTH LAUDED

The exercises at Hollywood High were conducted in the Memorial Auditorium. Diplomas were presented to the ninety-one boys and ninety girls in the graduating class by E. E. Calvin of the Board of Education.

"Flaming youth films are a libel upon the youth of today," declared Reynold E. Blight, State franchise tax commissioner, who delivered the chief address. "Despite the croakings of pessimists and cynics," he continued, "the young people of today are more honest, more industrious and more responsible than the young people of any previous generation; and they are subject to greater and more subtle temptations. We must not allow the follies of a few blind us to the virtues of the multitude.

"Popular education," he said, "is giving us a new world and the young people now in our high schools and universities are going to clean up civilization."

Civil Service Inquiry Asked

Councilman Ingram yesterday introduced a resolution asking that the Efficiency and Personnel Committee investigate the asserted action in waiving the residence rule in civil service examinations. The matter was sent to the committee.

Councilman Ingram pointed out that the action of the Civil Service Commission is attracting outsiders to the city, when the positions should be reserved for citizens.

MEMORIAL RITES FOR PLANE VICTIM SUNDAY

Memorial services for George S. Eastman, one of the five unrecovered victims of the Fox Film Company airplane disaster off Point Vicente, will be conducted at 2 p.m. Sunday in the First Methodist Episcopal Church of Hollywood, Hillcrest and Franklin avenues, the widow, Mrs. Ruth Eastman, announced yesterday.

WARNERS SIGN YOUNG SINGER

Victor Herbert's "Fortune Teller" Will be Screened; Grinde Stays With M.-G.-M.; Codirects "Good News;" Regis Toomey Loaned by Paramount to Fox

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

In these days of radical changes in pictures it is to be expected that many interesting discoveries in the way of voices and acting talent will be made.

So we aren't in the least surprised to learn that when a good-looking young man named Milton Douglas walked into the Warner Brothers studio and revealed himself as an excellent actor, with one of the finest baritone voices heard in these parts, he was instantly signed by the Warners on a contract.

While his contract is only for a role in "Viennese Nights," it is understood that he will be signed on a long-term agreement if his work in that picture is satisfactory.

Douglas is from New York, is described as a handsome youth, and has had experience as a singer in New York, in concert and in church work, but has never been on the stage. However, he gives every promise of developing into a good actor.

And while we are speaking of "Viennese Nights," we are anxious to announce also the important fact that the Los Angeles Symphony Orchestra has been signed to appear in that production.

FIRST NATIONAL BUYS HERBERT OPERETTA

If anyone has been thinking by any chance that he has heard the last of the Victor Herbert operas he is very much mistaken.

First National is obtaining the rights to those beautiful musical creations, one by one.

Now it is "The Fortune Teller," one of the most tuneful of the brilliant composer's works, which is to be made into a musical picture by the above-named concern, according to the announcement of Hal Wallis.

The production is to be filmed completely in Technicolor and is to contain all the musical hits of the stage version, including the familiar "Gypsy Love Song." The operetta was revived with great success last season in New York.

No cast or director is yet announced, but we are promised the very best along this line.

Nick Grinde With M.-G.-M.

NICK GRINDE

Nick Grinde is going to keep right on with his work in the directorial vineyard of art as exemplified at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios.

The director has been signed to a new long-term contract by that organization.

His first work under his new agreement will be to codirect "Good News" with Edgar MacGregor.

It isn't merely as a director that Grinde is known. He has also written a number of magazine articles, his latest one being entitled, "Where Is Vaudeville At?"

Regis Toomey With Fox

"In Love with Love" promises to boast one of the best casts which the Fox lot has known.

REGIS TOOMEY

Now it is Regis Toomey who has been loaned to Fox by Paramount, to play a featured role in the Vincent Lawrence play.

As you remember, other principals in the cast will be Joan Bennett, Kenneth MacKenna, Sharon Lynn and Lumsden Hare. George Middleton is associate producer. Continuity and dialog are by Marion Orth. Joan Bennett has been borrowed from United Artists for the present role.

Nancy Carroll Comes Home

Settling down to hard work immediately is what Nancy Carroll is planning to do. Miss Carroll returns today from a vacation in Honolulu, where she has been whiling away her time during the past few weeks.

Miss Carroll, it will be remembered, has the leading feminine role in "The Devil's Holiday."

Betty Compson Takes Trip

Going and coming so quickly that no one knew anything about it, Betty Compson a fortnight ago slipped quietly out of town, and went back to her native Salt Lake City for a visit with old friends and relatives.

Now Miss Compson is back at home with her husband, James Cruze, in Flintridge, and is preparing to play the role of Cherry Malotte in Rex Beach's "The Spoilers," which Paramount is to produce.

Two Popular Actors Return

Two favorite actors are back in Hollywood, following theatrical tours.

FRITZ FELD

Fritz Feld has returned from his tour with Morris Gest's "The Miracle," which has been preaching its gospel of art and beauty to the more or less benighted one-night stands of the Middle West and South, and is quite ready for whatever nice thing may befall him in the way of a good film role.

And not going too far from the sublime of the Gest art to the rediculous of vaudeville, Franklyn Farnum, who once was a Universal star, has returned from a tour of the eastern variety houses.

Helen Johnson Cast

It looks as though Helen Johnson will not see her native New York for some time to come.

Brought west by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to play a leading role in "The Song Writer," Miss Johnson no sooner had finished her role in that picture than she was assigned to a featured role with Norma Shearer in "The Divorcee," which Robert Leonard is directing.

Chester Morris appears opposite Miss Shearer in her new talker, and the supporting cast includes Conrad Nagel, Robert Montgomery, Helene Millard, Zelda Sears, Mary Doran, Tyler Brooke and Robert Elliott.

Miss Johnson's last appearance on Broadway was in "The Brass Ring."

Spoor and Berggren Depart

Messrs. George K. Spoor and P. John Berggren, inventors of the Spoor-Berggren wide-film process, left for New York last night after having spent several days at the R.-K.-O. studios, where they supervised the installation of the projection apparatus for the new wide-film theater recently built there.

This wide film process will be first used in producing "Dixiana."

BLACK CROWS HAVE HAIR CURLED OFTEN

Twice a day Moran and Mack have their hair curled and dressed without being present during the operation. The curling and hair dressing is done by a make-up man and the work is performed upon four kinky wigs.

During their work on their second Paramount starring picture, "Two Black Crows in the A.E.F.," the comedians each wear a wig a half-day and then exchange it for another freshly kinked one for the remainder of the day, since the curl comes out of the artificial hair during work on the set.

MANN-ACT VIOLATION COMPLAINT ISSUED

In a complaint issued yesterday by United States Commissioner Head, Jess Saldana, alias Joe Ybarra, is accused of violation of the Mann Act by transporting Marie Lujan from Salt Lake City to Los Angeles on August 15, 1929. Saldana, who is being held in the City Jail, will be arraigned today.

"GHOSTS" AT UPTOWN

"Three Live Ghosts," which opens today at the Uptown Theater, will start the policy of first district showings of new screen attractions. This means that the Uptown will offer talking productions immediately following their downtown showing. "Three Live Ghosts" will continue until Sunday night, presented with sound shorts and Fox Movietone News.

EX-MINER IN PICTURE

WRITER ENGAGED

Pierre Collings has been engaged by the Paramount Long Island studios to write the continuity for "Dangerous Nan McGrew," the screen play, which will be launched at the Astoria plant late this month with Helen Kane heading the cast.

ACTOR CAST

Lucien Littlefield has joined the Fox forces and is enacting the featured character role in the Janet Gaynor-Charles Farrell production, "High Society Blues." David Butler, who guided this team in their previous success, is to direct.

APPLES UNDER SECT BAN

Witnesses Testify Mrs. Blackburn Shunned Fruit Because of Adam's Experience

Mrs. Emily Johnson, also known as the "Eternal Circle of Taste," and her daughter, Mrs. Dorothy Miller, "The Threshing Floor," were the two chief witnesses yesterday at the trial of May Otis Blackburn, founder of her own religion and charged in Superior Judge Fricke's court with ten counts of grand theft.

Both women testified that their odd pseudonyms were given them by Mrs. Blackburn as the result of "concords," of harmonious vibrations indulged in by the religious leader.

Mrs. Johnson was secretary and custodian of the funds of the "Divine Order of the Royal Arms of the Great Eleven," an order established within the Blackburn church, and as such testified that no money was paid out for apples for members who lived at their headquarters in the Santa Susanna Hills. Mrs. Blackburn decreed the ban on apples, the witness said, by pointing out Adam's unfortunate experience with the same fruit.

Mrs. Miller testified that her concord name was established partly through her last name, Miller being identified with threshing.

"I was to separate the chaff from the pure grain," she declared.

Under questioning by Defense Attorney Cochran, both women denied that Clifford Dabney, complaining witness, was induced to give Mrs. Blackburn money through misrepresentation. They declared that Dabney was obsessed with the idea that he was a divine being and insisted upon being called "father." They declared that money given Mrs. Blackburn was spent for the benefit of the whole church, and that Dabney declared his gifts were because of his interest in the spiritual side of "the work," and that he expected no material gain.

PHILHARMONIC SWINGS TO NEW

Modernistic Works Feature Orchestra Concert

Russ Symphony Jazz Suite Produced by Rodzinski

Josef Borisoff Soloist of Current Program

BY EDWIN SCHALLERT

Two "first performances in Los Angeles" distinguished the Philharmonic Orchestra concert last evening. Nicholas Miaskowsky's Symphony No. 6, Op. 23, and Louis Gruenberg's "Jazz"—suite for orchestra, Op. 28, had their initial hearing.

Pre-eminent necessarily these premieres were, though a rather large share of interest seemingly also went to the appearance of Josef Borisoff, concertmaster, as soloist. He was applauded warmly for his rendition of the Tschaikowsky concerto for violin in D major, which occupied an unusual location at the close of the program. It was doubtless there placed in order not to break the continuity of moderns, for the Gruenberg suite followed the Miaskowsky symphony.

Dr. Artur Rodzinski conducted the concert, which was given before a large audience at Philharmonic Auditorium. The program was scarcely the first evidence of his progressive intentions this season, but went further perhaps into the newer fields than any previous one. I note that the next concert, too, embarks on even more extended pioneering, with unusual De Falla and Prokofieff works listed for presentation, and Prokofieff himself as soloist.

DARING PRODUCTIONS

Certainly neither the Miaskowsky nor the Gruenberg compositions left aught wanting in the way of startling harmonies, nor, if one can still call them that, dissonances. Both are aggressive works and will attract more by their note of dramatic novelty than by their mere pleasureableness. The audience reception was not unfavorable to either, although the ovation was reserved at the outset.

I would say that Gruenberg's "Jazz" had a bit the better of the popular approval, largely perhaps because it could be more lightly accepted than the Miaskowsky symphony. Never, it may be said, did two modernistic creations have less in common.

As a symphony in formal style Miaskowsky's No. 6 may have its faults, but it is distinctly a feverish and positive, if not a wholly inspired, enterprise. Dark, overcast, and yet with a molten something to mark it apart from the throng of attempts at symphonies, this creation of the newer Russian school at least possesses individuality, and an elemental urge that are worth more than passing attention.

I think there is at times more excitement and activity in the instrumental unfoldment than is necessary, and a lack of invention in the development of the themes, and in the transitions, but unquestionably there is a spirit and a crude unrestraint and variety about the musical thoughts as projected that invoke a degree of admiration. If the work palls at all it is because of its almost too frenetic vigor.

Gruenberg's "Jazz" is more an impression of jazz than jazz itself. Nobody, outside of a highly esthetic interpreter, would attempt to dance to its fox trot and its Boston waltz. The suite could never be called a bow toward banality, despite that excuses are apparently made for the presence of a composition called "Jazz" on this symphony program.

JAZZ IMPRESSIONS

This suite is a very spectroscopic revealing of its subject and theme—more concerned apparently with an analysis of the color of jazz than its actual contours. Of all the quartet of movements, the one-step is the most definite. The whole is instrumentally variegated, and consequently interesting, though perhaps not consumingly so.

Placed against these two modernistic excursions was curiously enough Gluck's Overture, to "Iphigenia in Aulis." Rodzinski would seem to go to ample lengths for a high light, and, it must be noted, played this poetic emanation from the classical fount with genuine expressiveness. I am not so sure it did not afford the most musically satisfying moments of the evening.

For his generalship in the production of the two new compositions Dr. Rodzinki deserves manifest credit. They were exacting on all the resources of conductorship, and also those of the orchestra. Certainly there will be improvements upon a second rendition. That goes without saying. It may be added these ventures into the new are abundantly gratifying.

Mr. Borisoff in his playing of the violin concerto by Tschaikowsky exhibited excellent technical attainments, especially in the first and second movements of the work. Marred very slightly by a false harmonic and double stop at the start, the cadenza at the end of the opening Allegro moderato acquired marked distinction thereafter. That, and a well modulated presentation of certain of the lovelier passages of the Andante, were attractive high spots of his rendition of a concerto that is a test because well known, and because also still obviously difficult. One could especially desire more breadth of tone on the upper strings when he plays; his lower tones have quality. The favorable general impression he made was reflected in the applause of the audience.

Actress Finds Way to Collect Wayward Books

Myra Hubert, who is appearing in "It Pays to Advertise," believes in the title of the play. She has found a new way to get back books that she has loaned and friends have forgotten to return.

"Advertise for them," says the youthful actress, who is seen with Robert McWade and the Henry Duffy Players in the farce comedy at the Hollywood Playhouse.

She placed a want ad in the newspapers as follows: "Borrowers of books from my library will please return them to Myra Hubert," and added her street address.

Comedy Tells Trials of Jurymen

Mary Boland

Noted comedienne, returns to the local stage at El Capital Sunday as guest star with the Henry Duffy Players in "Ladies of the Jury."

"SACRED FLAME" TO OPEN

"The Sacred Flame," starring Pauline Frederick with Conrad Nagel as the featured player, opens a week's engagement at Warner Brothers' Theater in Hollywood at the matinee today.

In the story, Miss Frederick is the mother of Conrad Nagel, who, on the day of his marriage is so severely injured that he is doomed to spend the rest of his life in a wheel chair. Life is not wholly unhappy for him, however, on account of the devotion of his young wife.

Three years after the accident the invalid's brother comes to England on a visit from his home in South America, and the shadow of the eternal triangle falls over the household. And three months later, on the eve of the brother's return to South America, the invalid is mysteriously murdered.

The solution of this tragic mystery brings to "The Sacred Flame" a stirring denouement, it is said. In addition to Conrad Nagel, the supporting cast includes Lila Lee, William Courtenay, Walter Byron, Alec B. Francis and Dale Fuller. Archie L. Mayo directed.

Loew's State Offers "Eyes" Idea on Stage

The Loew's State program is divided this week between a bright, swiftly moving Fanchon and Marco revue and the feature picture, "Not So Dumb."

The "Eyes" idea is capitalized in the stage presentation. Upon the huge and glittering back drop, two enormous eyes look dramatically out upon the audience while giddy painted eyes peep from the gay-colored costumes of the dancing girls.

One of the snappiest numbers of the offering comes, naturally enough, from George Stoll and his band. It is "Singin' in the Bathtub," played in orchestral variations and with the members of the band draping bath towels about their necks and bathing caps upon their sleekly combed heads of hair.

The Candreva Brothers turn out to be six lads who not only dance and sing but play the cornet in chorus fashion. Don Carroll is a pleasant-voiced singer.

There was a smart rag doll dance from some one whose name remains a mystery and some juggling and performing from a trio of Japanese whose names were unprogrammed.

The feature, "Not So Dumb," is an adaptation of the old stage play, "Dulcy," by George S. Kauffman and Marc Connelly, and is enacted by a troupe of actors numbering Marion Davies, Elliott Nugent, Raymond Hackett, Julia Faye, Franklin Pangborn and others. Donald Ogden Stewart, the humorous writer, plays a supposedly funny role. King Vidor directed.

"Bambina" Has Newest Type of Stage Villain

Russell Scott is rapidly winning a west coast following with his tenor voice and ability to portray the dashing type of "heavy" who is pleasantly conspiring, without losing the sympathy of his audience.

Scott portrays the role of Atavio in "Bambina," the new operetta which opens with a gala premiere at the Mayan Theater Monday night. "Bambina" is a story of the gayety of Venetian carnival days, and gives Scott a very picturesque character to portray.

"Bambina" is being presented by Daniel C. Blum under the staging of Edward Royce, who directed "Sally," "Irene," "Kid Boots" and "Rio Rita" in New York. The all-star cast cofeatures Nancy Welford and Al St. John, with Marie Wells, Ernest Wood, Laurel Nemeth, Wilbur Evans, Russell Scott, Hedley Hall and Fred Walton in support.

'Sunny Side Up' in Popular Run

The well known songs, stars and spectacular settings were screened again yesterday at the Boulevard Theater with Janet Gaynor and Charles Farrell in "Sunny Side Up." This musical comedy romance is having its first popular showing.

De Silva Brown and Henderson wrote the book, lyrics and melodies for the picture. The supporting cast consists of El Brendel, Sharon Lynn, Marjorie White and Frank Richardson. Fox Movietone News and Slim Martin with his Boulevard Band complete the program.

DOWNTOWN READY FOR PREMIERE

"Son of Gods," Starring Richard Barthelmess, to Start at Midnight

One of the largest casts ever assembled for a talking picture will be seen and heard in "Son of the Gods," the new First National starring production for Richard Barthelmess which opens with a gala midnight premiere at Warner's Downtown tomorrow.

The Barthelmess support is headed by Constance Bennett, who plays the feminine lead. Miss Bennett is a daughter of Richard Bennett, celebrated stage star. Other important roles are played by Mildred Van Dorn, Anders Randolf and Geneva Mitchell.

Bradley King adapted the novel to the screen. It concerns the life of an American boy reared by a Chinese patriarch under the impression that he is himself of Chinese origin. The production has several scenes in Technicolor.

'Give and Take' Made to Order for Comedians

"Give and Take," stage comedy in which Kolb and Dill will appear at the President Sunday, is the eighty-seventh full-length piece in which they have starred on the Pacific Coast.

Kolb and Dill will appear as guest stars with the Henry Duffy Players. "Give and Take" was written especially for them by Aaron Hoffman who also penned "Now and Then" for their use. It treats of the humorous aspects of the capital and labor question, and in it C. William Kolb will appear as John Bauer, the head of a California fruit cannery, while Max M. Dill will be Albert Flower, his foreman and lifelong friend.

In the supporting cast will be found Anne Cornwall in the chief feminine role of Marion Flower, James Bush, John G. Fee and Harry Hollingsworth.

Gripping Story New Feature on Filmarte Bill

Seldom has a picture been so simply, directly and movingly photographed, it is said, as the latest UFA production to come to the Filmarte Theater, "The Trial of Donald Westhof," which starts today.

This is a glorified detective story, with adventure and suspense culminating in a gripping courtroom scene. The picture, filmed at the Berlin studios, has a German setting and relates the futile efforts of a boy to grapple with the world's obstacles.

While Imre Raday, as Donald, dominates the picture, the others of the cast offer consistent portrayals. An old-time comedy, "A Safe Proposition," starring Ben Turpin, is an added feature on the program.

DUAL TALKIE ROLE MEETS WITH FAVOR

Jack Mulhall Appears as Policeman and Gangster in "Dark Streets"

BY JOHN SCOTT

"Dark Streets," a First National picture, started a week's run yesterday at the R.-K.-O. Theater and presented as its outstanding feature what is said to be the first dual talking film role. Jack Mulhall essays the two characters, one as Pat McGlone, policeman, and the other as Danny McGlone, gangster.

This pioneering effort by First National is made with splendid effect. In the past few years there have been few dual roles, even in silent pictures, and with the added problem solved of synchronizing dialogue to the character speaking and also in the scenes where both are in conversation the studio has made a valuable contribution to the talking screen. Frank Lloyd is responsible for the direction.

"Dark Streets" is based on the story by Richard Connell and depicts the conflict between the two brothers, policeman and gangster. Both are courting the same girl, Lila Lee, and in addition are enemies in so far as the law is concerned.

The sacrifice by the gangster for the policeman provides the final denoument and is cleverly worked out. Danny takes the place of Pat, who is supposed to cover the warehouse district and who is to be "taken for a ride" by the criminals.

Love interest is pushed into the background in "Dark Streets," although it is sufficient to carry the story. The photography is commendable, especially in the sequences which depict the conversation of the two brothers. First National has evidently perfected the method of taking such scenes or synchronizing them, for the illusion is as near perfect as possible.

Jack Mulhall portrays the difficult dual role to good advantage, with the policeman characterization perhaps receiving the honors. His sympathetic portrayal of good-natured Pat is nicely done, while as Danny, the gangster, Mulhall tends to overact a bit. Perhaps this is due to the harshness of the character played.

Lila Lee is the charming heroine. While she is given more or less of a secondary character due to the theme, Miss Lee holds up her reputation as a versatile and talented performer. She is rapidly becoming known as the young lady who never gives a bad portrayal. Minor parts are suitably handled by Aggie Herring, the Irish lady with the temper, and Earl Pingree, Will Walling, E. H. Calvert and Maurice Black.

"Odds and Ends" is the title of the stage show this week. Sidney Marion, comedian, is featured with Chic Kennedy and a host of other persons, including Kathryn Irwin, Leonard Sillman, Billy Gibson, Karen and Xande and Florence Simonson. The revue is well staged by George Choos. It contains singing, dancing, clowning and what not.

Paramount to Arrange Gala Matinee Show

Another gala Monday afternoon matinee is planned at the Paramount Theater. This event proved so successful last week when a capacity crowd witnessed Maurice Chevalier in "The Love Parade" and so many requests have been made to repeat it that the theater management has agreed to sponsor another affair.

An autographed photograph of Maurice Chevalier, the European stage favorite, is given to every patron who attends this performance. In the evening, members of the French colony will honor their countryman, Chevalier, by attending en masse. Henri Didot, French Consul, will be the honored guest.

"The Love Parade" is still proving the greatest attraction yet to play on Paramount's talking screen. It is an Ernst Lubitsch production. Supporting Chevalier is Jeanette MacDonald, Lupino Lane, Lillian Roth, Eugene Pallette, Ben Turpin and Lionel Belmore.

Colored Player Starts Career as Bootblack

After twelve years as the studio bootblack, during which he waited patiently for the proverbial "break," William Allen Garrison, better known as "Slickem," finally was rewarded when preparations were made for the filming of King Vidor's "Hallelujah," now playing at the Fox Palace Theater.

Not only was he assigned to a prominent role as villain in the film, which features a cast composed entirely of colored players, but, because of his familiarity with studio operations, was made second assistant director.

Daniel Haynes, principal of the stage production, "Show Boat," is seen in the leading role. Nina Mae McKinney, star of Harlem shows, plays opposite.

Screen Musical Will Start at Orpheum Soon

Los Angeles will be the second city in the country to see First National's screen version of the musical comedy success "No, No, Nanette," which is now enjoying its world premiere in New York and which is scheduled to open at the Orpheum here Wednesday.

The new screen musical will present for the first time a new pair of film lovers who, it is predicted, will win the hearts of audiences. They are Bernice Claire and Alexander Gray, both of whom have won laurels on the musical comedy stage.

"Hit the Deck," which is now in it sixth week at the Orpheum, will be given its finals showings Tuesday night.

MEXICO CORPSE ENIGMA GROWS

Body Found in Ditch May be Baumgarteker's

Deputies Expect it to Solve Wine Man Mystery

Identity as Husband Doubted by Mrs. Loveland

Mystery surrounding the identification of the body of a man found in an irrigation ditch near Cuervos, Mex., and believed at first to be the body of J. W. Paul Loveland, missing Pasadena architect, deepened last night, when authorities here expressed a belief that the corpse may be that of Frank Baumgarteker, wealthy Los Angeles wine merchant.

In an effort to establish definitely the identity and possibly solve the the riddle of the disappearance of the vineyardist, Chief Investigator O'Brien of the office of Dist.-Atty. Fitts hurried photographs and dental charts of Baumgarteker to police authorities at Yuma, Ariz.

The descriptive matter was forwarded to Sheriff Hunter and Chief of Police Levy of the Arizona town with a request that they make an immediate investigation to ascertain if the body is that of the missing vineyardist.

IDENTIFICATION DOUBTED

Shortly after the badly decomposed body was removed from a shallow grave, where it had been buried by Mexicans who found it floating in a canal, it was identified as that of Loveland. Doubt was cast on this identification when Mrs. Loveland declared that glasses found on the body do not fit the description of those worn by her missing husband.

The Yuma authorities also announced that their identification of the body as Loveland was based on dental charts. Mrs. Loveland pointed out yesterday that her husband's dental charts are in a safety deposit box in a Pasadena bank, and that no authentic teeth descriptions have been released to the police officials.

Scores of telegrams of condolence from friends who have read accounts of the definite identification were received by Mrs. Loveland yesterday, but she insists that she is not at all certain that it is her husband.

A slight delay in bringing the body across the border line to Yuma was caused yesterday when health authorities failed to sign the necessary papers. The delay was only temporary, as permission for the removal already has been granted by the Mexican officials.

DEPUTIES CONFIDENT

Further effort to settle definitely the identity will be made as soon as the body reaches Yuma, Sheriff Hunter said. Despite Mrs. Loveland's expressions of doubt, sheriff deputies announced again yesterday that it is their belief, from descriptions given by the wife and friends of the missing man, that the body is that of Loveland.

Baumgarteker disappeared from his home here on November 25, last. Two days later his expensive automobile was found in a San Diego garage, where it had been stored for the night by a man who has never been identified, but who was not the missing vineyardist.

No clew as to the whereabouts of the owner of three vineyards and a bonded warehouse for the storage of wines and brandy has been uncovered, although the search has been extensive.

When he left his business partner, following lunch, he completely dropped from sight of friends and acquaintances. The auto, which he drove from a parking station, was returned here by police. It was carefully searched, but failed to reveal a solution of the disappearance.

LETTER RECEIVED

Mrs. Baumgarteker received a letter from San Diego the day following the discovery of the auto. She declared it to be in the handwriting of her husband, and police experts expressed the belief that it was written either under compulsion or intoxication. It was not phrased in his usual manner of writing to his wife.

Loveland disappeared from a Yuma auto camp December 21, last. He sent his wife a postcard saying he was starting on a fishing trip. No more was heard from him.

A private investigation disclosed his fishing supplies and extra clothing in his car at Yuma, and that the last time Loveland was seen he was going into Mexico with two unidentified men.

Friends do not believe that Loveland took his own life. Authorities investigating the possibility of murder also are considering the chance that he may have gone to the Laguna Dam reservoir near Yuma, slipped into the water and drowned.

A reward of $1000 has been offered by friends of Loveland for him, dead or alive. A like amount has been posted by Mrs. Baumgarteker for his recovery.

patient's case—the history as told to him by Pantages—while in the latter he based his conclusion on a personal examination of Pantages's present condition.

Davis declared last night that the affidavits as presented to Judge Fricke will be submitted to the Court of Appeal without change.

CHILDREN PRESENT

Pantages was not present in court at any time during yesterday's or Wednesday's sessions. His daughter, Carmen, and sons, Lloyd and Rodney, however, were present. They colored when Judge Fricke referred to the efforts of the family to influence the court's decision, particularly when Judge Fricke declared he was certain that the Pantages attorneys were not aware at any time of these asserted efforts and that it was purely a family affair.

The first petition for Pantages's removal was denied on December 27, 1929. Pantages is appealing from the verdict on which he was sentenced one to fifty years in San Quentin for attacking Eunice Pringle, young dancer.

Testimony and affidavits from seven physicians were taken during the last hearing. It was pointed out during the proceedings that Pantages weighs 114 pounds. It was asserted by three of Pantages's physicians that their patient is suffering from heart disease.

Other physician witnesses, however, declared they could not establish the asserted heart disease and declared that Pantages can, if he is ailing, be treated as competently in jail as at his home or in a private hospital.

PAYMENT OF DAM CLAIMS AUTHORIZED

Supervisors Vote Sum of $734,986 to Settle With Contractors

Payment to the dam contractors of $734,986 from the $25,000,000 bond-issue money voted to build a 450-foot dam at the forks in the canyon of the San Gabriel River was voted by the County Board of Supervisors, sitting as Supervisors of the Los Angeles county flood-control district yesterday.

This is the sum agreed on after the contractors, Fisher, Ross, MacDonald & Kahn, made claims of $4,290,000 damages last week.

More than $3,000,000 claimed as expectant profits from completion of the job was lopped off as was about $200,000 more in claims for rental of equipment idle after the contract was canceled, and in a correction of figures on earth excavated and loosened for excavation.

Work on the San Gabriel dam was stopped after State Engineer Hyatt and a board of experts condemned the site as unsuitable to support a 450-foot dam structure.

Next Monday the Supervisors will vote from the flood-control money, the further sum of $92,779 in payment for buildings and other equipment used by the contractors at the dam site.

Boy Killed by Falling From Load of Sand

Jackie Jacobs, 6 years of age, of 1114 Maple street, Torrance, was injured fatally yesterday when he fell from a trailer being towed by an automobile near the intersection of East Road and Normandie street, Torrance.

With Mona Carlin, 9, a playmate, the boy was riding on top of a load of sand in the trailer in tow of an automobile driven by J. E. Bool, 1014 Maple street, when he is believed to have lost his balance and fallen to the pavement, according to a Sheriff's report. He was rushed by Bool to the Torrance Memorial Hospital, where he died of a fractured skull a short while later.

Bool, according to Capt. Neighbors of the Vermont-avenue substation, stated that he was en route from Redondo Beach, where the sand had been obtained for the children to play in at home, when the accident occurred.

An inquest into the death of the child, who lived with his grandmother, Mrs. L. Armstrong, is scheduled for today at 1:30 p.m. at the undertaking parlors of Stone & Meyers, Torrance.

TOKIO HOP IN OFFING

Bromley Orders Plane Like Lindbergh's for New Attempt to Span Pacific Alone

Lieut. Harold Bromley yesterday placed an order for a Lockheed-Sirius monoplane in which he will attempt to span the Pacific alone between Tacoma, Wash., and Tokio, Japan, next spring.

Work will start immediately on the giant low-winged ship, specially designed by Lockheed engineers to carry 750 gallons of gasoline. It will be completed within sixty days, with the Tacoma take-off scheduled a short time later.

The new ship will be the same type as the one recently purchased by Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh.

Instead of having two cockpits, however, it will be built for solo flying, the space taken up by the extra cockpit of the Lindbergh plane to be utilized for extra fuel tanks.

The ship will be powered by a 300-horsepower Junior Wasp motor, with an estimated fuel consumption of from twelve to fourteen gallons an hour for the 4700-mile nonstop hop from Tacoma to the Orient. A forty-one-foot wingspread will be called on to lift the giant load Bromley deems necessary to get him across the ocean.

This will be Bromley's third ship built for the Tokio flight—the first one ground-looping before he could take off at Tacoma early last summer and the second crashing in a test flight a short time later.

Bromley came here yesterday from El Paso, Tex., to order the plane for the flight that is being backed by the Tacoma Chamber of Commerce. He has been flying on an air line between El Paso and Mexico City and plans to return to El Paso tomorrow.

JAPANESE TREE GIFT FORBIDDEN

Department of Quarantine Refuses Permit for 100 Cherry Shrubs

An offer by K. Mutow, Japanese, of 2943 East Second street, to obtain from his native land 100 cherry blossom trees and donate them to the park department, "as a token of his appreciation for hospitable treatment he has received during thirty-four years in Los Angeles," has been frowned on by the plant quarantine division of the Department of Agriculture in Washington, D. C.

The Park Commission had accepted the offer and directed Supt. Shearer to obtain the necessary permission for the importation of the trees. Shearer read a telegram from the plant quarantine and control administration as follows at yesterday's meeting of the Park Board:

"No importation of flowering cherries from Japan permitted for any purpose."

WOMAN'S DEATH BY GAS LAID TO SUICIDE

NEW TALKIE CONTRACTS CONSIDERED

Conferences Under Way to Change Conditions for Free-Lance Film Artists

Conferences are under way to amend the standard form of contract for free-lance artists in Hollywood to meet the new demands from talking pictures, according to announcement made yesterday by William C. De Mille, president of the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences. The academy is acting as a medium of contact between members of the actors' branch of the committee and a nonmember group of actors, and a committee comprised of producer representatives.

The original so-called standard form of contract was approved two years ago and has been universally used since.

"The original contract has been twice amended and this present revision is carrying out the policy of making alterations and improvements from time to time as production conditions change, due to the rapid development of the new art of the talking picture," De Mille said. "The purpose of the two groups is to bring the new contract up to date in its provisions and procure, so far as humanly possible, the utmost fairness in working conditions, equitable and just to both actors and producers."

At the same time Frank Woods, secretary of the academy, announced six new members have been admitted to the organization. These include H. B. Franklin, president of Fox West Coast Theaters; Louis Gerard Pacent, equipment inventor and manufacturer; Sam Hardy and Lawrence Grant, actors; Carl Dreher, sound director, R.-K.-O. studios, and Arthur L. Von Kirbach, sound department, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

TEMPLE ELECTS LEADER

Wurtzel who was made honorary life president. Services are conducted at the temple every Friday evening. This evening Rabbi Isadore Isaacson will preach on "Judaism and Modern Futilism, a Comparison of the Religion of the Jews with the Philosophy of Sigmund Freud."

LIVES OF FOUR SAVED BY INHALATOR SQUADS

After working tirelessly for seventeen days, four hours and forty minutes to save the life of Aubrey Underhill, 4 years of age, members of inhalator squad No. 1 of the fire department yesterday were rewarded for their efforts when the child was pronounced out of danger and on the road to recovery. Three additional recoveries, although not as spectacular as the Underhill case, were reported during the day for other squads.

Aubrey, daughter of Aubrey P. Underhill, a city fireman of 4945 Navarro street, was declared critically ill of pneumonia on the 12th inst. At 2:15 a.m. on the 13th inst. the inhalator squad began the work of alleviating the child's laborious breathing. At 6:55 a.m. yesterday, attending physicians announced the apparatus no longer would be needed. During the operation the firemen used thirty-one tanks, containing 6758 cubic feet of oxygen.

Recovery of Howard Lalfman, 4, of 342½ North Spaulding avenue, also was reported yesterday as a result of 220 hours, forty-two minutes' work by inhalator squad No. 2. Pneumonia had filled the child's lungs, making natural breathing impossible.

Another squad was credited with saving the life of a baby born early in the day to Mrs. Ira Pretz of 901 North Virgil avenue. For four hours the firemen pumped oxygen into the infant's lungs at Sylvan Lodge Hospital.

Sixteen hours and thirty minutes were required to restore natural respiration to Andrew Fallman, 21, of 33 Paloma avenue, Venice, following a sinking spell caused by pneumonia. The rescue squad that worked on Fallman was under command of Acting Battalion Chief Cull.

An inhalator squad late yesterday was still trying to revive the 5-year-old child of Mr. and Mrs. A. Gray, after being summoned to the family residence at 2966 Eleventh avenue in the morning. Pneumonia was given as the cause of the youngster's serious condition.

BRUIN FIVE TO TACKLE CARDINALS

Lowly Stanford Quintet Seeks Revenge; Cagers Tangle Tonight

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Jan. 30. (Exclusive)—A disgruntled band of Cardinal basketball players and a super-disgruntled band of Cardinal basketball coaches are hoping and praying for revenge tomorrow night when Caddy Works's Bruin quintet begins its campaign for conference title on the Stanford court in the first of a two-game series. The U.C.L.A. team will meet the Cards again Saturday evening.

As the outfit which administered an epochal 60-to-30 trouncing to the Stanford five in Los Angeles recently, the southerners are expected to make the Cards' prayer for revenge go unanswered. The Trojan victory over U.C.L.A. and the Stanford showing against California, however, tend to soften pregame predictions. Stanford, still showing potentialities but only once blossoming out as a full-fledged basketball team, is due to click tomorrow if ever.

HANLON ORDER IS OVERRULED

Commissioner Woods Acts for His District

Islanders Can Still Show Wares Here, He Says

Open Warfare in Official Boxing Family Looms

BY FRANK ROCHE

"Filipino boxers are not barred in Southern California rings."

JAMES E. WOODS

Such was the edict given out yesterday afternoon by James Woods, athletic commissioner for the southern district through his chief boxing inspector, Frank Moran. Moran after a lengthy conference with his superior over the long-distance telephone, Woods being in San Francisco, relayed the above statement to The Times last night.

Woods's action came right on the heels of a recent general order issued by William Hanlon, chairman of the State Athletic Commission, which barred Filipino fighters from California rings. "The Filipinos can perform in my district, Commissioner Hanlon notwithstanding," was the way Moran said Woods put it.

"We have been bombarded with calls from all over our territory since Hanlon's order was made public," Moran stated. The chief boxing inspector said that Woods lost no time in taking action on the matter once he heard of it. "I have assured all of the Southland clubs that they can carry on as usual," Moran said.

Moran indicated that Woods had been in touch with Gov. Young and Charles Traung, the other member of the State Boxing Commission, before announcing his decision on the matter here.

It was very evident that open warfare has started in boxing circles over the order sent out by Hanlon from his office in Sacramento barring the little brown-skinned islanders from competition following race flares at Watsonville, Stockton and other northern cities.

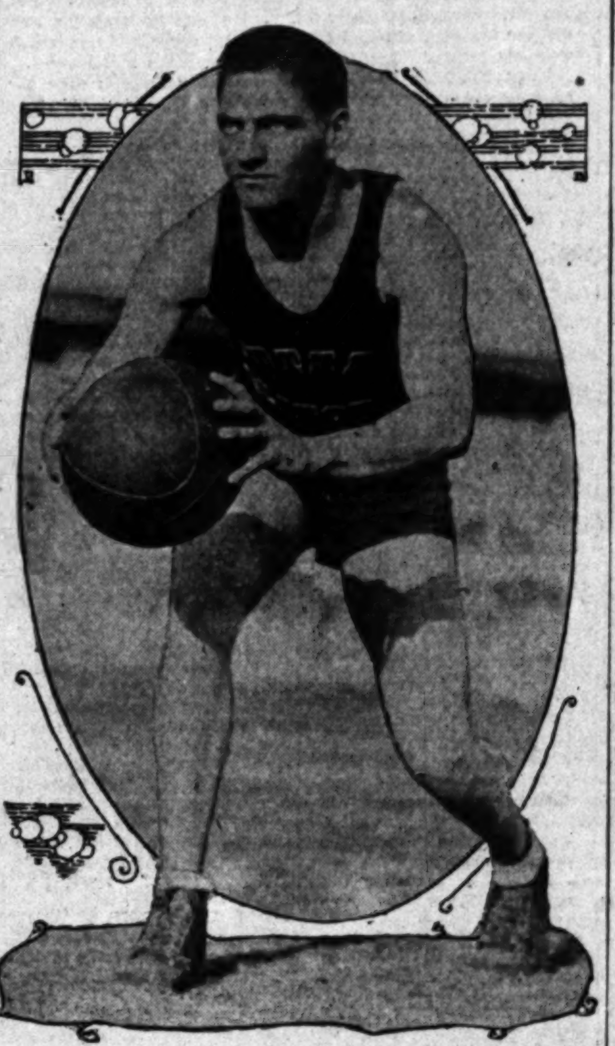
Commissioner Traung flew right off the handle when he heard of the Hanlon order on Wednesday. Traung declared that Hanlon had no right to act without conferring with Woods and himself. He hurried back to San Francisco to take the matter up with Woods. Judging from Woods's action yesterday it was evident they had gotten together on the situation.

Rumors flew thick and fast last night that Gov. Young was ready to fire Hanlon from the State Athletic Commission for his action. Hanlon has served his time as a member of the commision, his term having expired on December 31. Those close to the throne intimated that the Governor would appoint his successor in short order now that war has broken out between members of the board.

Commissioner Woods offered his resignation to the Governor when his business interests were transferred to San Francisco recently, but the chief executive of the State would not hear of it. The administrations of both Woods and Traung have been very successful, it has been pointed out, and there is little chance of either going when the Governor announces his next appointment to the board.

LEADS THE TROJANS

Here's Johnny Lehners, captain of the University of Southern California basketball team. Troy's tossers go into action tonight at the Shrine Auditorium, facing Nibs Price's California quintet. Lehners has been playing brilliantly for the Trojans and may cause the Golden Bears considerable trouble tonight.



SNOW CARNIVAL TODAY

Three-Day Winter Sports Festival at Big Pines Gets Under Way With Big Opening Day Program

BIG PINES MOUNTAIN CAMP, Jan. 30.—The fourth annual winter sports carnival of the Los Angeles Junior Chamber of Commerce gets under way here tomorrow, with the official opening ceremonies scheduled for 10 o'clock in the morning. Forty-five minutes later the United States forest rangers will start out in their cross-country snow-shoe race, the first of the nineteen athletic events on the program arranged by Chairman Dan Hay.

More than 40,000 spectators are expected to witness the three-day festival, which has attracted some international stars for the annual ski jumping competition. Main interest has centered on Halvord Bjorngaard, who came here from Ogden, Utah, especially for the event. Bjorngaard is known as the most graceful ski jumper of all time, and has won national championships in the United States, Switzerland, Norway and Sweden.

Preliminary trials in the jumps are scheduled for tomorrow and Bjorngaard will face the most talented field that has ever gathered for the annual competition. A. Brondahl and E. Solern, who finished first and second in last year's affair are back to defend their titles, but must face such stars as Jack Hansen, former international champion; Sigurd Wathne, president of the local Viking Club, and a veteran international competitor; Fred Dorge, the noted Norwegian star, and the entire membership of the Viking Club, as well as Bjorngaard.

Tomorrow's complete program is as follows:

10:00 a.m.—Official opening ceremony.
10:45 a.m.—Ranger snowshoe race; ski jump, general public.
11:30 a.m.—Toboggan jumping contest, general public.

RACKLETTS, SCHOOL BOY PARTNER WIN GOLF PRIZE

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Jan. 30. (AP) Combining team work with par-breaking golf, Tom Rackletts, young Columbus (O.) professional, and his amateur partner, M. J. Gonzales, a local schoolboy, produced a 65 over the Brackenridge course today to win the annual amateur-pro best-ball event, preliminary to the ninth annual Texas open tournament starting tomorrow.

HORTON SMITH

Rackletts himself had a 69, two under par, and Gonzales helped him on four holes. The win was worth $100 to Rackletts and a gold medal to Gonzales.

The day's toughest break befell Wilfred Cox, veteran New York professional. He turned in a 66, tying the competitive course record, but had to be content with second place, as he received no help from his partner, F. H. Strong, Pearsall, Tex.

Two teams tied for third place, each with a 67. They were Walter Murry, Gary (Ind.) professional, and Lewis Levinson, San Antonio amateur, and Paul Runyon, Little Rock professional, and Emil Mueller, San Antonio. Levinson, a southpaw and former State champion, had a 70.

There were plenty of low scores, eighteen teams turning in cards of 70 or better. A bright sun put the course in top condition and promised some sparkling golf in the seventy-two-hole medal test starting

California Line Coach Quits Post

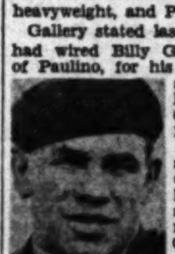
BERKELEY, Jan. 30. (AP)—Dr. Albert Boles, head line coach for the University of California football team since 1920, in a letter received today by W. W. Monahan, graduate manager, requested that he be not considered for renewal of his contract. Increasing demand upon his time by his medical practice was given as the reason.

GALLERY SEEKS PAULINO

Hollywood Matchmaker Would Stage Outdoor Shot Between Basque and Frankie Campbell

Tom Gallery, Hollywood Stadium matchmaker, stepped into a new role yesterday when he announced that he was in the field for an outdoor shot between Frankie Campbell, the rejuvenated San Francisco heavyweight, and Paulino Uzcudun, the Battling Basque.

Gallery stated last night that he had wired Billy Gibson, manager of Paulino, for his best terms for a bout at Wrigley Field with Campbell on March 14.



PAULINO UZCUDUN

If Gibson agrees to terms, Gallery stated he will go right ahead on the match as Campbell's handlers want the fight. Tom Maloney, co-manager of Campbell, verified that end of the statement.

Paulino and George Godfrey drew one of the largest gates in local ring history, the only time the Basque has ever performed in Los Angeles. Godfrey was the winner of a ten-round decision.

CRACK POLOISTS TO CLASH TODAY

Cypress Point, Riders Face Rancho San Carlos

Special Match Game Carded at Midwick Field

San Mateo Defaults in Open Championship Play

Midwick Country Club officials will carry on today with their high-goal polo program despite the last-minute withdrawal of San Mateo in the Coast championship play scheduled with Argentine horsemen. The northern mallet team, captained by W. S. (Willie) Tavis, decided they had little chance with their thirteen-goal team against the twenty-four-goal combination from Argentine, so they defaulted to the South Americans. In place of the tournament game the Midwick officials will present two crack high-goal teams in a special match game this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Cypress Point riders, captained by Arthur Perkins, will match mounts and mallets with the Rancho San Carlos four, led by E. A. S. Hopping, an international polo figure.

The Rancho four, composed of Hopping, Alden Roark, Capt. Forrester and George Gordon Moore, arrived here yesterday with their mounts and are eager and ready to swing into action. They welcomed the chance to play today, as they are scheduled to play in the open championships Sunday at Midwick against Argentina and the tilt this afternoon will give them a chance to get into stride for the tournament clash.

Midwick also announced that the open championship schedule had been moved up a bit. Instead of staging the final game of the title tourney on February 16, as originally scheduled, the deciding tilt will be held on Sunday, February 9.

By virtue of their win over the Cypress Point four on Friday Midwick has now advanced one step in the big series. The Purple horsemen tangle next with Laddie Sanford's Hurricanes. They meet next Wednesday. The winner of Sunday's game and the winner of the Hurricane-Midwick battle will meet for the championship in the grand finale.

Argentina will warm up this morning in a practice game against a number of picked stars.

The afternoon tilt will start at 2:30. Line-ups:

Cypress Point		Rancho San Carlos
Crocker	No. 1	Moore
McCreery	No. 2	Hopping
Perkins	No. 3	Forrester
Walford	Back	Roark

END DRAWS NEAR FOR PONGO JOE CANTILLON

HICKMAN (Ky.) Jan. 30. (AP)—The end draws near for Pongo Joe Cantillon, American baseball veteran, doctors declared tonight as he grew weaker and weaker after a reversal of his condition last night.

Physicians and his wife remained by his bedside through last night and today and it was necessary to give him opiates more frequently as his heart action grew erratic and his breathing more difficult. Hope for his recovery following a turn for the worse Sunday after a paralytic stroke last week has been abandoned.

Portland Beavers Boast Nucleus for Strong Club in 1930 Coast League Camp

MAYS ADDED TO HURLING STAFF

Duck Fans Expect Vet Will Prove Big Winner

Catcher Larry Woodall New Manager of Squad

Two Infielders and Pair of Outfielders Sought

BY RUSSELL J. NEWLAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Jan. 30. (AP)—Well, well and well . . . Portland is going to have quite a team in the Coast League this season.

CARL MAYS

This department's information is none other than Mr. G. of Portland, its all-time observer on the northwestern baseball front. Mr. G. actually has made no startling claims but it should be known he is one of the most severe critics of the Portland club and its owner-president, Thomas Levatt Turner. Any time Mr. G. fails to give the Portland team a few verbal digs it is high time for interested outsiders to begin looking into the merits of the case.

In fact Mr. G., whose identity should be known to all and sundry because he is neither lean nor tall nor fat nor small, has unwittingly waxed eloquent in his report on his home town entry.

Among the holdover twirlers is Johnny (Junk) Walters. To not write of Walters would deprive the readers of a rare treat. Mr. G. aptly describes Walters as: "The celebrated fat man pitcher-outfielder-third baseman-catcher, who made it his life's work last year to show up the San Francisco Seals who sold him with the explanation he was 'too fat.'" Sold by the Seals, Walters joined the Ducks and all he did was to win twelve games and lose five. He started with Portland late in July.

When "Junk" wasn't pitching, he was helping out on other parts of the field. He actually threatened to quit last season because they wouldn't let him play every day. If the Seals have any more like him, Owner Turner will be glad to buy one or a dozen, fat or otherwise.

TOMLIN VERSATILE

If for no other reason, the Portland club can lay claim to fame through the versatility of its members. Aside from Walters, there is Edwin Charles Tomlin, who also does everything but play two positions at the same time. At various times he was pitcher, catcher, infielder and outfielder. During the different off-seasons he has been a drug store owner, moving picture actor, grapefruia rancher, snake charmer in carnivals and raiser of raccoons for the collegiate coonskin coat market.

As the ace-in-the-hole last year, Portland had Manager Bill Rodgers, who positively ate his beefsteaks raw and munched up raw eggs without removing the shells.

Four rookie pitchers will be watched this spring. They are Hank McDonald, a 17-year-old Santa Monica (Cal.) high school boy; Bill Posedel, Bernard Kaiser and Joe Bloomer. McDonald stands six feet five inches and scales 210 pounds. Posedel came from the Navy and Bloomer hails from Springfield, Mass. Kaiser is an 18-year-old Portland boy. All are right-handers.

Larry Woodall, first-string catcher, will be the playing manager this season. The Ducks are looking for a first-baseman to replace Jim Keesey, who went up to the Philadelphia Athletics. Mack Hillis will be back at second base and Buster Chatham at shortstop. Jimmy Cronin is coming down from the Athletics and likely will operate at third base. The outfield numbers Charley Bates, holdover, and Walter French, coming down from the Athletics.

Owner Turner is after one or two more infielders and outfielders and says they should be on hand when the Ducks go into spring training at San Jose.

looked good winning from the Olympic Club of San Francisco Tuesday evening, and if they can function tomorrow as they did in spurts against the Winged O hoop men, they should furnish some competition for the flashy Bruins.

Tentative starting line-ups are: Stanford—Berg and Tyler, forwards; McCandless, center; Rothery and Reynolds, guards.

U.C.L.A.—Von Hagen and Wilds, forwards; Knowles, center; Lubin and Shy, guards.

ED LEWIS DISLOCATES SARPOLIS'S VERTEBRAE

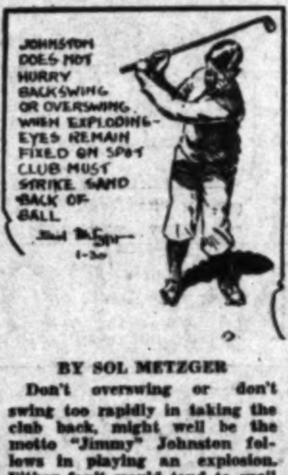
PORTLAND (Or.) Jan. 30. (AP)—Dr. Karl Sarpolis, wrestling physician from Cleveland, was released from a hospital here late today after spending twenty-four hours in the institution as a result of his match with Ed "Strangler" Lewis here last night.

Sarpolis lost the match after winning the first fall. Lewis, former world's heavyweight champion, applied a series of headlocks and Sarpolis was unable to return for the third period. At the hospital it was determined that the physician was suffering from a dislocated vertebra.

PURDUE RUNNER IN MEET

LAFAYETTE (Ind.) Jan. 30. (AP)—Orval Martin, brilliant Purdue middle-distance runner, has accepted an invitation to compete in the Wanamaker mile run, feature event of the Millrose meet in Madison Square Garden, New York, February 8, next.

Swing Should be Unhurried on Explosion



JOHNSTON DOES NOT HURRY BACKSWING OR OVERSWING WHEN EXPLODING—EYES REMAIN FIXED ON SPOT CLUB MUST STRIKE SAND BACK OF BALL
Sol Metzger
1-30

BY SOL METZGER

Don't overswing or don't swing too rapidly in taking the club back, might well be the motto "Jimmy" Johnston follows in playing an explosion. Either fault would tend to spoil the shot. Remember that you cannot gain power in taking back the niblick any more than you can cause a gun to shoot with greater velocity by some trick of cocking the trigger.

The niblick requires the same nicety of balance and timing for successful exploding as does the putter for holing out or the driver for long wallops on a line for the pin. In short, don't rush the shot, as most of us do because of anxiety. In other words, concentrate on what you intend doing.

In the next article let us examine Abe Mitchell's way of blasting from a sand trap.

The action of the knees, the hips, the arms on the backswing and at time of impact is well described in Sol Metzger's leaflet on the pivot. He will send it to any reader requesting it. Address Sol Metzger, in care of this paper, and inclose a stamped, addressed envelope.

BEARS BATTLE TROJAN FIVE

playing the third and final game of their 1930 series. Meeting early in the year in San Francisco, Troy copped the opening tilt, 30 to 28, but dropped the second, 27 to 19. That's how evenly matched the rivals are.

Year in and year about the Golden Bears will be as tough basketball competition as there is in the Coast conference. That's why Sam Barry is worried about the outcome of tonight's game. Sam will feel a lot more chipper if he gets by the Bears tonight.

The Trojans are in great shape for the encounter. Barry having his full strength available for the first time this season. Jess Mortensen and Bill Pierce, who have been the cripples, are ready and rarin' to go, which gives Coach Barry more strength than he has had at any other time.

He plans to start with Jack Gardner and Frank Smith in the forward positions, Mortensen at center and Capt. Lehners and Wilbur Caldwell as guards. If Lehners has his shooting eye tonight this will be a mighty tough combination for California to beat.

Price's line-up includes three very fine basketball players, who have been seen here before. They are Capt. Perry Ten Eyck, Wilson Trip and Kent Pursel are the "Three Musketeers" of the California quintet. All are over 6 feet tall and and Ten Eyck towers three inches above this mark. They are good shots, pass the ball accurately and are fast despite their great height.

All are experienced players and they know the tricks of the game. Price's teams always play hard, smashing basketball and the Trojans wil have to be prepared to stand some shocks tonight for when the Bears get rolling they move right along.

Tripp is a sad-faced individual, but he makes his foes look sadder with his uncanny ability to cage the casaba. All he did was score 17 points against Stanford last week.

Bill Davis, a transfer from Long Beach Junior College, and Joel Coffield, letterman, are the guards.

The game starts at 8 o'clock and there should be plenty of fireworks.

CARNERA'S SHOE SHIPPED

BROCKTON (Mass.) Jan. 30. (AP) The largest pair of shoes ever manufactured in this city were sent tonight by air mail to Primo Carnera, giant Italian boxer. They were boxing shoes and measured nine inches across the sole and eighteen and one-half inches from heel to to toe tip. The size was 21 and they were ordered for use in Carnera's fight at Chicago tomorrow night.

Huntington Park casaba tossers walloped the Class C and D teams from San Pedro yesterday afternoon on the Spartan courts. The Cee score was 24-8, while the D count was 27-12. Howard led the Spartan scoring in the Cee game, with 15 digits.

PACIFIC MILITARY WINS

DOEG EN ROUTE TO SOUTHWEST

Stanford Tennis Star Will Play at San Antonio

Journey to Florida Planned by Santa Monican

Gorchakoff, Wood Also Leave for Texas This Week

Word from Santa Monica yesterday confirms reports that John Hope Doeg, the giant Stanford southpaw, has deserted his bay city home and is now en route to San Antonio, Tex., to perform there in the midwinter invitational tennis championships. Doeg will not return following this tournament, but will trek on eastward into New York, and down south to Florida to gain much needed practice.

JOHN DOEG

These tournaments and early-season training are all part of the slashing southpaw's plans for a serious bid for a singles position on the Davis Cup team. With reports that Big Bill Tilden and Frank Hunter will not be available for the Davis Cup team this year, Doeg has more than an even chance to gain his ambition. He will fight John Van Ryn, George Lott, Berkeley Bell, Wilmer Allison and Fred Mercur for a place on the Yankee squad.

Doeg has scored victories over each of these candidates during the past summer season or in his past tournament play. They constitute the leading candidates for the singles positions, and considering the local star's record, he ought to have more than just a Chinaman's chance to land on the team. Doeg will pair with George Lott, of Chicago, with whom he won the national doubles last summer, again this season, he stated before leaving.

Oakland Cops 3-2 Tilt From Hollywooders

Hammering home two goals in the third period to break a 1-to-1 tie, Oakland's high-powered Sheiks downed the Hollywood Millionaires, 3 to 2, last night at the Winter Garden Ice Palace to further strengthen their position as leaders in the professional ice-hockey league. A record crowd jammed the Ice Palace for the clash, the result of which practically eliminated Hollywood's hopes of getting into the play-off for the title.

After a scoreless first period, the rival skaters put on one of the wildest sessions ever seen on local ice. Oakland had the edge at the start when two of the Millionaires went off the ice on penalties. The Sheiks, opposed by only four men, bombarded the Hollywood net with shots but Goalie Carrigan made about a dozen remarkable saves to prevent a score. When the penalties were up, the Millionaires went on the offense and Lefty Comber took a rebound and shot a goal to put Hollywood in front. Soon after Bud Cook surprised Carrigan with a shot from the blue line that tied the score. The Sheiks had two men put off the ice near the end of the second period and had to battle desperately to stave off a goal.

Early in the third period the Oakland attack began functioning and Joe Sandercook caged one to put the Sheiks ahead, 2 to 1. Soon after Sandercook passed to Giroux who sent home another goal and Oakland was leading, 3 to 1.

Just when it looked as though it would be a rout, Hollywood, led by Headley and Peltier, went on a rampage, Manager Smokey Harris smacking a shot into the net to make it 3-2. The Millionaires swarmed all over the Oakland goal during the remaining three minutes of the game, but Goalie Fowler was equal to the occasion and protected the Sheiks' one-goal margin to the end.

In the first period Sennell, new Oakland right wing, had his throat cut by a skate and had to be assisted off the ice, which had taken on a cerise hue.

Fire Brigade Cops Feature Border Event

RABBIT PUNCHES

By PAUL LOWRY

OUT OF TUNE

"A BOXING commission that doesn't function." That's what Commissioner Charles Traung of San Francisco calls the body of which he has been a member for the past three years.

The open warfare between Commissioners Traung and James Woods as opposed to William Hanlon indicates that the time has arrived (if it wasn't already here) for the Governor to fill the vacancy which was created when Hanlon's term expired last December 31.

Until the Governor acts Hanlon automatically continues a member of the commission.

And the open break between the commissioners over Hanlon's celebrated order barring Filipinos from boxing programs indicates just how much harmony there is on the commission.

Woods and Traung are in perfect accord. Hanlon teams with neither, 'tis said.

But Hanlon is a Gov. Young appointee, and it is also said the Governor hesitates not to reappoint him.

Woods's removal of his residence to San Francisco, partially at least, makes it necessary for the Governor to appoint a Los Angeles man.

Both Woods and Traung have offered to resign. But the Governor refuses their offers. He likes their ability, and dislikes the idea of appointing sectional commissioners which was inaugurated when the boxing commission was formed.

But the howl has been on for a Los Angeles man for some time, and it's difficult to see how the Governor can evade the issue.

It's a fine kettle of fish if he doesn't do something soon.

TWO SELLOUTS

THE heavyweights have it tonight.

Meaning Primo Carnera, the man mountain of Italy, and Elzear Rioux, the Canadian champ, at Jack Dempsey's club in Chicago.

And Frankie Campbell, the ten-straight knockout kid, and Benny Ross of Buffalo at Hollywood.

Both shows should be sellouts.

There is nothing that so intrigues the public mind as a big fellow with a punch.

In his maiden debut at New York last week Carnera dumped Big Boy Peterson for keeps in less than a round.

If he gets over the same way against Rioux there will be no holding the crowds the next times he fights.

The man is a sideshow circus all by himself, well worth the price of admission just for a look—6 feet, 8 inches and 280 pounds of bone and muscle.

The local hero by self-adoption, Mr. Campbell, is not as large as Carnera by nearly 100 pounds, but he has been flattening the majority of his foes in a round.

He's hot copy so long as he does that and Mr. Thomas S. Gallery, matchmaker at Hollywood, will have no vacant seats on hand tonight.

A RED-HOT MATCH

IF YOU don't like fights a good place to watch the fur fly will be the Shrine Auditorium tonight.

California and Southern California on the basketball court isn't as exciting to the average fan as the same institutions represented on the football field.

But if you're at the Shrine tonight you'd think so by the din.

The hoop fans filled the big emporium to capacity of 7000 last Saturday when the Trojans upset the dope and defeated U.C.L.A.

U.C.L.A. beat California by a score of 26 to 23 at Berkeley two weeks ago, holding the Bears to a single point in the last half, so tonight's rivals are evenly enough matched to make things red hot.

KENTUCKY JOE SPLURGES

A LETTER from Mr. James F. Dougherty, the Baron of Leiperville, says his middleweight hope, Mr. Joe Anderson, is back in form again and will be ready to take on either Ace Hudkins or Mickey Walker before the year is over.

It will be recalled that Anderson was stopped by Hudkins just before the Wildcat's championship bout with Walker. This reversed a previous decision which Anderson had gained over the Wildcat.

Anderson has been on the shelf ever since, but soundly trounced Jimmy Mahoney of Chicago in celebrating his return to the ring about a week ago.

Mahoney had previously beaten him, and had just come through with a good scrap against Jimmy Slattery.

PREP SCHEDULE PLAN GIVEN

Schools Divided Into Three Divisions According to Location for Listing of Games; Principals to Vote on New System Within Three Weeks' Time

BY IRVING ECKHOFT

Whether or not the principals of the twelve high schools involved in the redistricting of the major and the minor city leagues will agree to the proposed releaguing plan put up by the vice-principals recently, is a much-mooted question.

Quite a number of prep officials believe that the change will not take place, while on the other hand, some of them are wildly enthusiastic about the new project.

The new school term starts next Monday and it will be several weeks before a meeting of the principals will be held.

In the meantime the twelve-school league proposition is under severe criticism, not only as to its feasibility, but as to its possibility as well.

While the fundamentals of the twelve-school circuit are okay, there are many arguments as to how the schedule of games is going to work out.

The schedule plan is as follows: for convenience sake, the schools are divided into three divisions.

Lincoln	Poly	Hollywood
Franklin	Jefferson	Fairfax
Garfield	Fremont	Belmont
Roosevelt,	Manual Arts,	Los Angeles

It will be noticed that the schools areg rouped according to geographical location, and the plan is to have a school in any division play the three others in its group in every sport every year, making the schedule, as far as that division is concerned, permanent.

Taking Poly as an illustration. The Mechanics will meet Jefferson, Fremont and Manual in every sport, while the other two groups, One and Three, wil rotate around Division Two, with Poly playing Lincoln and Hollywood this season, Fremont and Fairfax next season and so on.

This will give a school five games, with the privilege of scheduling another extra league contest. This was done in order that old rivals would still be able to meet.

If this proposed schedule plan is adopted, which means if the twelve-school circuit goes into effect, Poly will play Jefferson, Fremont, Manual Arts, Lincoln and Hollywood, with L. A. High being its extra game.

Jefferson will play Poly, Fremont, Manual Arts, Franklin, and Fairfax with the extra game being announced later.

Lincoln's schedule will have on it, Franklin, Garfield and Roosevelt as permanent fixtures, with Poly and Hollywood being on it next season, Jefferson and Fairfax the next year, Fremont and Belmont, the year following, Manual and Los Angeles the next season, and then back to Poly and Hollywood.

The underlying reason behind the releaguing plan was to shorten the mileage between schools so that the student bodies traveling to games would not have to cross any main arteries of traffic, and it seems that the above system will cut down the mileage considerably.

Primo Carnera Fights Tonight

CHICAGO, Jan. 30. (AP)—Primo Carnera wil have a weight advantage of about sixty pounds over Elzear Rioux, French-Canadian heavyweight, when he makes his Chicago debut at the Chicago Stadium tomorrow night.

The sizeable Italian finished training for the bout today and will climb into the ring weighing about 270 pounds, while Rioux will scale about 210. Carnera's advantage in height will amount to three inches and he will outreach Elzear by four inches.

CECIL PAYNE SCORES TECHNICAL KNOCKOUT

Cecil Payne of Louisville, Ky., scored an eight-round technical knockout victory oved Dud Eades in the main event of last night's fistic program at the Pasadena arena. Eades was down for nine in the seventh round and down for six in the eighth stanza before Referee Freddie Gilmore stopped the fight.

Young Peter Jackson won the semi-wind-up of six rounds, taking the decision from Ad Cadena. Johnny Prentis scored a technical knockout win over Jess Basquez in three rounds. Jack Atkins was stopped in the third by Jerry Shipper, while Joey Rich beat Peppy Sanchez in the four-round opener.

SINGER FIGHTS LOAYZA TONIGHT

Contenders for Lightweight Crown Meet in Ring

Chilean Expects to Win by Knockout Over Al

South American Softened Up Canzoneri Many Claim

BY JACK FARRELL

NEW YORK, Jan. 30. (Exclusive) If Al Singer's chin is as brittle as Stanislaus Loayza thinks it is there will be one contender fewer for Sammy Mandell's carefully guarded world's lightweight title after the boys get through romping around the ring for ten rounds in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night. The Chilean, who has withstood the blasts of fellows like Ace Hudkins, Bruce Flowers and Tony Canzoneri, expects to knock out the Bronx Hebrew.

SAMMY MANDELL

While Singer should come down in front with enough points to justify a decision in his favor, it should be a free-swinging duel such as Jack Kid Berg and Canzoneri furnished here two weeks ago. Loayza, always a willing, honest laborer, will be in there swinging away with his big right and even if he fails to connect often he will give the Singer followers many a bad scare.

There was only one fighter who ever buried Stanislaus's busted beak in the resin and that was Jimmy McLarnin. Canzoneri picked Loayza as an opponent in Chicago recently for no other reason than that he thought that the Chilean was going round heeled. Tony got the decision, but he was so badly battered that he was forced to cancel several subsequent engagements. In fact, there are many who believe it was Tony's experience with Loayza that softened him up so Berg could beat him.

The fighters are to scale 135 pounds, give or take a pound. The betting is 8 to 5, Singer to win the decision.

tie; Georgia Coleman, Mickey and Johnny Riley and Dutch Smith, Olympic Games divers; Wes Kimball, Hollywood A. C. sprint ace, and many others.

The two world records which will likely be toppled from the boards are the men's 500-yard mark and the women's record for 220 yards. Crabbe, who has again hit the same form which carried him through the national outdoor championships with individual high-point honors, will be after Johnny Weissmuller's 500-yard mark of 5m. 47s. Buster churned through the L.A.A.C. plunge in 5m. 45s. this week in practice and Coach Fred Cady feels confident that the Honolulu boy will cut under the world record tonight. He will swim in a handicap race.

STARS IN MATCH RACE

Josephine McKim and Helen Madison have been matched for the women's 220-yard feature and one of them may shatter Martha Norelius's world mark of 2m. 40 3-5s. Miss McKim has displaced Miss Norelius as the nation's leading woman paddler and already holds world marks for 440 yards and one mile. The Seattle girl is regarded by experts as a real comer in national competition and a victory over Miss McKim tonight will place her at the top of the list.

Miss Madison will also swim a 100-yard dash against Olive Hatch, L.A.A.C. sprint swimmer, and now one of America's leading short-distance paddlers.

Wes Kimball of Hollywood A. C. will seek to lower the Southern California 100-yard sprint record in a handicap race against such stars as Norman Kettering, Pacific Coast Club, and Oscar Simmons of U.S.C.

Tonight's program, which starts at 8:15 o'clock, will open with a red-hot water polo battle between the Hollywood and L.A.A.C. teams, old rivals for A.A.U. supremacy. Water polo is the roughest sport of the water and always a crowd pleaser.

MIDGET IN DIVES

There will also be a handicap women's 100-yard swim, exhibition diving by Coach Cady's L.A.A.C. champions and by 3-year-old Joy Crew, the Ambassador plunge midget, and races between L.A.A.C. junior swimmers.

With such a program of champions indications are for a packed house tonight and fans have been urged to come early.

COMPTON BEES, CEES WIN FROM REDONDO

Compton High School's Class B basketball team added another victory to its string yesterday when the Lion Babes handed the Redondo Lites a 26-to-9 trimming on the winner's floor. Orr, Compton forward, was the offensive star of the day, scoring 13 points for high-point honors. Hines made 5 points for Redondo. The Compton Class C team won the preliminary game from the Redondo midgets by a 30-to-9 score. Compton led at the half, 11 to 6.

TIGER CAGERS COP

South Pasadena Tiger cagers defeated the Fullerton High Class-B basket tossers, 30-18, yesterday at Fullerton. Capt. Clarence Fink of South Pasadena took high scoring honors with 7 points. Chamberlain and Childs were next in line for the Tigers with 6 digits apiece.

Taking up the trailer or pivot block play where we left off with it yesterday, at the point where No. 1, upon being rushed by opponent C as he dribbled up court, pivots and passes to his trailer, No. 2, let us look into its further development.

The object of the game is to ring up field goals. To do so it is necessary to pierce the defense until in a position near enough to the basket to have a short shot. Cornell's scheme is for No. 2 to run by No. 1 and take the pass on the side opposite to the one used by C to try to get around No. 1 to bat loose the ball.

Naturally, as No. 1 passes to No. 2 he turns, thus legally blocking opponent C out of the play. No. 1 now acts as trailer for No. 2. So they drive up court until one or the other is in position for a shot or until either can pass to a free teammate nearer the basket. Tomorrow—a practice stunt used by many teams to develop skill in this play.

Eleanor Holm Breaks Record in Backstroke

PITTSBURGH, Jan. 30. (AP)—Miss Eleanor Holm of the Women's Swimming Association of New York, tonight swam the 220-yard backstroke event in the world's record-breaking time of 3m. 3-5s. The record must be certified by the record committee of the Amateur Athletic Union of the United States before being recognized as official.

The present recognized record is 3m. 1 3-5s., made by the late Sybil Bauer of the Illinois Athletic Club at Miami, Fla., in 1924.

Miss Holm swam tonight's event against Miss Mae Cutnell of the Carnegie Library Club, Pittsburgh, at the Keystone Athletic Club pool.

Horton Smith, ranking favorite to capture the first prize of $1500, was off his game somewhat today, but he and his partner, Logan Van Zandt, Tulsa amateur, managed to card a 69. Van Zandt bagged a 71 to help things along. Wild Bill Mehlhorn, defending champion, and his helper, C. A. Hodgson, San Antonio, came in with a best ball of 75.

One of the most colorful pairs in today's competition was Al Espinosa, swarthy Chicago professional, and Tris Speaker, better known as a manufacturer of base hits, who came down from his winter home at Hubbard, Tex., to have his fling. Their best effort was a 72.

Marion Betty Defends Mat Championship

Marion P. Betty, Pacific Coast light-heavyweight wrestling champion, well known amateur athlete of the Los Angeles Athletic Club, is to defend his title this evening at the Pacific Coast Club, his opponent being Allan Ferguson, United States Navy champion, who held the Pacific Coast title for nine years. The men will weigh in this afternoon at 5 o'clock. Betty's weight is 178 and Ferguson is slightly heavier.

For the past two years Betty has specialized as a weight-lifter. He held the weight-lifting championship, he having lifted with his two hands 515 pounds. He raised with one hand a 183-pound weight. Betty, however, has gone into the wrestling field with the same enthusiasm that he entered the weights.

PURDUE WINS

LAFAYETTE (Ind.) Jan. 30. (Exclusive)—Purdue upheld the honor of Indiana basketball tonight in a game that will go down in the history of Hoosierdom as a classic. The Boilermakers snapped Loyola's string of thirty-four victories like a battleship breaking its anchor chain, a clash of forces that gave Purdue a 25-to-20 victory, but only in overtime after Loyola had pulled up from behind to tie the score ten seconds before the final gun.

VENICE CAGERS COP

Venice High's Class C and D casaba tossers defeated the Inglewood High representatives yesterday afternoon, the Cees winning by a 16-13 score, while the Dees came out victorious, 16-10. Douglas Robertson, made 15 of the Venice 16 digits in the Class C game. The games were played at Inglewood.

Otto Buss, graduating this week from Southern Califor- nia, has been appointed a member of the physical edu- cation department at Jeffer- son High, according to an an- nouncement made yesterday by George Costello, depart- ment head at the Democrat institution. Buss, who comes very highly recommended from Ralph La Porte of S.C. will partially fill the vacancy made in the Jefferson athlet- ic department by the recent appointment of Jim Purcell as department head of Beverly Hills High. Purcell plans to work both jobs this spring, however, and will remain as track coach at Jefferson until June.

SANGOR WANTS MORE BATTLES

Joey Confident He'll Beat Eddie Mack Tuesday

Payne, La Barba, Hess Tilts Sought by Veteran

Olympic Trying to Line Up La Barba-Taylor Go

Joey Sangor yesterday appeared at the Olympic and offered to box again in two weeks after the Eddie Mack bout. Opponents mentioned for him include Cecil Payne, Fidel La Barba and Goldie Hess.

Joey Sangor

Matchmaker Wad Wadhams will probably be unable to announce anything definite until after the show Tuesday night. But if Sangor whips Mack things will be cleared to give him the right of way for more indoor "gigantics."

The La Barba match for Bud Taylor is simmering and signed and when this bout will be staged depends on when Taylor can get ready. He has asked for a little time to get in shape, Bud desiring to take one or two warm-up bouts outside.

Eddie Long, manager of Taylor, is due here soon and the La Barba bout will then be threshed out.

Usually Sangor takes long layoffs between shots, but he is eager to rebuild lost fortunes as quickly as possible and will strike while he is "hot."

SANGOR CONFIDENT

While there is nothing but even money offered on the Sangor-Mack bout, Joey is confident he can handle the Denver college graduate with his deadly left hook, which appears to be just about as potent as ever.

Sangor boxed yesterday at the Main-street gymnasium and is in excellent shape again. His timing is improving and the old fighting spirit is still in evidence.

Mack flew north to San Francisco yesterday morning, arriving at noon time, so he was able to take his regular workout in the gymnasium. He went north to aid Eddie Murdock in his scrap against Frankie Stetson there tonight. He returns Saturday morning by plane

BEUM MEETS FRASER

The Olympic has a strong supporting card under Tuesday's main event, with Harry Beum and Wally Fraser, the pride of Hawthorne, in the six-round semi-wind-up. Beum scored a knockout his last start at the big club and is trying to work his way into a shot with Max Baer, the heavyweight sensation of Oakland.

Toilers Trip Poly Cagers in Last Game

Coach Jim Blewett's Manual Arts Toilers would up the Major City League basketball season yesterday afternoon with a 19-15 victory over Ralph Jesson's Poly Mechanics. The game, which was played in the Poly gym, was closely contested, the Mechanics never having a commanding lead.

Manual led at the half by the slight margin of 8-6. Capt. Tom Schwartz of Manual copped high-point honors with four field goal and a free throw for 9 points. Hardee, also wearing a Toiler uniform, was next with three field goals and a free throw for 7 digits.

The Toiler lightweight cagers annexed the city title in their division by turning back the favored Poly babes, 21-18, in a preliminary contest. Moellner of Poly led the scoring with 8 points. Although Manual, Poly and Hollywood are tied in the standings, the pennant goes to the Toiler team because it has victories over both Poly and Hollywood.

WHITTIER NEXT FOR SAGEHENS

Rival Teams Clash Tomorrow on Poet Court

Merritt's Tossers Prepare for Tough Tilt

Inability to Hit Basket Bothers Athletes

CLAREMONT, Jan. 30.—Coach "Fuzz" Merritt and his Sagehens have been putting in their spare moments this week trying to figure out a way to trim the Whittier Poets. The two teams clash Saturday night over at Whittier and from all indications the game will be close and hard fought. The teams are evenly matched and its mighty hard to figure out an edge for either one.

EARL MERRITT

Merritt has been working his crew plenty hard this week but figures to lay them off tomorrow and let them rest up a bit for Saturday.

The Sagehens' passing game has improved considerably this week as most of the time has been spent in scrimmaging and Merritt has been keeping the boys going at top speed. However, a woefully weak spot has turned up in the matter of Pomona's shooting attack, none of the men being able to hit the net with any regularity. No matter how good their passing attack is the Sagehens are going to have plenty of trouble winning games if they can't shoot.

Merritt has also been spending quite a bit of time on his defense which is giving him no little trouble. The Sagehens employ the five-man zone defense and the success of this particular type of defense depends a great deal on the ability of the forwards to come back quickly. Hadfield and Putnam, the Pomona forwards, seem to be having a little difficulty in doing this, leaving the entire defense to the guards.

Merritt's first-string line-up will be the same for the Whittier game as it has been in the past two—Hadfield and Putnam, forwards; Bishop, center; Kelson and Clements, guards. This combination is beginning to show signs of a little teamwork and if the boys all get going together a real team will be the result.

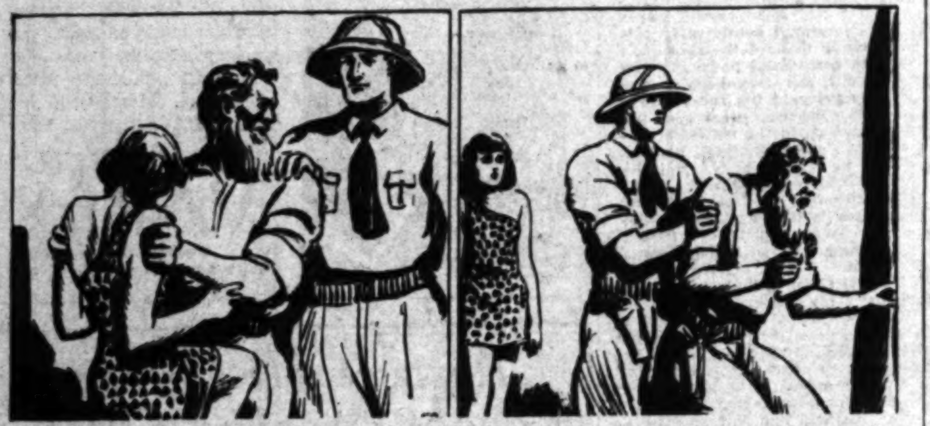
A hunter with a score of sleek, black warriors had halted to listen after Meriem's first outcry. He was not even aware of the presence of white men other than himself in this remote and savage section. When silence followed her third scream, the stranger also hastened toward the voice he knew was that of a woman in distress. Jenssen reached the scene first, entering the tent as Malbihn was showering blows upon the girl.

Malbihn, interrupted, dropped his victim and turned to meet Jenssen's infuriated charge. He whipped a revolver from his hip. Jenssen, anticipating the other's move, drew almost simultaneously, and both men fired at once. Jenssen was still moving toward his partner at the time, but at the flash of the explosion he stopped, staggered and fell. Malbihn then deliberately put two more bullets into his friend's body at close range.



He stood over the fallen man and kicked him viciously; then returned to Meriem. Again he seized her, and at the same instant the tent flaps opened silently. A tall, white man entered. He crossed the tent quickly, stepping over Jenssen's body and the first intimation Malbihn had that he was not to carry out his evil designs, was a heavy hand upon his shoulder. He wheeled to face a black-haired, gray-eyed stranger clad in khaki.

Malbihn reached for his gun, but the stranger's hand was quicker, and a second later he was holding the giant Swede in a grasp of steel. Malbihn raged and fought only to be twisted about and held at arm's length. Then he shouted to his men to come and kill this stranger. But instead of his own slaves a dozen powerful, clean-limbed blacks, not at all like the crew that followed the Swedes, entered and Malbihn was speedily made powerless.

Hutchinson Testifies in Wife's Balm Suit

Living With Other Woman Twenty Years Admitted

Mrs. Taylor Breaks Down at Mention of Child

Samuel Sheffield Hutchinson, wealthy film distributor, took the stand in the $300,000 heart balm suit of his wife, Mrs. Mattie Deane Hutchinson against Mrs. Edith P. Taylor, yesterday, and testified that it was his wife's social ambitions that made him lose his love for her.

Hutchinson admitted on the stand that for twenty years he had lived with Mrs. Taylor, the defendant, and he also admitted the parentage of her 14-year-old child, Jane. As Hutchinson testified concerning the child, Mrs. Taylor, seated in the courtroom, broke down and sobbed.

CONTRASTS TWO WOMEN

Responding to questions by Byron Hanna, Mrs. Taylor's attorney, Hutchinson contrasted the attitude of his wife with that of Mrs. Taylor, whom he paid $100 a month for a long time, and when she moved to Hollywood, $135 a month. Mrs. Taylor not only maintained her home on this money, but saved enough to buy an apartment-house, and it is this property that would be sold to pay a judgment if Mrs. Hutchinson obtains one against her.

"My wife was selfish and arrogant," said Hutchinson. "She continually harassed me with financial burdens. My home in Chicago cost me so much that I couldn't bear it—I wanted to get away.

"Mrs. Taylor on the other hand was economical, kindly and considerate. She never pursued me. She never called me on the telephone. She never asked me to go places with her. She was very modest—always tried to save money, and that sort of conduct appealed to me."

ADMITS CHILD HIS

"Did you tell her you were living apart from your wife?" asked Attorney Hanna.

"I did."

Hutchinson then related how Mrs. Taylor threatened to leave him, unless he would promise to marry her. Here Mrs. Taylor collapsed, and her sister, Mrs. B. Emerson Carter, of Santa Monica, led her from the courtroom.

"Just before Jane was born, she said she was about ready to leave me, that she couldn't carry on any longer. I asked her not to do that."

"Are you the father of the child, Jane?" Attorney Hanna asked.

"I am, and I'm proud of it," the witness replied.

"Did Mrs. Taylor ever object to your maintaining two homes?"

POOR MAN AT START

"When she first learned of it, she threatened to leave me, and, then did so, going to Iowa. That was in 1913."

Hutchinson said he made from $10,000 to $40,000 a year during his film career in Chicago, but added that his wife spent most of it. When he was married, he said, he made $65 a month, and later he borrowed money from his wife's father to enter the drug business. In twelve years he owned the store. Later he became a partner of A. C. Roebuck, of Sears, Roebuck & Co., in the film business.

In 1916, he said, financial worries crept over him, and about that time his wife moved into a palatial lake-front home, at 6231 Sheridan Road.

Letters written by Hutchinson to Mrs. Taylor will be introduced by Attorney Hanna at today's session of the trial in Superior Judge Keetch's court.

Attorney Benjamin F. Bledsoe, attorney for Mrs. Hutchinson, who has subpoenaed the child of Mrs. Taylor and Hutchinson, said yesterday that it is not his intention to call the child as a witness.

SETBACK APPROVED

The ordinance establishing twenty-five-foot setback lines in Hobart Boulevard from Adams street to Jefferson Boulevard was adopted yesterday by the City Council.

VOTE ASKED ON AIRPORT

Motion Made to Pay $7,800,000 in Installments; Supervisors Refer Question to Mattoon

Asked to vote $7,800,000—in forty annual payments of $195,000—for a 968-acre airport near El Monte, the County Board of Supervisors yesterday submitted the proposed lease to County Counsel Mattoon for an opinion on its legality.

The matter came before the board on a resolution of intention to lease, submitted by Supervisor Beaty, and seconded by Supervisor Graves. But Supervisor McClellan, chairman, did not put the matter to a vote.

"I don't think we should take any action on this without further investigation," the chairman said.

NOT IN BUDGET

Supervisor Wright said later that he will not vote money for the airport, and added that he doesn't "see where the four-fifths vote necessary to appropriate the money is coming from." Because the current budget does not provide for an airport, it will take a four-fifths vote to appropriate money for it, the Supervisor said.

The lease provides that the site, 880 acres of which is now in large bearing walnut trees, be cleared, graded, turfed, leveled, and completely equipped with fire protection, lightning rods, fences, and other necessary airport adjuncts and have it ready for use in 270 days. It was estimated that these improvements would cost $773,000.

SITE'S LOCATION

In connection with this expenditure, Supervisor Shaw said he will demand that the lessors show a financial responsibility for what money it might be planned to expend, in case the board decided to lease the property.

The site considered is located at the forks of the San Gabriel River and Rio Hondo. It is on a paved road, and the Pacific Electric line east of El Monte. According to its backers, the site has been approved as an airport by Rear-Admiral W. A. Moffett in charge of naval aviation, and the Associated Chambers of Commerce of the San Gabriel Valley.

RULING ON KEYES PLEA DUE TODAY

Ninety-Day Period for Consideration of Appeal Draws to Close

Unless the Appellate Court renders a decision on the appeal of Asa Keyes today the case will be resubmitted and the former District Attorney possibly will not know his fate for ninety more days. According to the law a decision must be rendered on an appeal within ninety days of its submission.

In the event the decision is not rendered within the prescribed period, the legal procedure is to resubmit it. Three Appellate judges are considering the appeal of Keyes and Ed Rosenberg, who were convicted at the same time on charges involving bribery that arose from cases following the Julian Petroleum debacle. Ben Getzoff, Spring-street tailor in whose shop much of the negotiating was asserted to have taken place and who also was convicted with Keyes and Rosenberg, is out of jail on probation.

The three judges on the Appellate bench are Presiding Judge Works, who is writing the decision; Judges Thompson and Craig.

PROTESTS DENIED

The City Council yesterday denied protests against the widening of Avalon Boulevard from S to L streets in the Harbor District and confirmed the assessments for the improvement of Avenue 57 from Hermon avenue to Carlota Boulevard.

THIEF TAKES IN CHURCH PARTY

Two of Guests at Quilting Fete Lose Purses and Cash

(By a "Times" Staff Correspondent)

SANTA MONICA, Jan. 30.—It was not at "old Aunt Dinah's quilting party," but a very modern quilting assemblage in the First Presbyterian Church, that a thief looked in last night, police report. Ladies of the church were busy with the quilting and only one of their number saw a young man peer through the door. Attributing it to mere male curiosity, she gave him but passing attention.

Later it was discovered that two purses containing about $15 in cash and some valuable papers had disappeared. Now the police are looking for a youth answering the description of the peeker.

Woman Saved From Drowning Reveals Name

Rescued from drowing yesterday, a woman who later said she is Mrs. Grace Hunt, 27 years of age, of 1026 Ingraham street, was committed to the psychopathic ward of General Hospital for observation. There, nurses reported last night, she broke the silence she had maintained for hours, and told her identity. She also is reported to have admitted trying suicide when she swam far out from the Los Angeles municipal beach yesterday. She told nurses that she had been separated from her husband, and that she had been thwarted in an attempt to die by gas. She has relatives in New York, she added.

When noticed yesterday on the municipal beach at Santa Monica Canyon, she read and then tore up a letter. Following this, she removed hat, coat and shoes and swam a quarter of a mile out. Life Guard E. H. Carroll, and Allen Law, playground department employee, rowed out to bring her in. They reported that when they approached, she sank. After pulling her out of the water, Carroll filed a commitment.

Bouelle Bans Fire Hazards

As a result of the fatal burning last week of Clara Barbarus, 14-year-old Lincoln High School student, during the presentation of a school play Frank A. Bouelle, Superintendent of Schools, yesterday sent a bulletin to all school principals, directors and supervisors instructing them to prohibit the use of flame or inflammable materials in future school entertainments.

The bulletin also directed that at every rehearsal or performance of a school entertainment one or more teachers must always be on the stage.

Day's Warmth Above Normal

It warmed up in Los Angeles a bit yesterday—11 deg., in fact, more than the normal January day should have. This was revealed by the United States Weather Bureau records.

The thermometer climbed to 76 deg. shortly after 1 p.m. from a minimum of 53 during the early morning.

Generally fair weather is forecast, with some cloudiness, today and tomorrow.

Although a trace of rain was reported yesterday from Fresno, through the Unites States Airways weather station at Glendale, no immediate rain is expected here.

DAKOTANS TO MEET

Former residents of South Dakota will meet with the South Dakota Society tomorrow evening in Veterans' Hall, 246 South Hill street. A program given by the Abbot School of Artistic Dancing will be followed by roll-call and dancing.

world progress in the geological sciences as this spot in which we are. For, first, this is where old Mother Earth is wide awake—she is asleep in many less-favored regions. Here she now is building mountain ranges and leaving the record right at our doors in this geological hinterland to our east of how she has been doing her job for a few million years past and how she is going at it now.

"I shall not be accused of Southern California boosting when I say that there is no more beautiful spot in the world, first for the scientific study of earthquakes—or if you want to put on a Latin mask call it seismology—and second, for learning how to render them harmless to man; how to make them an interesting stimulant instead of a terror.

"For what are the supreme practical needs of this region? Answer, first, water; second, structural engineering which renders earth movements harmless to mankind. But water means dams located by the most expert geological knowledge which the world possesses. Knowledge such as has made our Dr. Ransome and Dr. Buwlada at the California Institute in demand on most of the big dam projects recently undertaken by any of the governments or communities in this whole Pacific area.

"Similarly, in structural engineering Prof. Martel has become a world authority and now is designing buildings such as have nothing to fear from any such earth movements as are likely to occur at least in Southern California."

The speaker discussed the vast field of historical geology and paleontology within easy reach, and said, "this spot was obviously chosen by the gods as one of the great world centers of geological and paleontological progress."

BUILDING PROGRAM

He discussed the two new buildings to be constructed at once on the California Institute campus saying: "One is to act for centuries to come as a world center of structural geology, the other as a world center of historical geology."

"These two buildings," he continued, "and a third which should go up with them, are just now being planned by the Betram Goodhue Associates and should get under construction within the next six months.

"These six buildings, three in the astrophysical group and three in the geological group, are all financed, save one."

Dr. Millikan mentioned the construction now under way on the Atheneum, which he described as a natural, informal meeting place for all the workers in the three adjacent institutions, the Huntington Library, the California Institute, the Mt. Wilson Observatory, and the increasing multitude of foreign scholars who are coming to these institutions from the ends of the earth, and the California Institute Associates.

"The Atheneum," the speaker said, "is the gift of Mr. and Mrs. Allan C. Balch, and is being erected at a cost of $500,000 on the eastern end of the campus. Next fall we shall ask the associates to gather to dedicate it and begin to enjoy it, and I am confident that there is no greater pleasure in store in life than you are going to get out of that association."

PLANS SUMMARIZED

In closing his talk, before the showing of architects' drawings, Dr. Millikan summarized the building program, saying:

"There are three astrophysical buildings financed; two geological and one biological, making a total of six; the Atheneum is seven; the three dormitories make ten.

"Ten new buildings should rise on this campus beginning within a month or so, and nobody has got to raise a penny for these ten buildings. There are three more that I have mentioned that ought to go with these ten; one of them must go with them, namely, the fourth dormitory. The other two, the auditorium and the third unit of chemistry have yet to be provided, but I have entire confidence that at least three of these will come very soon.

"In a word then, thirteen new buildings should arise on the campus within the next two years. Three-fourths of this building program is already provided for. When this projected building is completed there will have arisen here a thing of architectural beauty such as only the genius of Bertram Goodhue, supplemented by the wonderful artistry of Gordon Kaufmann on the domestic side, could have created."
